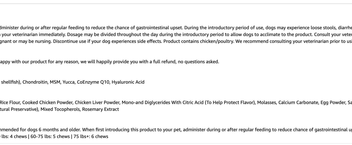
MORE THAN JUST GLUCOSAMINE AND CHONDROITIN FOR DOGS



GLUCOSAMINE: Glucosamine is a natural chemical compound in your dog's body. It has natural anti-inflammatory properties and plays a vital role in building and maintaining cartilage.

CHONDROITIN: Chondroitin is a vital component for healthy growth and maintenance of cartilage. It helps attract fluid into the connective tissue surrounding the joint. This provides additional shock absorption and lubrication which helps ease pain and discomfort

MSM: MSM (methylsulfonylmethane) is a natural sulfur compound that acts as a powerful anti-inflammatory. It helps improve joint flexibility and reduce pain and inflammation

HYALURONIC ACID: Hyaluronic Acid is an important component of joint fluid. It increases the joint fluid's thickness which provides additional cushioning for the joint.

COENZYME Q10: CoQ10 is one of the most important nutrients for older pets. It is a naturally occurring antioxidant abundant in young dogs, but your dog's ability to produce it decreases as they age. CoQ10 supports the heart and kidneys and increases natural energy levels. It is also known to help alleviate some symptoms of arthritis

YUCCA SCHIDIGERA: Yucca Schidigera is a medicinal plant native to the South-Western United States and Northern Mexico. Yucca was used in Native American herbal medicine as a cure for dandruff, headaches, and arthritis. It has powerful anti-inflammatory effects. Studies show that adding Yucca to your dog's diet can help support joint health

Question: How much glucosamine hydrochloride and sodium chondroitin sulfate in my dog does this product have per tablet?
Answer: Reading from the back of the container, the ingredients are as follows: 100 mg Glucosamine; 100 mg MSM; 50 mg Chondroitin;50 mg Yucca Schidigera; 5- mg Co-Enzyme(10); and 10 mg Hyaluronic Acid. I know you didn't ask for all the ingredients, but I would have found this info helpful, so I thought perhaps you might, too.

Question: This supplement has a strong flavor? tastes like chicken? bacon? my dog is very picky and doesn't eat any supplement without a strong flavor, thanks.
Answer: Doggie Dailies is chicken flavored, and also includes chicken liver. Most dogs eat Doggie Dailies happily. Should your dog resist Doggie Dailies initially, often times it is helpful to crumble the nuggets over their food. Typically most dogs will become used to the flavor this way and will take the chews on their ow... see more

Question: Is this product veterinarian recommended?
Answer: My vet recommended my old dog take veterinary Glucosamine/Chondroitin which this is. They didn't recommend this brand specifically but it seemed like a good one to try both product ingredient and price wise. My dog is taking quite a few other pills so I wanted something he might take alone as a treat. He loves these.

★★★★★ Skeptic turned believer. Great for my nine year old lab/shepard mix
Reviewed in the United States on May 21, 2017
Flavor Name: Chicken | Verified Purchase

A little about my dog. She's a lab/german shepard mix and now nine years old. About a year ago I noticed her start to limp on her front legs. We usually walk 2-3 miles per day with 30-60 minutes interrupted by a couple minutes at the park. She's a very social girl and loves to be by my side day and night. Roughly six months ago I had to cut her walking down to a half a mile per day. Her arthritis reached a point where it was causing her so much pain that she could barely walk.

Like other reviewers, I took Tara to the vet to have her legs checked out. Arthritis was the diagnosis and pain medu(ant) inflammatories were the treatment. I'm not worried about the cost of the meds as I would spend whatever it takes to keep my dog healthy. However I hate putting my dog on prescription meds as the side effects can take a toll on her organs over the long haul. After doing quite a bit of research, I settled on trying Doggie Dailies for her arthritis. There are over 1000 RAVE reviews about Doggie Dailies, but I was skeptical it could work on a dog in so much pain. I had to give it a fair try before sticking my dog on prescription meds for the rest of her life.

After a full month of being on Doggie Dailies, Tara is back to being her active and happy lifestyle. No it didn't turn her back into a puppy, but she's running again and we are back to our five mile walks. If you put this supplement ★★★★★ ... dog had gotten to the point where he had great difficulty standing up and I actually made an appointment ...

Reviewed in the United States on October 28, 2016
Flavor Name: Chicken | Verified Purchase

Our 15 year old dog had gotten to the point where he had great difficulty standing up and I actually made an appointment with the vet to put him to sleep. This was about a week after taking him to the vet to see if there was anything we could do to help him. At that visit, the vet diagnosed painful arthritis in his back legs and we were given a prescription for a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory medicine. We immediately started to feed the dog the Doggie Dailies and within a couple days he was back to normal. In fact, we were jokingly saying that we should give Doggie Dailies a few days after that, our once miserable dog has slowly improved. I'm not sure whether it is the medicine or the Doggie Dailies, I suspect that it is a combination of the two, but whatever it is, he is dramatically improved and really doing things that were impossible for him previously. This includes the ability to go in and out of the house through the dog door. He is not back to bouncing around like a 2 year old, but he is happy, not in pain and has a slight bounce back in his step. We are really grateful!

★★★★★ Stacey Lynn IS herself again again!
Reviewed in the United States on September 10, 2017
Flavor Name: Chicken | Verified Purchase

Before I broke my hip last summer, I walked Stacey Lynn, my 8 year old German Shepherd, between 10 and 15 miles everyday. When I was recovering back at home, mostly immobile in bed, Stacey Lynn didn't EVER want to leave my side so when folks came by the house to exercise her, she would not go and after 6 months of being immobile with me, arthritis set her right hip. Yet was sure she would get stamina back in time but she was so pained by her arthritis we couldn't even walk around the block. Medicines helped but they have them own down side.

My cousin recommended this supplement, raving about how her dogs have responded. I wasn't expecting her result because her dogs are much younger but I wanted to try it for any relief it would give my dog. Today, on her third day taking this supplement, we leisurely walked almost 45 mins and even Stacey Lynn does not have the muscle tone she had, but she was NOT in pain and wasn't limping like she limped just last week after walking only 15 minutes. The pain makes her limp horribly so but her limp today was for the same as mine out of shape! Stacey Lynn has been so happy and playful since our walk that I know her pain level has lessened so much. I am thrilled to be able to slowly help get her stamina and muscle tone back because stamina and muscle tone helps keep arthritis in check. Your supplement is making her rehabilitation possible

★★★★★ Exceptional company and great product!
Reviewed in the United States on October 3, 2016
Flavor Name: Chicken | Verified Purchase

When we received our first order of Doggie Dailies I will admit we were far from impressed. They had formed into a clump in the bottle and we ended returning them. A few weeks after we returned them I received an email from Alex Brown, with the Doggie Dailies company. He expressed how unacceptable the quality of the product we had received was and how sorry he was for that. He also went on to explain what had happened during the shipping process that had caused the clumping and how rare it was for that to happen. He then asked if we would allow him to send us another bottle and give their product a second chance and we said of course! I was blown away by the email I received and so impressed with their customer service. There are very few companies that would take time out of their day to do that. We received our new bottle and it was in perfect condition. Our dog seems to like the taste of these much better than the previous supplement we were using. Looks like we are now hooked on the Doggie Dailies brand!

We had started our dog on glucosamine a few months ago. He has some pretty serious joint stiffness and his vet suggested it. We saw a small improvement in his limping. When it was time to reorder we found this product. Our dog has been taking it for a couple of weeks now and there is a marked improvement. He's a got a little limp at night still but it is way better than it was before. We will continue him on these supplements.

I work as a vet tech/dog trainer and highly recommend this product to many clients that come in. It's a great daily supplement for dogs of all ages never too early to get your dog on a great Glucosamine supplement! My dog is extremely picky and she loves the taste of these. They're also great for my senior dog, we see a change even after a couple weeks. She gets around much easier and has an easier time getting up from laying down as well.

★★★★★ Great supplement
Reviewed in Canada on December 27, 2017

As a Veterinary Technology student I am very skeptical of the components of most supplements and can't be 'sold' on a product easily. Doggie dailies is exactly what I have been searching for. With a 1.5 year old border collie who previously was kicked by a horse and suffered a fractured pelvis and spondylosis (the fusing of some vertebrae in her spine), it is of utmost importance to myself to keep her fit, healthy and comfortable. I am very happy with the product I received. A clean attractive container, moist yummy-smelling treats and an ingredient list I am happy with. I'd recommend this supplement to fellow pet owners!

★★★★★ Not a hit at first, but favourite treat now
Reviewed in Canada on December 28, 2018
Flavor Name: Chicken | Verified Purchase

My dog has a lunating patella on both sides (one worse than the other) as well as possible hip dysplasia in one of her hips. She's a mixed breed and is just over a year old, so it really sucks for her. My vet suggested getting her on joint support asap, which we had already done by way of salmon oil, but getting that into her has been a challenge. So when I had a chance I poured through reviews and prices and such and settled on this product as an alternative. It arrived VERY fast. She spat it out a few times the first time, but now loves them. I have noticed an uptick in her energy with it, haven't noticed too much else yet but she doesn't walk as stiff as she used to, so it's probably working.

I only have one note to prospective buyers. It says 235 single daily doses, which is not inaccurate. The thing is though, there are weight groups and if your dog is not in the first weight group there are not doses for 225 days because each weight group uses one additional chew a day for maximum results. So, my dog is 45lbs and as such the recommended dose for her is 4 chews a day, which means that the bottle is only good for 56 days (not 225 like it would be if she was in the first weight bracket). It's not a fault on the seller end so much as just a bit of missed information, so just do note that.

This is my 2nd purchase of Doggie Dailies for a 8.5 year old lab/huskey who suffered from a "complete torn ligament". Drs told me she would never walk on her back leg again unless I proceeded with surgery. Before choosing surgery I wanted to find an alternative and kept reading amazing reviews on this product so I put it to the test and WOW! life changing for my baby girl! She is herself again and she now walks using her "leg that had a complete torn ligament" as though nothing ever happened.

One happy doggy mom

My dog, a 4-year old border collie, has arthritis in her back left knee. I first bought a supplement from a different brand and I did not notice any improvement. My dog was still limping after exercising (even with a low intensity exercise). My dog has being taking this supplement for 4 weeks now, and I could not be more satisfied. She is much better. We just spent 3 days in a cottage, playing and swimming all day in the lake, and she did not feel any pain. I highly recommend this product. Thank you!!
