

So I feel like I'm obligated to share this. Straight and simple, I struggle with acne. I absolutely hate it. It's painful. I've spent so much money trying to find cures for it, putting only the Lord knows how much product on it with no avail. I had even began taking DR. Prescribed medication to target the source with still no help. And couldn't afford the $300 a month "SUPER" medication that the DR. Recommended as well. Needless to say I was up to try anything. And that's exactly what I did! The picture on the left is how my acne looked while I was on all the crazy acne product and taking DR. Prescribed Medication for who knows how long, horrible right? The right picture is 6 days after I stopped all the acne cream and medication and resorted to my "last ditch effort"- Kyäni! (By the way, anytime I would miss a night of putting acne product on my face I would break out within 24 hours no matter what: so for me to go 6 days without acne product and not have any flare up is a miracle) Praise be to God!! I have no doubt in a month my acne problem will be GONE! Just wanted to share because I know how much acne sucks. And anytime I see someone with it I know exactly what they're going through. For me to even post a picture of how bad my acne was is crazy, I used to be so self-conscious about it. No worries now! I take Kyäni as it says to, and even put the nitro extreme on my face before I go to bed to relieve the pain! I woke up this morning with less than 10% pain from it. I'm

Write a comment...

to share because I know how much acne sucks. And anytime I see someone with it I know exactly what they're going through. For me to even post a picture of how bad my acne was is crazy, I used to be so self-conscious about it. No worries now! I take Kyäni as it says to, and even put the nitro extreme on my face before I go to bed to relieve the pain! I woke up this morning with less than 10% pain from it. I'm extremely excited to see where it's at in a month!

Write a comment...

Have you tried everything or do you know anyone who has tried everything to clear their acne and nothing seemed to work? Kyani might be your answer. Visit our website @ <http://dineopaul.kyani.net/> and order your suppliments today. Inbox us if you have any questions.

Like Comment Share

Write a comment...
 Press Enter to post.