

Yes You Can

October 14, 2013

debated whether to post this or not but felt it important to share. As many of you are aware, I am a big believer in stem cell technology and the Jeunesse Global skin care regime called Luminesce. It helps your body create new collagen, thus making you look younger. What you may not know is I've had a bout of cancer under my eye and instead of surgery, I decided to use an Australian carcinoma treatment called Curaderm, along with Luminesce Cellular Rejuvenation Serum. I am blown away by the results and happy to report that there are no more cancer cells in this area.
