

razsantos.kyani.net

Like This Page · December 13, 2015 · Edited ·

Ok, so for those of you who know me ... worrywart no more!! Usually, I will be the one to take any product before I let my own kids consume it. Well, I did here and now I have my kids on Kyani. That's how much I believe in Kyani.... with the testimonials I've come across, as well as my own.

And now another testimony.... my lil one, Christian has had this cough that comes and goes for about 2 months now. He's been on his inhalers for his asthma, as well as a prescribed medication (I'm not here to downgrade any prescription meds, by all means, so I will not name that med). Anyways, he still had that irritating, lingering cough. But one morning, I had the courage to give Christian the Kyani Nitro followed by the Kyani Sunrise drink. We noticed he had not coughed that rest of the day....therefore, skipping his inhaler and medicine for that evening!!! As soon as he coughed again the next morning, I immediately gave him Kyani!!

My other sons take it for energy, as well as for their essential vitamins and nutrients because they are picky eaters and don't consume enough fruits n veggies

Write a comment...

Press Enter to post.