

Testimonials

This testimony is an update from the one I wrote in May 2007.

I suffer from diabetes, high cholesterol, and I am on dialysis. I began taking Alfa PXP in late November of 2006. I have renal failure (kidney) caused from a bout with bacterial pneumonia in 2003. The pneumonia attacked my kidneys causing them to basically die. I had not urinated in over 3 years before I was introduced to PXP.

The doctors say that dead kidneys do not rejuvenate after they have not been working for as long as mine, but I am proving them WRONG! Within 6 weeks I started to urinate occasionally to my amazement. However, I do not want to stop dialysis completely until I know there will be no repercussions. In the last 3-4 months, all my stats given to me from my dialysis doctors are right on target. They measure about 13 different things. Prior to taking PXP, they would take between 6-7 liters of fluid off me three times per week, equal to 18-21 liters per week. Today they are taking between 2-3 ½ liters three times per week, equal to 6-10 liters per week. That is a difference of approximately 12 liters per week. A team of doctors are amazed what is happening to me and watching me very close. My Doctor at Marshfield Clinic calls my case 1 in a million.

For the past 10 years my blood sugar levels never fell below 100. In fact, they would run well above 200 most of the time. For the first time I saw levels below 100 within a couple weeks of taking PXP. My cholesterol was over 300, today it is under 200 and all aspects of it is in normal range.

And now MORE Good News!!!! On September 24th I went to my regular physician. She had not seen me for over 1 ½ years. When we told her about my blood sugars and my cholesterol, she was amazed. She checked over the reports she had received from my dialysis doctors, (they take the blood tests every month and send them to my regular physician), she took me off insulin and one of my cholesterol pills immediately. I will also, be skipping a day of dialysis in November to see how my body reacts. If that works, I will probably change my dialysis schedule to twice a week instead of three times per week. This will be a good indicator on gauging on how I am doing.

The doctor also put me on occupational and physical therapy for my arms and legs and says I am strong enough to begin walking again. I have been in a hover-round for over 4 years. I would recommend everyone take PXP that has diabetes or any other degenerative disease. It taste good and has other health benefits as well. I tell everyone about this amazing product. I believe will give me my freedom back! Call me anytime with any questions you may have.
