ALERT – Forged FTC Letter

At WakeUpNow we pride ourselves on our culture of accountability and integrity. WakeUpNow encourages honest and ethical business practices in advertising and marketing. With quality products and services, WakeUpNow has plenty of great benefits to highlight without bending the truth. We are continuously putting out new material on blogs and other communication mediums to provide information to help you promote your business. When in doubt about information to provide to customers and other contacts, please refer to WakeUpNow approved materials.

It has come to the attention of WakeUpNow that a forged letter from the FTC has been making rounds among WakeUpNow IBOs and distributed to prospective customers. The FTC does not send out letters to endorse companies. This letter is not representative of any official FTC communication. Use of this "Letter" undermines your personal credibility and is a serious matter of legal concern for WakeUpNow.

We want to be clear and direct in this matter: Creating false government letters or communication and/or participating in the distribution of such communication is an unacceptable business practice.

Effective immediately, anyone using or sharing the above mentioned FTC letter, or any other fabricated letters from any government agencies, to promote their business, will have their account immediately suspended.

If you, or anyone you know, possess such a letter, we ask that you please destroy the letter and stop its distribution.

Please help us protect WakeUpNow and its business practices by ensuring we remain compliant in all aspects of our business and advertising. If you see the FTC letter or other false letters circulating, please email compliance at compliance@wakeupnow.com and provide any helpful information, such as the letter's location.

Thank you,
WakeUpNow Corporate Team
