The 2XU Compression Calf Guards may appear simple but they are strategically designed to be exceptionally effective for the containment of the calf muscle when training and competing. Repeated muscle vibration is directly related to causing fatigue, muscle damage (small tears) and shin splints. The convenience of the calf guards allow the athlete to use their preferred sock and can also be worn under a wetsuit making transition times faster during a triathlon.

MADE IN THE USA

The 2XU Compression Sock is a true hybrid between active and recovery wear. Super comfortable, light padding where it matters and breathable, you can't beat this sock whether out on a run or recovering on the couch! Strategically placed fabric zones start in the foot bed, wrap the heel and ankle, then gradient compression ensures maximum venous return and muscle containment of the lower leg.
