

Online "Bucket" System

lets you collect $625 of other people's investment losses in 60 seconds or less

✓ Works on 3,500+ stocks

Dear Reader,

Hi. My name is Dr. David Eifrig, M.D., MBA.

I'm an analyst for an independent research firm called Stansberry & Associates Investment Research.

We're based in Baltimore, Maryland. But since 1999, our research has helped a number of our readers make so much money we now have nearly half a million paid subscribers in more than 120 countries.

In fact, I'm proud to say that CNN and CNBC both recently featured our financial analysis. Barron's, The Wall Street Journal, Forbes and Fortune have all cited our research.

But in 12 years of business, the "Online Bucket System" you're about to see in this presentation is by far the most profitable approach we've found...

- For example, one gentleman, Jim P. in Michigan, told us that he's made an average of $10,000 per month since he learned about it.
- Another fellow – Robert L. in Iowa, e-mailed us to say he's made $183,000 in just 8 months by doing this.

You see – some people make terrible decisions with their money.

And frankly, when it comes to investing – many folks continuously lose money... thanks to their own wild speculations.

Well... that's tough for them, but it's actually great news for you.

Because in this presentation, I'll show you how to collect at least $625 from people's idiotic investing decisions – via the Internet – in 60 seconds or less.

For example, a colleague of mine collected $5,523 of lost money in Microsoft. "I feel bad for whoever lost it," he says. "But if I didn't scoop it up... well... someone else certainly would have."

Another fellow I know of made $1,534.83 of lost money in Yahoo... $4,067.60 in MGM... and $7,670.64 of lost money in Genentech.

"It's like free money," he says.

Personally, I've made tens of thousands of dollars with this secret from my home in Florida, every last cent from some wildcat investor.

And the best part is, you don't have to buy a single investment to do this.

All you need is an Internet connection... a brokerage account... and 60 seconds to claim the money and walk away.

I call it the Online "Bucket" System.

And the sad thing is, most people have no idea this approach even exists...

Not me. I worked at Goldman Sachs, Wall Street's richest bank... where I first discovered it back in the 1980s.

And altogether, I can tell you we generated millions of dollars with it per year, while telling almost no one outside the firm how we did it.

Well... in a remarkable turn of events I'll explain in a moment – I now have the ability to step forward... outside the rules I followed as a licensed Wall Street trader... and show you exactly how the "Online Bucket System" works – and how to use it yourself.

Let me get right to it...

The "foolish money"

You see – every single day the markets are open – there's always someone... somewhere... making a poorly informed investment decision.

For example, take Walter K. – who bought Micron Technology (MU) because, he told The New York Times, "it had a cool-sounding name."

"I wanted heat, adrenaline, action," Walter says. He bought the stock at $80, and today it trades for $10. As he himself says, "Classic stupidity... only myself to blame. I was a loser."

Well... thanks to people like this who make foolish decisions with their money – you could collect:

- $520 of lost money in Pfizer
- $457 of lost money in Google
- $880 of lost money in Krispy Kreme... all in the next 60 seconds.

But I'll be honest...

If you have the old-fashioned view the market should always reward all investors equally... well, this definitely isn't for you.

You see – what I'm about to describe is a little-known way to make money from other people's foolish investment decisions... without investing upfront in any stocks, or benefiting anyone other than yourself.

In fact – this secret began as a scam used by brokers in the early 20th century... to pocket clients' investment money and give nothing in return.

But that's not the case at all anymore.

Today it's completely legal and ethical.

In fact, the way this secret works... you simply look for the worst investors in the market, making bad decisions. And then, you just sign up to pocket their losses, around $625 or more... in 60 seconds.

This may sound callous – but the great thing is, there are a lot of people making bad and very speculative investments in the market right now.

Is it their own fault? Who knows...

Often people get talked into a foolish investment by their broker, for example... or they read a worthless article in a newspaper or a magazine by someone who has no idea what he's talking about. The list is endless...

The point is – you shouldn't feel guilty at all about scooping up these investors' losses. Because the truth is, if you don't pocket this money, someone else surely will.

And I'm not the only one who feels this way...

For example – one fellow I've showed this to, Graham M. in Omaha, has told us, "I make $1,000 to $2,000 each month. I've used the money to buy a washer and dryer, pay daily bills, and have extra cash for vacation."

And I love this...

Another gentleman wrote to say after learning about this approach from us, he's been so successful he ordered a custom license plate for his Porsche which spelled out the name of the approach I use. "Thanks for introducing it to me," he said.

The way I see it, the stock market is meant to be a true free market.

So as long as people aren't being cheated or lied to, they should be able to make whatever decisions they want, no matter how dumb. And this gives you a chance to make a killing...

Dan L. in Wichita, for one, tells us, "I have made $15,460."

As one expert puts it:

"Our education system has failed the public. Despite the fact that money is the third most important thing in our lives... Americans would rather watch some reality TV show than spend time reading books [on investing]."

For example, consider Jim D. – who lost $400,000 in the Private Client Group of Merrill Lynch... in the space of a single year.

"I got no advice [from them]," he whines.

That's too bad... but frankly, it's folks like this guy – who are looking for someone else to take responsibility for their money – who make this secret so valuable.

As Peter H. – who collected lost money in Budweiser, recently told us: "I keyed in an order and the system accepted it. Presto! Over $8,000 in my account."

He went on to say: "I don't buy stocks anymore."

I don't blame him. To me – this is a much easier way to make money in the stock market than trying to guess which stocks will go up or down.

In other words, why buy stocks... when you can collect other people's investment losses and make hundreds of dollars at a time?

And remember, today this is perfectly legal and completely ethical.

But it wasn't always that way...

A scam in the 1900s

You see, the secret to collecting this lost money began as a scam on the streets of New York in the early 20th century... in saloons called "bucket shops."

Banned in 1907 – they were essentially fake brokerage houses... where each day, men posing as brokers took hundreds of dollars from ordinary (and uneducated) investors who walked in the door.

As The New York Times said of this money-making technique: "The victims were people of small means and easily fleeced."

One victim, for example, invested in railroad, oil and metal stocks using a bucket shop... and lost everything. Another lost $10,000 in oil and tobacco stocks.

Well... as incredible as it sounds, CBS News recently reported that in 2000, U.S. Congress passed an obscure piece of legislation (the CFM Act) that legalizes this technique among licensed brokers on Wall Street.

The difference is, it's no longer a "bucket shop" you enter through the front door. It's evolved into an online "bucket" system, backed by SEC regulation.

And as I'll explain in a moment – if you have a brokerage account, in the next 60 seconds you can use it yourself, right through the Internet...

- For example, one woman I've shared this with, Brenda E. in Chicago, says:

"I'm a 45-year-old stay-at-home mother with young children ages nine and four. Prior to October of this year, I had very little experience aside from managing my IRA portfolio and selecting a few mutual funds once in awhile.

This is the BEST approach I have ever encountered. I'm up nearly $9,000 in a little over 5 ½ weeks."

- One fellow told us he'd recently lost his job... and had used our approach to make between $1,000 and $1,500 per month for the past 4 months.
- Ben H. in Seattle collects an average of $100 per day!

But here's the thing...

While this technique is perfectly legal... unfortunately, many brokerages on Wall Street are still using it for their own advantage.

For example, in the 10 years I've spent at brokerages, I've seen it used dozens of times as a conflict of interest against the firm's own clients.

You see, bucket shops make money with a very simple approach...

Into the bucket...

They steal it.

As The New York Times reported in 1922:

"the bucket shop... expects to get all of the customer's money. It is virtually a mathematical certainty [the victim] will lose."

In a nutshell: The scam worked in the 1900s by "bucketing" the money from each investor who walked in the door... without executing the trade.

The money goes into the bucket... and into the broker's hand.

For example, even as you're reading this, in the next 60 seconds you could collect $580 of lost money in Coca-Cola using a technique like "bucketing."

But before I explain... let me assure you: by using this technique, you will NOT be "stealing" from other investors.

I repeat: You will NOT be stealing.

You see, the real crooks – who made this all possible back then and now – are brokers.

"The biggest factor of all [is the victim's] own crooked broker," explained The New York Times, "who proceeds to pick out 'securities' [for a victim] to buy which will result in the quickest and largest losses."

And to top it off, the brokers then reward themselves with exorbitant bonuses. As CBS News puts it: "It's a very elegant form of theft right now."

As a result – tens of millions of dollars in lost money accumulates in the market every single day.

For example – I showed this to an architect in Virginia who collected $23,000 of lost money in 2 months, and went on to collect an additional $45,000.

His reaction: "This was a real eye-opener."

In short, as The New York Times phrased it, there are a lot of "crooked brokers" in the finance world... who bet against their own clients to profit.

And by luring their clients into stocks – these crooked brokers often know exactly where the most money will be lost... BEFORE it happens.

As one former Wall Street trader told 60 Minutes recently:

"From the time I was at Salomon Brothers, it was incredible to me that the firm could advise customers what to buy and sell. At the same time, they are betting on the things that they're trying to sell their customers."

So I might call you up and say, 'Wow, these [investments], they look really, really good. This pile over here, you oughta invest in that pile.' And meanwhile, the traders behind me are betting against it.'"

It's essentially a modern-day bucket shop.

It's unfair, I know...

And frankly – this is one of the reasons why I eventually quit my job at Goldman Sachs... and went on to become a board-eligible physician instead. (I attended medical school at UNC-Chapel Hill, and went on to specialize in ophthalmology.)

But the way I see it, this is a free market... where people should have the freedom to make their own decisions.

So I don't feel guilty at all about collecting this lost cash.

In other words: If you want to hand me money... then I'm going to take it. Dozens of folks I've shared this approach with feel the same way...

- For example, I showed a lawyer in San Francisco how to do this. He wrote us to say he was up $72,389.

Or consider this note I received just recently, from Doug M. in Little Rock:

- "Since the 1st of October till the end of the year, I've had gains of over $100,000."
- Craig P. in Maine recently e-mailed me and described it by saying: "This is like a license to print money."

Here's how it works...

A 60-second transaction

Take a look at this chart from 2011...

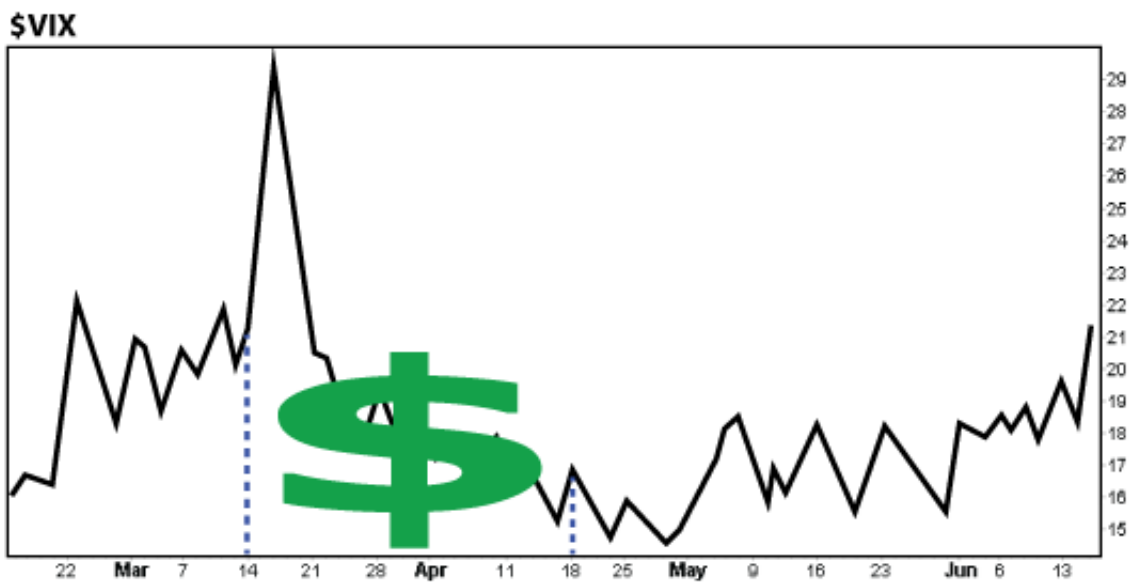

Do you see anything unusual?

To most people in the market, this means nothing. It's just the pattern for VIX – which tracks volatility in the market...

But do you see how the line bumps up and down?

Well, for folks who know – this is a simple indication of when the "foolish money" is getting excited...

And if you look closely... it reveals exactly when huge investment losses are about to pile up in certain stocks, yours to claim and instantly collect.

For example – you could have used this information on January 28th, 2011 to collect $430 of lost money in Annaly (NLY), a financing company.

You see – on that morning, Wall Street's system made available a 60-second transaction – unlike anything you've probably ever seen before – for the purpose of "bucketing" lost money in Annaly (NLY).

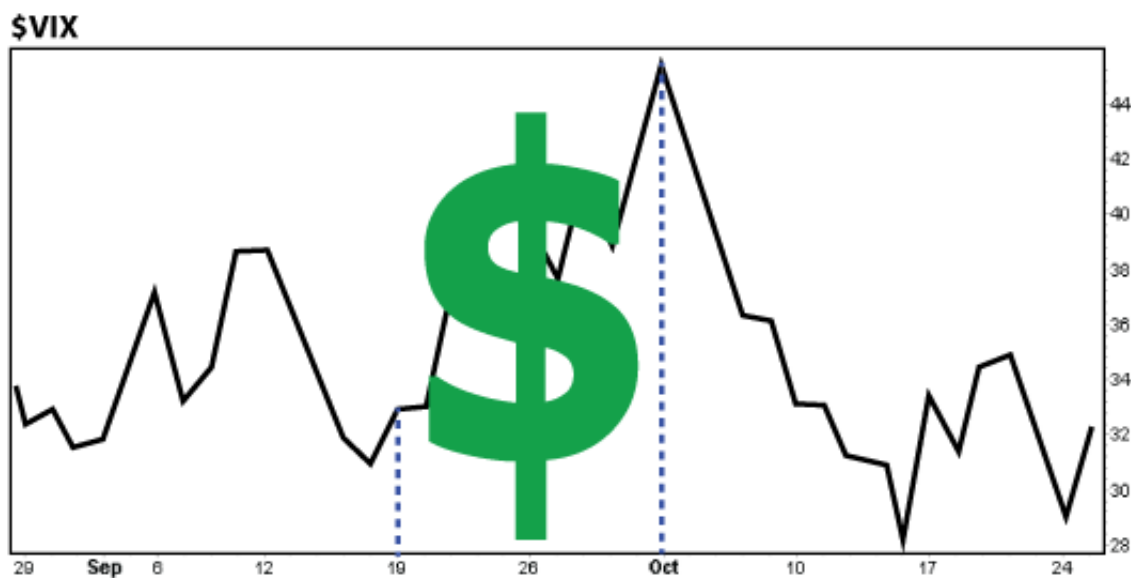

And by keying this transaction into your own brokerage account... you could have claimed and instantly received a portion of that money. Yours to keep.

For example, Jack W. received $2,983.53 of lost money in NLY... Larry W., $735.29... and Andy B., $14,907. I showed each one of these guys exactly how to do it.

And remember – they all received this lost money using the single transaction I'm describing here.

Or consider Microsoft (MSFT)...

On the morning of September 23rd – by logging into your account, you could have collected $440 of lost money with this transaction.

I showed dozens of people exactly how to do it.

In fact, that very same day, I found yet another stock, Medtronic (MDT), a healthcare firm. If you'd known about it, you could have collected $465 of lost money in Medtronic.

And the great part is, these payouts are available across the market, in everything from gold and oil... to Blue Chips... China... biotech... and dozens of other sectors.

For example, I once found a lost money transaction in Yahoo (YHOO).

A fellow named Henry W. in Dallas collected $6,132... Sam A., $2,000... and Hank C., $1,534.83. I showed each of them exactly what to do.

These payouts happen every single day!

For example – as of January 2013, you could receive $832 of lost money in Verizon... $865 in MetLife... and $980 in Intel.

So where exactly do you find this transaction?

Most people never see it

Well, first of all... it's available on over 3,500 different stocks.

But as I mentioned earlier – you don't have to touch a single stock to get paid... or a bond... ETF... mutual fund... or any other conventional investment.

You see, it only works in one particular niche of the trading market... which most people know very little about. In fact, I'd estimate that 99% of Americans use this niche the wrong way. And chances are... unless you work in the investment world, a lot of what you've heard about this niche is complete B.S.

That's because this niche is one of the most profitable places in the market, where huge amounts of money change hands, overnight.

But the unique part is... by using this transaction, you rarely have to BUY a single investment in this niche at all.

In effect, you're doing the opposite.

You see, the transaction I follow is merely tucked away in this niche... and was first created by brokers for the sole purpose of collecting the hundreds of thousands of dollars that gets lost in this niche by rash investors... every single day the markets are open.

So before I go on, I urge you to keep an open mind...

"This is an ATM machine"

– Sam B., Tulsa

In short, you collect this lost money in the options market.

But again, you would not be buying a single option (or any other investment) upfront in order to do this. That's why I call it a transaction.

You see, the options market is typically full of more rash investors than any other niche. That's because it attracts the sort of folks who love to gamble and get in on hugely speculative plays, hoping to strike it big.

Well... that's tough for them, because most have no idea what they're doing... and typically lose.

But it's great news for you, because with just a single transaction, you get to collect hundreds of dollars in lost money from these wildcat investors... instantly.

As one of my readers once put it: "This is an ATM machine."

And believe me, you don't need any prior experience to do this...

- For example, I showed this to one gentleman who later told me: "Never did options before at all. I calculate I've netted $21,619 in a comparatively brief period."
- And Hank C. – who's collected $11,217.34 of lost money – admitted to me he'd never done this before, either.

"Very profitable!" he says. "Like free money."

Over the past 20 years or so, I've developed and refined my own approach to this transaction... a secret that I first learned from the masters of it, the billion-dollar traders on Wall Street.

I can tell you that at Goldman Sachs, we considered it "easy money."

The payouts vary from week to week...

For example – one day the lost cash available for Starbucks might be about $70... and the next day it might be around $100... $160... or even over $250.

(In fact, one fellow I've shared this with – Andy B. – says he claimed and received an incredible $5,204 of lost money in Starbucks.)

But before I explain any further, let me make something very clear...

This is perfectly OK to do

I don't believe in taking what's not rightfully mine, especially if it means "hurting" someone else...

That's not how my mother raised me in Minnesota, and that's certainly not what I recommend you do today.

So I can assure you: The Online "Bucket" System is perfectly OK to use.

You see, these transactions are specifically created by Wall Street, and each has its own unique I.D., which is one reason banks collect the majority of these losses.

So keep in mind: By doing this – you will NOT be "betting" against regular people who buy and sell stocks...

Instead, what you're really doing is simply collecting the money lost by impulsive (and often wealthy) traders who take speculative, risky, and volatile positions in the options market.

You see, in the options world... for every winner, there's a loser.

What that means is... regardless of whether you choose to do this or not... there is ALWAYS someone losing money in the options market.

So if you don't collect the lost money, someone else surely will.

The simple truth is, these 60-second transactions are merely HIDDEN within the options market...

And that's exactly what makes this 100% legal and ethical...

Again, in my 30 years' experience, it's the big brokerage firms on Wall Street and professional traders who collect the lion's share of this lost cash...

So it's your choice: You can either let some overpaid broker who makes $300,000 per year collect the money... Or you can collect it yourself, in the next 60 seconds, without even getting up from your desk.

- As Scott W. in Connecticut tells me: "I've made several thousand dollars over the past few months. It's 'free money.'"
- "I have collected hundreds of thousands of dollars," says Mel N.

Remember, brokerages collect the majority of this lost cash...

And that's why most folks have never heard of this approach before. It's also why brokers would likely NEVER tell you about it.

But personally, after spending almost a decade on Wall Street – where I spent six years at Goldman Sachs – I've seen exactly how it works firsthand...

What I saw at Goldman Sachs

In those days – the late 1980s – I was a trader on Goldman's options desk, where I quickly became very wealthy. (One investment I heard of turned $10,000 of my own money into $250,000.)

To be honest – back then I was a typical Wall Street "hotshot" working 12 hours a day and living the high life...

Weekends in Cancun... free opera tickets... dinner at the finest restaurants... season tickets to the Knicks and Rangers...

But as I mentioned earlier – it's greed and the unethical activities that often go on at brokerage firms that first made this secret possible...

And at Goldman Sachs, you wouldn't believe the stuff I saw...

Eventually, I decided to leave. I was ready for a new adventure... and disillusioned by Wall Street's indifference to the average investor.

So in the mid 1990s, I left the financial world and decided to change my life in a way that would truly help people. I went to medical school, and became a board-eligible eye surgeon.

I worked in medicine for 10 years. Frankly, I thought I'd never set foot in the financial world again...

Then – in 2008 the market crashed... and I got a phone call from an old friend of mine in Baltimore, Porter Stansberry.

"Doc?" he said. "I have an idea."

"I had NO experience" –Vern S. after collecting $20,302.08

Porter Stansberry is the Founder of our firm, Stansberry & Associates Investment Research... the largest independent financial research firm in America.

Over the past 12 years, Porter's work has been viewed by 22 million readers, appeared on TV and radio, and was profiled by Barron's, by uncovering some of the biggest and most controversial stories in the financial business...

For example, he predicted the collapse of GM years before it happened, as well as the collapse of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac... the collapse of Gannett newspapers... and General Growth Properties (America's biggest mall owner).

Recently, he was even interviewed by Reuters after uncovering what he concluded was a secretive deal between Goldman Sachs and insurance firm AIG.

The point is: Porter Stansberry is one of the smartest analysts I know...

As it turns out – he already knew about this secret...

But as stocks plummeted in the fall of 2008, suddenly there was so much lost cash in the market that Porter Stansberry decided – for the first time ever – to share this approach publicly...

Remembering that I had worked at Goldman Sachs, Porter immediately enlisted my help in launching an unusual new project...

In short – we began scouring 1,000s of companies on the options market for the most valuable "buckets" of lost cash... from Budweiser to Tiffany...

Then we invited a small group – a relative handful – of ordinary Americans from across the country to give these transactions a try...

What happened next was remarkable.

- "I've made $18,665 in about 7 days," said John D. in Arizona.
- "I have made about $15,000 to date," Mark C. in South Carolina told us. "This has been the most exciting and profitable approach in my 20 years' experience."

One woman, Margaret H. in New Mexico, made $77,000 overall.

In fact, some folks were so excited they e-mailed us their results:

» FROM: Jack W.

Company	Lost Cash Received
Yahoo	$289.04
First Solar	$5,658.76
Patterson-UTI Energy	$1,587.29
JP Morgan Chase	$397.54
United States Oil	$475.79
Macerich	$674.59
Tiffany	$1,733.54
Neon Energy	$1,630.79
Annaly	$2,983.53

As you can see from the snapshot of his email– this fellow claimed and received $15,939.41 of lost cash from across the spectrum of the market...

Here's another of the dozens of notes we received...

» FROM: Andy B.

Company	Lost Cash Received
Annaly	$14,907
MGM	$9,203

Moodys	$6,419
Starbucks	$5,204

Total cash received: $35,733.

"I had NO experience," another fellow, Vern S. in Tulsa, told us after collecting $20,302.08 of lost money.

In short: We'd unleashed one of the most successful projects in the history of independent financial research.

That's when I realized something...

Where to find the most cash

You see, what I'm describing here is just one of many different options secrets I learned while working the trading desk at Goldman Sachs...

The reality is – what 99% of the public doesn't know is that the options market is filled with little-known approaches like this...

Unique ways of collecting hundreds or even thousands of dollars at a time, with very little effort... and little risk at all.

As a former Wall Street guru, I always took these secrets for granted...

But after "testing" this approach at Stansberry & Associates Investment Research and seeing the success, I realize now just how valuable this information is for retirees, or folks looking to generate extra income for retirement without taking big risks...

I should know. I've already "retired" twice in my life. First from Wall Street, then from medicine.

And the fact is, even though I'm semi-retired, I still use the secrets I learned as a trader on Wall Street to generate extra income for my own retirement.

For example, I can tell you I make enough money with the Online "Bucket" System to pay for almost all my expenses each month.

And that's why I'm revealing this approach in a special report.

It's called: The Black Book of Trading Secrets... and shows you how to begin collecting $625 (or more) of other people's investment losses in 60 seconds or less, right through your brokerage account.

Don't worry: It's written in plain English, and gives you step-by-step instructions on exactly what to do, from A to Z.

And I can assure you, it's a quick read. Once you get your hands on it, I'd estimate you could finish the entire report in a single sitting.

If you're interested... I'd be happy to let you obtain a copy free of charge, to try this approach yourself.

Inside, you'll learn:

- How to collect other people's investment losses in 60 seconds, by using the Online "Bucket" System
- How to do this with any online brokerage account
- Which stocks offer the safest payouts
- And a handful of other trading secrets I picked up on Wall Street.

Remember – this is how Wall Street's richest and cleverest traders make money. Instead of taking on risk, they "divert" the stream of money to themselves...

And to be honest, with the stock market still so volatile right now – this is one of the best times I've seen since 1987 to use this strategy yourself.

Frankly – there's no telling how much longer these "buckets" of lost cash will stay this big. Another year? Two years? It's anyone's guess.

Why I love "easy money"

You see, I've always loved collecting "easy" money...

For example, when I was a young doctor, some medical friends of mine started up a biotech firm for gene therapy... and invited me to invest.

Unless you knew the science, like I did... and the research pioneers behind it, who were colleagues of mine... it would have seemed like a wild speculation...

But I knew it'd be a big hit, and made an early private investment. I was lucky enough to see the firm bought-out by biotech giant Roche, turning every $10,000 of my own money into $170,000.

For the same reason, I bought Amgen (AMGN) back in the 1980s when a friend at Goldman Sachs tipped me off... and made 21 times my money.

In other words, I don't like to invest my own money unless I know there's a near-certain chance of getting paid.

And to be honest, finding such opportunities is easier than you think...

You just need to know the right people and the right information, like the secret I've been telling you about... which I picked up after 10 years trading for some of the richest banks on Wall Street. Not only Goldman Sachs, but also Chase... And even Yamaichi, the "Goldman Sachs of Japan" at the time.

Again, even though I've retired from Wall Street – I still use the secrets I learned as a trader to generate extra income for my own retirement...

For example, I've collected $1,296.02 of lost money in Microsoft... $585 of lost money in Delta Financial... and $2,157 in Plum Creek Timber.

And that's why I agreed to join Stansberry & Associates Investment Research as an analyst and share my approach in a one-of-a-kind advisory newsletter.

It's called: Retirement Trader.

Twice a month, I send out an e-mail to anyone who's interested, showing exactly which investment plays I'm looking at.

I typically focus on the transaction I've been telling you about, and give details on which company is offering lost cash right now... and how to claim and receive the money in 60 seconds.

One subscriber, Joe M., tells me he collected close to $50,000 in a year.

And I'm proud to say that since I first began Retirement Trader, my track record is perfect. I'm 98 for 98 on each series of closed recommendations.

I repeat: I'm 98 for 98... which is a 100% success rate.

In other words, you would have ALWAYS made money by following each of my investment plays to the end.

As subscriber Vincent S. told me:

"Dr. Eifrig's Retirement Trader has been the best. All of his recommendations that I have followed have been profitable. He has an astounding track record!

In fact – one analyst in the investment research industry, (who's been profiled by Barron's) recently said on January 20th, 2012:

"Dr. David Eifrig has established what I believe is the best trading track record in the history of the newsletter industry."

As far as risk goes, the only risk is that if you don't know what you're doing, sometimes you're required to buy the underlying stock. But my approach provides protection in that case. Every single one of my closed series of positions has been a winner. 98 for 98. That's why we consider the Online "Bucket" System so valuable. It's easy money.

As far as I'm concerned, it's the #1 way to generate money in the markets.

A huge "unfair" advantage

The truth is, even folks who have spent their entire career in the finance business are often amazed by what I show them...

For example, one of my subscribers says, "I have quite a bit of experience trading options. In 2005 I authored a book on options." He collected $5,000 in lost cash, by using my approach.

Then there's notes like this, from Jeremiah W. in Atlanta:

"I had never traded options until you introduced me to this. As a result, I made approximately $6,000 in 2 months."

I love getting these notes...

But I admit, when it comes to knowing secrets of the trading world – especially of the options market – I have a huge "unfair" advantage...

You see, at Goldman Sachs I was colleagues with the two men who literally "wrote the book" on options trading... Fischer Black and Myron Scholes, who created the Black-Scholes Formula, which is now responsible for trillions of dollars of option trades per day... and which won the 1997 Nobel Prize in Economics.

I still have my copy of Black's book, which he inscribed to me in the front cover: "Dear David... thanks for the memories."

The point is: I've picked up dozens of simple and profitable trading secrets throughout the course of my career.

That's why I've created this presentation... and why I spent months compiling the information you'll find in The Black Book of Trading Secrets.

Again, I'd be happy to offer you a copy of this report free of charge.

In fact, I recently did something I've never done before... which could help you make even more money with my approach.

In short – I've prepared a series of brief online videos where I'll walk you through the entire process of how to use the lost money transaction... step by step... just in case you need a little extra help getting started.

By logging into the Retirement Trader website, you'll be able to watch me sitting at my desk, at my computer – where I'll use a simulated account to explain exactly how the transaction can be executed in any online brokerage account... show you how to collect the most money... and how to ensure you always get paid in 60 seconds or less.

That way, no matter what your level of experience, you'll be able to see everything I could possibly show you about this secret, firsthand, just as if I were sitting right beside you at your own computer.

Frankly – I could easily charge thousands of dollars for access to just these videos alone, or sell it as a "kit" or a special course.

But as a Retirement Trader subscriber, you'll receive full access to these videos at no charge... my compliments.

Along with The Black Book of Trading Secrets, also free of charge.

But by now, of course, you're probably wondering about the subscription price for Retirement Trader...

May NOT be right for you

Well... first of all – if you're like most people, Retirement Trader may not be right for you... in spite of everything I've said in this presentation.

That's because – in my experience – most folks are often afraid of trying anything that looks "unusual," especially when it comes to making money.

If that sounds like you... I'm sorry for wasting your time.

You see – I have no interest in folks who refuse to learn anything new. If all you ever want to do is follow conventional ways of investing, such as buying mutual funds or collecting dividends, then please stop reading this letter.

Believe me, I'm serious. I even negotiated a unique contract to do exactly what I want in Retirement Trader.

That means I'll be focusing exclusively on the secrets I picked up on Wall Street, many of which will be entirely brand-new to you... unlike anything you imagined were legal or possible.

In fact, before you get in, there are 2 additional things you should keep in mind...

Keep in mind:

First, we recommend you have at least $15,000 in investing capital set aside.

Of course, how much money you commit to any investment play we recommend is entirely up to you, regardless of the strategy. But it's a good idea to have at least this much capital at your disposal, altogether – to get the maximum benefit from Retirement Trader.

And second, as you've probably guessed, you'll need to make sure your brokerage account is set up for using options.

If it's already set up... great. If not, don't worry. You can use options with virtually any brokerage account we know of. All it takes is a phone call to set it up. And don't worry: I'll show you exactly how to call your broker and what to tell them so that your account will be perfectly set up to use this approach.

Remember, you don't need any prior trading experience to use my approach, just a willingness to try something unusual.

So if you keep an open mind... I think you're going to love this.

Just consider the story of one subscriber, Thomas O., who began following me in August 2010. He recently told me:

"Though a bit scary at first, your approach has been pretty easy and painless. So far this year I have made $7,500.00. This more than paid for the subscription. I have to say that it opened my eyes to new possibilities in conservative trading that has added some nice income to my account. Going forward, I can see that the strategies I've learned will be even more profitable. Thanks for opening the world of options for me."

Special offer...

To get started today, the cost is only $99.

This is the lowest price I've ever offered to access Retirement Trader, and allows you to try my work effective immediately, for the next 30 days.

- You'll receive access to your free copy of The Black Book of Trading Secrets in the next few minutes.
- You'll receive online access to my new training videos, also free of charge.
- And of course, you'll be added to my e-mail list, to begin receiving all of my Retirement Trader investment alerts.

But...

Unfortunately, there are a lot of "novices" who will watch this presentation.

Many of these folks have no clue what they're doing in the market and frankly – too little money to be investing in the first place.

And as I mentioned earlier, I've compiled a perfect success rate on every series of closed positions, using my approach. So I don't think it's fair that I should simply "give it away" at such a low price.

That's why one full year of Retirement Trader costs $4,000.

And believe me, it's a bargain at that price. For example, Bruce S. in Ohio tells me he's made $14,667 on just one stock alone with the Online "Bucket" System and $14,305 on another.

That's $28,972 in gains. Over 7 times the subscription price!

But again, the good news is: For the next 30 days, I'm offering you a chance to try my work – and receive everything I've described here – for just $99.

Once your 30-day trial is up, you'll have to make a decision. If you like my work, and see an opportunity to make money with it, then simply do nothing, and you'll be automatically enrolled for a full year's subscription.

But here's where the deal gets even better...

You see, normally – you would be charged the remaining balance of $3,901 once your 30-day trial offer is up.

But if you sign up today, through this special trial offer, I'll knock $1,000 off the price.

That means that after 30 days, if you decide to continue your Retirement Trader subscription, you'll pay a balance of just $2,901... a 25% discount.

And that's all you'll ever pay to get Retirement Trader for a full year.

If you decide to cancel after your 30-day trial is up, no problem. Just contact our 1-800 customer support line, and your subscription will stop immediately.

Just bear in mind: For business reasons, we cannot refund your $99 trial fee. We do this to keep out the "tire-kickers"... the kind of folks who sign up just to get my work for free then immediately cancel.

Believe it or not, there are people out there who actually do this.

But don't worry: If you decide to cancel, you can keep everything you receive, no questions asked – including The Black Book of Trading Secrets.

And I can assure you, we take our customer satisfaction very seriously.

If you're not happy with Retirement Trader for any reason, just contact our 1-800 customer support line here in Baltimore, Maryland, from 9 am to 5 pm, Monday to Friday and we'll immediately assist you.

In fact...

Our firm – S&A Investment Research – has an A+ rating with one of America's biggest consumer protection websites... after more than 12 years of business, week in and week out, with almost half a million paid subscribers in 120 countries worldwide.

And when you dial into our customer support line – you'll be connected with our premiere team of college-educated, native English-speaking representatives right here in Baltimore, Maryland, not overseas.

But I doubt that you'll cancel after your 30-day trial period, for the simple reason that once you begin using the Online "Bucket" System yourself, I think you'll see it could change the way you pay for your retirement.

It wouldn't surprise me if you never bought stocks again.

As one gentleman, David H. in New Hampshire, put it:

- "This has opened my eyes to a whole new world of investing."
- Or consider Gunther W. in Wisconsin, who's collected $4,496.73 and tells me: "No other [strategy] is giving me this kind of success."

The bottom-line is that we want you to be happy. That's the only way we'll ever do business, period.

And that's one reason why our paid subscribers include some of the smartest and most distinguished people in America – including a New York Times best-selling author... CEOs... and thousands of well-known investors.

Take a look:

Dozens of financial professionals at banks and brokerages across America also subscribe to the work we do at S&A Investment Research, month in and month out.

So if you're interested, I urge you to get in now...

What you'll receive

As a new member of Retirement Trader, you'll receive full online access to all my current investment plays in the next few minutes.

By using the Online "Bucket" System I've described, you'll have a chance to collect hundreds of dollars right away, with my next play. It involves collecting lost money in a Blue Chip company, and as always, you'll have the opportunity to get that money with just a few clicks of your computer mouse.

If you're like most of my readers, I think you're going to love doing this. As Pat J., who's made hundreds of dollars, recently told me:

"This is a fantastic way for me to make a little extra money in my retirement and it is a lot of fun. Keep up the good work."

Every two weeks, I'll e-mail you with a Retirement Trader alert, and brief you on what I'm looking at.

It's important to read these e-mail alerts as soon as you get them, to see how much money you could collect. Remember, it's not hard to find "easy" money in the market. But you must be quick to get in.

In the next few minutes, you'll receive a password to the S&A Retirement Trader website, where you'll have full access to the exclusive primer I've prepared:

- The Black Book of Trading Secrets

Don't worry: It won't take you long to read through it and learn everything you'll need to get started right away.

- In the next few minutes, you'll also receive full access to my online training videos, in case you need a little extra help getting started.

Throughout the week, I'll be in touch with you by e-mail – to let you know of any important updates.

Just remember: Right now, through this special presentation, I'm offering you a rare $99 trial offer. But this offer could expire at any time.

I think you'll find it's more than worth the price.

As one Retirement Trader subscriber told me:

"Using this strategy for the last 14 months I took a $160,000 portfolio, and now have a value of about $195,000. I appreciate all your insights and the way you have taught me to be a better investor. I am a CPA and a former broker and can safely say your publication has given me the best advice I have had."

Brian S., CPA

And don't forget: You'll have the next 30 days to try my work for yourself.

But if you're not happy for any reason during that time, just let us know and we will immediately cancel your subscription. You can keep everything you receive... no questions asked, our compliments.

And you're welcome to contact our 1-800 customer support line for any questions regarding your subscription you may have along the way.

What it comes down to is this:

After spending 10 years at Goldman Sachs and two other Wall Street banks, I've picked up a powerful trading approach, which is helping me and many others to safely generate a fortune for retirement.

And by joining me today, you can do the exact same for yourself.
