Nutriveda by Zril and effects on ADHD, ADD, Autism, Apraxia, and more

I wanted to post something on this because school is starting around the country and this is a very important thing for many people... Children's Behavior.

Credit -- The following write up is quoted directly from the web page <http://www.gvskiddnutrition.org/index.html> -- I couldn't get the formatting to work correctly, but I wanted to share the information. Please visit their website for additional information on the studies.

Do you have a child that suffers from Autism, ADHD/ADD, Apraxia, seizure disorders and learning disabilities? Have you been told that medication is the only solution to the problem? Do you hate how your child becomes some "other child" when they are on those medications?

You are not alone in your struggle to find an alternate solution to medication. The list of side effects that accompany medication is scary at the least! What parent wants to put their child on medicine that can potentially harm their child? Have you ever read the research behind how the autism and ADHD meds became the meds of choice? Did you realize that the drugs your child might be taking could cause myriad health and mental issues when they grow up?

How come no one ever offered a nutritional solution to the problem? Could it be that the one thing all these conditions have in common is that in order for these kids to feel normal their bodies need the right nutritional support? After all, we are what we eat aren't we?

Over the past four years or so, children all over the country have been introduced to a whole food product called Nutriveda that has been changing their lives in amazing ways. The product was originally formulated as a weight loss meal replacement by the world famous medical doctor Deepak Chopra. Nutriveda is a 100 percent natural, 100 percent whole food source. It contains ALL of the essential amino acids, 100 percent of your daily recommended vitamins and minerals per serving. Nutriveda is gluten, casein, fat, sodium and caffeine free and tested free of any heavy metals, herbicides, or pesticides.

For years we have known that essential fatty acids (EFAs) help with neurological function and Nutriveda seems to help with the absorption of the EFAs. This could be one of the many reasons Nutriveda is helping nearly 100% of the kids that have started taking it, and within a few days of adding it to their existing eating habits. Many have been able to get off medication all together.

Some researchers are suggesting that children with autism, ADHD and apraxia have issues with absorption of essential amino acids, digestion issues, as well as a lack of proper nutrients through their diet alone. The amazing thing about Nutriveda is it addresses all these issues. The product contains herbs that help with nutrient absorption, protein digestion, and protein (think amino acid) assimilation. This allows these essential amino acids to cross the blood brain barrier (read more about this topic here). Your brain needs these proteins/amino acids to help it work correctly. The best way to obtain these amino acids is through your diet. Kids that have autism, ADHD and other cognitive disorders tend to be picky eaters for one reason or another. Nutriveda contains all the essential amino acids your body needs, and helps with the absorption, assimilation and use of these in our bodies. This is likely why it helps kids so much. You must feed the brain good things in order for it to start working correctly. This is why we feel there is no other product like it on the market. It was started as a meal replacement but has turned out to be so much more. Lisa Geng from the Cherub Foundation discovered by accident when she added Nutriveda to her son Tanner's diet to lose a few pounds; not expecting him to have surges in many areas as reported by her son's school. Since Fall of 2009, like Tanner Geng, there are thousands of other families who have tried Nutriveda with various SLPs and IDe reporting the same or similar positive results with around 100% success in the patients they recommend Nutriveda to. We believe it's just due to providing the body with good nutrition that is easily digestible, as there is a growing amount of research for nutrition's effect on cognition. The Nutriveda is approved by the Feingold Association for the Feingold Diet and is being approved and recommended by various pediatric medical doctors because it's just healthy food based nutrition.

Within days of starting to take Nutriveda, over 4000 kids have shown improvement in the following area:

- SPEECH: articulation, complexity and sophistication of sentence structure
- LANGUAGE: better understanding of written and spoken word, development of better reading and writing skills.
- ACADEMICS/LEARNING: reported surges in all areas of school. For preschool age sudden awareness of numbers, letters, even spelling.
- FINE AND GROSS MOTOR SKILLS: improvements in various activities reported including riding a bike, swimming to buttoning pants.
- POTTY TRAINING: and bed wetting resolved for those of all ages who had issues are reported.
- SENSE OF HUMOR: both catching subtle humor/abstract humor, and wanting to make others laugh-joking around.
- AWARENESS OF SURROUNDINGS: (for autism) reported following gaze and more interactions.
- FACIAL EXPRESSIONS: more non-verbal communication, for oral apraxia more expressions instead of blank stares when not engaged in conversation.
- FOCUS: on task, more willing to listen and try.
- MULTI TASKING: for those with motor planning impairments such as apraxia as this is something typically not done or done well prior to NW.
- SOCIAL: wanting to participate with others via play and communication.
- MOOD: reported seems "happier" for a number.
- BEHAVIOR: normalization reported in a few cases of those with severe behavioral issues of head banging, butting, hitting, aggression and anger issues.
- MUSIC: increased interest in listening to humming or singing music.
- DEVELOPMENTAL CATCHING UP: for those that never went through stages -reportedly going through them for the first time.
- DECREASE IN SEIZURES: so far in several cases elimination of any seizures and headaches and decrease and elimination in seizure meds as well!
- IMAGINATIVE PLAY: increase in imaginative play and story telling.IMPROVED DIET: willingness to try more foods for those that were "picky eaters" prior.

Within 1 month or more:

- SENSORY: improvement in sensory awareness for those affected with sensory integration dysfunction.
- GROWTH: reported dramatic surges in height as well as increase in muscle and normalization in weight.
- REFLEXES: normalization of reflexes for those who had poor reflexes

This site is dedicated to helping families and kids find some kind of hope in their struggle to find anything that will help them live as close to normal of a life as possible. While there is no known cure for any of the conditions that we are helping each day, there is hope. Hope of finding something, anything that will help kids feel and act like, well, kids of course!

While we are not claiming to cure, heal or mitigate any condition, we are claiming to be able to help these conditions improve immensely. All it takes is trying it. What do you have to lose by trying? Either it helps or it doesn't. It has no side effects! It's a whole food product. And if it does help, imagine what that will do for your child and their future.
