AACI natural product recommendation no. 6

"Transfer Factors"

from 4Life.com

Over 50 years of research and over 3,000 papers have been published on the merits of Transfer Factors in relation to superior human immune function! Transfer Factors are essentially immune system molecules transferred from mother to child in the colostrum (or "first milk") of the mother, that effectively establishes the immune system of the newborn.

A study on 20 Stage IV (late stage) cancer patients (12 males, 8 females) with physician prognosis of approximately 3.7 months to live, showed remarkable results: Out of 20 terminal cancer patients, 16 were alive, in remission and prospering one year later. They were given Transfer Factors, digestive enzymes and beta glucans – immune system boosters.¹

A recent "blinded cytotoxicity" study showed that transfer factors increased Natural-Killer Cell effectiveness by 248%†. Another study revealed inducement of immune-based lysis (breakdown) of K562 cells†† at unprecedented levels.†††
