NASOPHARYNGEAL/ NOSE CANCER DATUK HAFIFI HAFIDZ

I had this swelling at my upper neck for quite some time, but did not take it seriously because it is not painful at all. Life continues as usual, but about to take 360 degrees turn. It all happen when I took my daughter to the hospital for treatment. While talking to the Dr. who was attending to my daughter, my wife mentioned about the lump and after looking and feeling it, he recommended that we meet up with another Dr.

The consultation then continues with ultra sound later a surgery to remove the lump. A series of biopsy finally confirms;

"Left Neck Node Biopsy done on 21/02/05 was reported as Infiltrating poorly differentiated Carcinoma. PNS endoscopy showed - Infiltrative growth involving (L) FOR, (L) Eustachian tube cushion roof. PNS biopsy on 2/3/05 was reported as bilateral chronic Nasopharyngitis. A repeat biopsy done on 3/3/05 was reported the same. MRI PNS showed 2x2.5x5 cm (L) PNS mass extending to (L) Parapharyngeal region and compressing left pterygoid facial plane. NPC- Nasopharyng Carcinoma."

My treatment was as follows:

"Received a course of Radical Radiotherapy from 7/3 to 26/4/2005. The postnasal space was prescribed 70Gy/35F/7wks. The neck was irradiated to 60Gy/30F/6wks. The (L) neck was delivered additional 10Gy/5F. Received 3 cycles of con-current Cisplatin chemotherapy on 9/3 (200mg), 29/3 (200mg), and 20/4/05 (180mg). Received 4th cycle adjuvant chemotherapy from 18/5 to 24/5/05. A combination of Cisplatin (75mg/m2 D1=140mg) and 5Fluorouracil (1g/m2 D1 to D5 = 6g). The 5th chemo continues on 18/05 and 6th chemo on 13/06/2005."

Although I was introduced to TF prior to my treatment, I did not take the product until after my 2nd chemo. I was very weak and my condition worsen with the chemo. I was beginning to loose weight, my hair was thinning and my condition did not allow me to continue with the 3rd cycle. I was discharged from the hospital with the instruction from the Oncologist to eat as much as I could so that the 3rd cycle could be administered as planned. That was when I took 4 capsule of TF Plus 3 x daily. I felt very much better and was admitted for the 3rd cycle of chemotherapy. I continued taking TF Plus and Riovida during the chemotherapy and realized that I recover faster and was able to return to work thereafter.
