Description

Alfa PXP Royale nourishes the mitochondria with the polysaccharide peptides it needs to generate energy, which is crucial for a cell. When being regularly nourished with polysaccharide peptides, mitochondria are able to absorb glucose and convert it to energy. Superfood Alfa PXP Royale contains the best antioxidants available, originating from the high quantities of anthocyanins in purple rice which help the mitochondria get rid of free radicals, keeping the cells healthy. Enzacta brings you this nutritional treasure chest, once available only to ancient emperors and kings. Anthocyanins are known for protecting the plants and foods which contain them against the damaging effects of UV radiation from the sun and other external aggressors. The built-in anthocyanins contained in Alfa PXP Royale react the same way in the human body, and have been linked to the following benefits: The normalization of cholesterol levels. They work similarly to statins, the cholesterol-lowering molecules found in pharmaceutical products. Positive anti-inflammatory effects are often experienced by people who suffer from chronic degenerative diseases. Reduction in elevated blood-sugar levels in diabetics. Reduction in the pain caused by different types of arthritis. Blockage of bad cholesterol? molecule deposits from the artery walls, helping to reduce the risk of cardiovascular disease. Obesity prevention through the inhibition or interception of digestive enzymes that break down sugars and proteins, taking them directly to the colon. This helps to block calories and prevent weight gain, high blood-sugar, cholesterol and triglyceride levels in the blood. Slowing of degeneration of the skin. Preservation of sexual functioning. Improves memory, ability to learn, and speed of analysis and critical thinking. It also helps keep the mind positive and benefits those who suffer from Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, M.S., amyotrophic lateral paralysis and other degenerative brain diseases. 150 grams
