4Life Transfer Factor™ Becomes the First Dietary Supplement Approved for use in Hospitals in Russia

In a historic move, the Ministry of Health and Social Development of the Russian Federation has given its first—and currently only—approval to a dietary supplement for use in comprehensive health care practice to 4Life Transfer Factor Classic and 4Life's Transfer Factor Plus, International. The approval opens the way for the use of these 4Life Products as immune modulators in Russian hospitals and clinics and allows

“To my knowledge, this is the first time in the history of this industry that a network marketing company has had one of its dietary supplements receive approval from the Russian Ministry of Health, and encourages Russian physicians to freely recommend them to their patients.

For 4Life Distributors the world over, the Russian approval opens the door on new markets and possibilities. The approval gives 4Life Products unprecedented credibility in Russia, which will further broaden the professional and private sectors' acceptance of 4Life Transfer Factor products as superior immune-enhancing supplements. The Russian Federation's hospitals, clinics, physicians and population of 140 million are now prime prospects for becoming both 4Life Customers and Distributors.

4Life RESEARCH
The Natural Way of Strengthening
our Immune Systems
against diseases

ONE hundred percent natural, Transfer Factor could be the immune molecule to prevent dengue outbreak. It is thus the ultimate immune-system builder. The body needs this pathogenic information to do its job of defending us from illnesses.

Now, for the lack of vaccine, this natural ingredient may yet be the God-given protector as it is found in the animal kingdom's first three to five days of milk. In Russia, it is the top immunorehabilitator of our natural killer cells to conduct massive destruction of cancer cells, viruses, and bacteria.

Transfer Factor is better referred to as a "navigator," for it helps build up the immune system that becomes the true doctor or cure for the body. So, instead of dengue patients languishing in the hospitals for seven days or more, they may opt to give Transfer Factor and get well in two to three days without blood transfusion.

Platelets go up immediately on just 30 to 40 capsules of Transfer Factor.

I am rushing this column in view of the fact that so many have needlessly died and are dying in so many places in the country. What alarms me is the resistance of some doctors to give Transfer Factor to the dengue patients because, some of them say, they need permission from whoever. I don't know who.

Transfer Factor is 100-percent natural and could do no harm to anyone. For the doubting Thomases, consider it a food supplement.

In times of crisis, why question something that has been tried and tested in more advanced countries than the Philingines? The idea is to save lives. I have said it in my previous column that during the past administration, the PCSO had helped so many patients, mostly cancer and dengue patients, and we found Transfer Factor to be very effective, especially on those patients that are terminally ill with no more hope of survival.

Must we argue in times of crisis and desperation? What we all must do is to find a way to keep patients alive. The idea is not to let patients die without any assistance.

Reports have reached me that there was a hospital in Laguna with so many dengue patients that the distributor of Transfer factor had wanted to help for free and yet the doctors rejected the offer. That to me is very alarming because not much is being done for the dengue patients.

How can they do such a thing just because they are not the ones affected with the deadly virus?

I repeat: Transfer Factor is totally harmless. It is safe to take even by those who are not sick. I've been taking it myself everyday for several years already. I would never recommend it if I thought it could harm anyone. But based on experience, I witnessed the efficacy of Transfer Factor. I saw with my own eyes how two patients stricken with cancer of the lymph nodes got well in 28 days, one of whom was a judge and the other, a security guard. Their bloated necks subsided in less than a month, and their doctors stopped their chemotherapy treatment.

Can anyone argue with that?

Much as I do not wish to advertise Transfer Factor for fear of being misunderstood, I have no choice but to share what I know about it. I have no other interest but to help control the dengue outbreak which is now in epidemic proportion. For me not to say anything about it makes me feel guilty, especially after seeing on television parents crying for the loss of their children na maging lalalaban, their lives wasted for not having money to spend for their loved ones.

Sa dami ng naging pera ngayon pangpagmamat, na pambili ng blood for transfusion, it is criminal not to do something for them.

What is the PCSO doing about the critical situation we are in?

To save time, please allow me to refer those interested to:

Please do not call me, for I have nothing to do with the company. I am just a buyer myself, and I call the same numbers to get my supply for me, my family, and friends.

Evidence from Clinical Studies

Blokhin Russian Oncology Research Center, Russian Academy of Medical Sciences

- Transfer Factors effect the activation of NK Cells
- Similar to the Lymphokine Interleukin-2
- IL2 are artificially activated NK cells used in cancer therapy
- Cost $US5000 per Rx or $US10,000 per month plus in hospital and doctor fees. (US$60,000 for 6 mths)
- IL2 side effects listed as: 'Adverse' or 'Life Threatening'

Dr. Kisilevsky of the Russian Academy of Medical Sciences stated, "The 4Life sample [Transfer Factor Advanced Formula] activated NK (natural killer) cell activity more than the Interleukin-2 (IL2) drug used as the standard. This discovery has attracted the attention of The International Scientific and Technical Center (ISTC) of Russia.
