Jan 2008

Praise Jesus! He is my Healer! I am so excited about the recent good news report given to me by my doctor.

I was introduced to Enzacta PXP by a good friend in October of 2007. I started taking the product 3 times a day and immediately observed improved circulation in my hands and feet. I would wake up in the mornings with my hands so numb and my little fingers, on each hand would just dangle as if they were dead. Within a couple of weeks the problem appeared to no longer exist.

Ok, back to the good news report, I was diagnosed with Crohn's disease in my early 20s and I believe the medication I was taking caused me to become a type II diabetic among other things. I lost my job in June and in August my health insurance was cancelled. I was not able to purchase all the medications I had been prescribed. I was taking Avandia for the diabetes and couldn't afford to purchase it without the help of the insurance. It is now January 2008 and I was blessed to get some help with my medical needs. I returned to my doctor and told him I had not taken the Avandia since September. He had his nurse test my blood sugar level and smiling after seeing the results, he said he was not going to renew the prescription. He did however, have me take other blood and lab tests to establish the fact the medicine was no longer needed. This is a true miracle. I have been diabetic and on some form of medication for over 20 years (one third of the time on insulin). I can remember one summer; I would wake up in the mornings with my blood sugar level over 500. Every morning at 6 AM, I would call my doctor and he would take my morning reading and then prescribe what I will call an insulin cocktail for that day. This went on about 2 months until my blood sugar was stabilized.

I am waiting for the results of the blood and lab tests I took a few days ago. I just know the results will show my blood sugar level in the average range. I believe God is using Enzacta PXP to restore my body systems. Yeah God!!!!!!!
