

Hi L..., & ,

Just wanted to share some exciting news with you all. I know that you all have problems with your bones. I just talked with the nurse practitioner from my oncologist's office and she told me that my last bone density that was taken last month is great. I was diagnosed with the start of osteopenia in 2005 and in 2007 my bone density had improved. Now, the osteopenia is not there, thank God. I attribute this to Shaklee's Osteo Matrix bone building calcium that I take and exercising regularly at Curves. I stopped taking Fosamax after a couple of months in 2005 because I did not like the side effects from it, and the Shaklee is natural. Yeah to Shaklee (supplements that my family has taken for years) and Curves!

Thanks to P... who introduced Shaklee to us many years ago.
