

Sana By Noevir Hadanomy Deep Mist 8.5floc./250ml

Hey girls! This stuff is very nice and refreshing. I like using it in the summer instead of cream at night after I wash my face and use a toner before going to dinner and dancing etc. I use three sprays 2 for my face and 1 for my neck then gently rub it in. It makes my skin moist and feel protected from the NYC dirt. I still use a little eye cream. Great rose smell and big bottle it should last awhile. Great in the NYC summer heat.

I bought this because I was intrigued by it. It just seems so bizarre, I've never heard of something like this in the states. Besides, my skin is very dry and using this seemed like something I needed.

At first, I did not think it was working. My skin soaked it up very quickly and my skin did not feel softer so much as it just felt more firm. I was a bit upset, so I stopped using for a few days, thinking why bother, it wasn't doing anything. However, after I stopped using it, my skin got extremely dry! I started using it again and lo and behold, my skin improved. The results of this are not dramatic as I was expecting, however using this once or twice a day really does keep my skin healthy and flake free.

However, I have found two uses for it that I believe work better than a skin mist. This is the best product I have found for my hair! My hair gets very dry and frizzy due to the winter weather, and this stuff is awesome at taming my hair without weighing it down or making it feel greasy. It also appears that with continued use, my hair has gotten stronger and I am not shedding as much. I could be imagining it, but it sure seems like it, I am cleaning my brush out less frequently than before.

Another use I found is as a hand mist. I have eczema on my hands and soaps really don't help matters. I spray this on after I wash my hands and my eczema is almost completely gone, which is rare in the winter months.

All in all, this is a really nice product. It has great benefits and I am seeing results after over a month of usage.

EDIT: 11/29/12

I have dropped 3 stars from this review for two reasons. One, I finally found the ingredients for this product and it contains parabens and other chemicals that I do not want on my skin. Really disappointed.

Two, I found out that any product claiming to have collagen in it is fake. Your body can't absorb collagen, it can only produce it, so putting collagen on your skin or eating food with collagen does absolutely nothing. I thought micro collagen was different, but that too is just a marketing gimmick :(Really sad.

2 stars for price and it's good on my hair and it did help my face, but I won't be using this anymore and I definitely won't be buying it again.

I have been using this product for more than two weeks now and most of my friends noticed that my skin look radiant and smoother than before. In addition, I used less make up and my pores seems smaller than it used to be.
