As I began MD discovered how to

REDUCE Nightime Peeing

With a 'doctor's recipe' that can help you stop peeing and finally sleep through the night

Dear Reader,

Hi, my name is Dr. Glenn Rothfeld, MD.

And I see you are laughing...

I have a personal question for you...

And don't be embarrassed.

I am this question to every one of my patients that walke through the door...

How many times do you wake up in your sleep at night?

Was it 3 times? Or 4?

Or maybe it was a "good" night and you only got up once?

Friend, there's now an easy way to have more of those "good" nights... and less of those "bad" nights.

Because I developed a Doctorpiece' recipe so simple that you can use it in your very own home.

A recipe with one ingredient shown in a bombshell study to reduce nighttime peeing.

And you REETTEK sleep.

I'll show you exactly how this could work for YOU in just a minute.

Including, how after you see my "recipe"...

You may never visit the toilet in the middle of the night again.

Reducing your nighttime peeing FOR GOOD.

Plus, its ingredients have been clinically shown to reduce the urge to go.

Friend, imagine going to the bathroom once... and then, for the rest of the night, uninterrupted sleep and wake all night long.

And you haven't even heard the best part yet...

One part of this "recipe" was shown in a study to start working in just 5 MINUTES –

Little even on your head like your pillow it can help you fall feel asleep and stay asleep.

Lees keeping and turning...

Lees watching the clock...

You're going to sleep the a baby...

With fewer nighttime bathroom trips.

And in the morning, you'll wake up for the first time in years, feeling refreshed, rejuvenated, and years younger.

My friend, I know this may of sound like a distant dream...

But, if you simply read the presentation – and follow the easy steps – this could be your life!

But first, I need to warn you...

The reason my "recipe" isn't the big story in the nightly news...

And it's not what every doctor in America is prescribing.

And its not something you can find in any of your old cookbooks or by doing a quick Google search.

It goes against everything you've been told about prostate health.

Your pee problems may have NOTHING to do with your aging, swelling prostate or weak bladder.

Now, I'm not saying these aren't problems...

They certainly are.

But there's exciting, cutting-edge research that reveals what could be bad news for your health as of right to you...

And it may not be because of your prostate or bladder...

I'll tell you what's to just a minute.

But first, I need to...

LEED walking up in the middle-of-the-night to just let out a little dribble.

LEED kicking and turning and then rearrange keeping urge never going away.

Or, maybe, you're up in the morning with a full bladder even though you already got up multiple times to pee.

Because after you use my "recipe" it can help reduce your nighttime peeing from your life.

And it can help you effortlessly sleep through the night as soon as your head hits your pillow.

Friend, I'll teach you this "recipe" at the end of this short presentation.

But first, let me properly introduce myself...

My name is Dr. Glenn Rothfeld, MD.

And I've been a medical doctor for over 40 years.

I've written 5 best-selling books, held a fellowship at Harvard University, and developed a world-class alternative health course for Tufts University School of Medicine.

But what I'm most proud of is the whole lot is every day at my Integrative Medical Practice helping people like you reduce their urge to pee.

And it was at my practice, after talking to countless men just like you, that I discovered a hidden cause to nighttime peeing.

And it doesn't start with your prostate or bladder.

But instead is centered on one tiny hormone in your body.

Now scientists suspect that this hormone is the reason behind why so many men have to get up in the middle of the night to pee.

So if you want a smaller prostate, and a stronger bladder...

If you want to reduce your nighttime peeing...

Then you FIRST need to fix the root cause of your "old" male plumbing.

And thanks to this groundbreaking research, we now know that an underlying cause of all your pee problems could be the culprit.

And of course, this hormone isn't new... It's always been part of your body.

But what's new is the eye-opening clinical research proving the connection between this hormone and your nighttime peeing problems.

You see, this research discovered that men with lower levels of this hormone have a smaller urge to pee.

Which is "science speak" for getting up multiple times per night to pee.

And other research found that men with higher amounts of this hormone tend to have rates of prostate problems.

Only to mention just a few things...

Now I'm not being relaxed and even after you go...

Then I can bet that you have been a LOW level of this hormone.

And a low level means a weak bladder.

Plus, the older you get, the lower your levels of this hormone.

Which means that your bladder and the problems related to how many times you get up to pee at night, and how long it takes you to pee.

So it's really not at all surprising that once you've reached a certain age, you're going to have pee problems.

But it isn't your fault... It's just part of getting older... and it happens to everybody, right?

Friend, you don't need to worry about this.

And you'll no longer have to worry about an aging or prostate thing or bladder.

Because there is now a way to naturally increase the levels of this hormone with the first ingredient in this simple "recipe".

And when you increase your levels, you can start sleeping better AND wake up less to pee.

You know the at may sound completely crazy to you...

Because I'm even after you go into your prostate and bladder, and spitting urge and urge and urge...

My only looks at your prostate or bladder.

But that's entirely wrong.

Because that only! See part of the problem.

Sure, it might work temporarily for you, but your pee problems may return (and with vengeance!) unless you fix the root cause.

So it's no wonder you're not able to find the total relief you're looking for...

And it could be why everything you've tried in the past HAVEN'T worked.

But its not your doctor's fault, but you don't know that there's actually a hormone that could affect your nighttime peeing.

And it's why your doctor keeps telling shots in the back...

And you continue to feel frustrated with your pee issues...

Constantly checking to see where the closest bathroom is...

And never getting a solid night's sleep...

But friend, thankfully for you, of today, this all comes to a screeching halt.

Because I'm about to show you how to naturally increase your levels of this hormone with the first ingredient in my "recipe".

So, whether you're 40 or 70... if this pee is turn by those you are to the newest hormone.

Or if your stream has gone from a powerful like hose to a dripping faucet.

And especially if you can't remember the last time you slept through the night...

Then my "recipe" will be the most important thing you've ever discovered.

It could change your life.

The grateful, carefree, and confident man inside you could make a mighty comeback.

Reducing that annoying DAY urge to pee...

More completely emptying your bladder so you get total, sweet, and satisfying relief.

And helping you sleep peacefully through the night – with one study showing results starting in just 5 MINUTES.

So let's get to it and start with the 1st ingredient...

Clinically shown to reduce nighttime peeing. The Harvard Medical School, the Mayo Clinic and Johns Hopkins University.

But in step stopping from 50% of all other prostate treatments available...

Which makes sense because this ingredient helps you to stop your prostate by first reducing your body's natural levels of this hormone.

... then it helps out other in your nighttime trips to the bathroom.

And the absolute best way to naturally increase your hormone levels is by adding more of that same hormone...

Which is called N-Acetyl-D-Mannosylpyranosyl-Rhamnose.

But call it M-N.

Now remember, the lower your levels of M-N, the more you may wake up at night...

And with each passing birthday, your M-N levels tend to drop.

And your prostate may continue to grow...

By the time you're 60, your M-N levels may have dropped by since age 30...

And what do you think that means for your prostate?!

Well, it means that you may be at risk for pee problems and finally get deeper sleep at night and stop frequent trips to the bathroom levels of M-N.

Just take a look at the astonishing results of the recent double blind, placebo-controlled trial...

In this study, a small group of men aged 40 to 61 – all with swelling prostates – took 3 to 6 mom M-N in naturally boost their hormone levels for 4 weeks

And the other group got a placebo pill.

At the end of the study, the researchers compared the results of the M-N group to the placebo.

M-N in particular DECREASED the number of times they woke up at night... and GOT BETTER SLEEP than the placebo group.

The placebo group, however, had only minimal IQ improvements in the number of times they woke up at night and sleep quality.

With results that like that, it's no wonder that you could cut down on the number of times you visit the toilet in the middle of the night.

M-N can help reduce your nighttime peeing.

And it gets even better...

Participants also reported a decrease in the urge to go compared to placebo...

Friday, these results are nothing short of a breakthrough to help you sleep soundly all night long.

No more running to the bathroom 3 or more times each night...

No more rushing to 100 to try to fall back asleep...

Just totally sleeping like a baby all

Because another concern that always came up when talking to my patients are problems in the bedroom.

And this super nutrient has been clinically shown to improve sexual dysfunction

Even if it's been months, or years since you were last intimate…

Zinc could help you get back your satisfaction in the bedroom.

Consider it my gift to you…
