Wanting to share my experience with Kyani so far - I was diagnosed with fibromyalgia 2 days before Christmas after many months of constant pain, tingling skin and the sensation of no body temperature control. Since then I have had many ups and downs. I am a PE teacher in a primary school, visit the gym a few times a week and play netball weekly. I try to keep with this routine as well as being mum but this does not always happen and quite often struggle with the pain and exhaustion that comes along with FM. The cold weather has really been effecting me lately with colds and virus' hitting me harder than normal over the past 2 months and been feeling very ordinary. Have found some days hard to function and get my kids organised for school let alone get to work. But I'm one week into trailing Kyani - a nutritional supplement and can honestly say I have had less aches and pains, not as tired and able to function without the fog feeling. One week down on my 4 week trial, excited to see if this product can help long term.
