How some people run their individual businesses does not make it a pyramid scheme. I'm super tired of that term...everything is a pyramid...government, hourly jobs ect...Vemma has great products that helped a lot of people get and maintain healthy lifestyles. No one forces people to buy products or be an affiliate, they are adults making their own decisions. Just like everything, the only people that you hear from are the ones complaining.

Das Beste Produkt von Menschen für Menschen. Man muss nicht überzeugt vom Produkt sein, weil die positiven Ergebnisse kommen auch so. Den Placebo-effekt kann man hier definitiv vergessen.

I'm not affiliated with Vemma, but I voted that it is NOT an illegal pyramid scheme. It's funny that anything that the government can't regulate through their control of taxes is called illegal; yet they rip off the elderly thru social security every day. Surely we can't get healthy thru experimental medicine and jobs that have no Healthcare and does not allow people to have substantial incomes without making them work like dogs. Vemma and other MLM companies have allowed everyone to have equal access to improved health and wealth. The focus should be on illegal drugs and terrorism, not on people making an Bonifay living.

Vemma è una società con una linea di prodotti fantastici per la salute, con l'integratore alimentare antiossidante più potente nel panorama commerciale mondiale. E' una azienda degna di nota e, soprattutto, di rispetto!

I am so hopeful that all who have misrepresented the company have left for good. Vemma is a lifestyle and a culture... it's far above and beyond any old dime-a-dozen typical "business" and will forever stand in a league of its own. I know we are not allowed to make health claims but I really don't care. I saw, firsthand, my mom's Stage IV cancer being beaten and squashed as well as my own health issues cleared up thanks to the Vemma product line. You couldn't pay me any amount of money to jump ship and go anywhere, and I really wish that people would stop trying to recruit me... It's becoming laughable. If the FTC could inflate bogus charges about the most superior nutrition program on the market, they will next be stomping all over the rest of the MLMs. Thank you, BK Boreyko... you have prolonged the lives of two people near and dear to my heart because of your values, integrity, products
