Tama Taulau tells a great rendition of his Kyani story, so here it is in his own words.

"A divine moment? Maybe, but I was not sick, I was not looking for a business opportunity or a second income and Dennis Harrison was not a close friend. I was playing a golf tournament in Scottsdale, Arizona when I ran into Dennis on my way to the tee box for my round. Seeing someone else from Hawaii, I said hello. He gave me a Nitro FX and said, 'Take some drops of this before you tee off.' He gave me the bottle and 2 – 7 day trial packs to take with me. I did not see Dennis again until a week later when I got back to Hawaii.

Dennis called and invited me to a meeting the next day. I was not impressed or interested. Two days later, I signed up as a Distributor. To this day, I don't know why I signed up, but since I walked out with some of the products that day, I have not stopped sharing Kyani. I didn't think about the compensation plan until I received an email telling me that I had, in fact, qualified for a new Audi!

Dennis and his wife, Sally are now close friends and I am extremely thankful for the chance meeting in Scottsdale that has added great people and the wonderful opportunity of Kyani."
