NutriView!!

I LOVE Melaleuca for so many reasons but I just wanted to sing praises about Nutriview. I am legally blind and had to have injections in my eyes every 4-6 weeks for the last 2 years. I started taking Nutriview about a month before I was scheduled to see my retinologist. I had already gone for 5 weeks prior to taking these vitamins. I started taking them because I could tell that the medication was wearing off, as usual, and that I was getting more and more fuzzy and dim with each passing day. After I started taking the Nutriview, I could tell that I wasn't losing my sight as quickly and that I was not having the normal trouble that I have after the medication fades. In fact, at my appt which was scheduled for 9 weeks after the last injections went splendidly and I wasn't required to be injected again at that appt. NINE weeks was almost double the amount of time I usually went between injections. Now I am scheduled to see my doc in late September, 10 weeks after the last appt. I have continued to faithfully take my Nutriview and I know that I have not lost any more sight from that last appt. and I am hopeful that I will not have to have the injections at that visit either!! The only thing that I have done differently before my last appt was to start taking Nutriview. I am absolutely certain that the "eye specific vitamins" that I have been taking from Melaleuca is the reason I did not have any further swelling in my retinas and why I could forego the injections. Thank you so much for your awesome products. I could sing praises for so many of them but definitely wanted to give you feedback on Nutriview!!

Renew is also my favorite. I use it on my dry diabetic skin and I use it on the little ones in our house. In fact, my granddaughter, who is 18 months old, will not allow a diaper next to her skin without Renew on her “bum” first!!

This also helped my son with his dry skin issues and a friend of mine was “cured” of his psoriasis that he’s suffered with for years!

I love Melaleuca oil as well! It has gone on any sore I have on my body. I am afraid of not healing quickly because of my diabetes, but my T-40 C5 is the best thing ever!! I use it on the kids too!

I can’t say that I have disliked any product I have used. I have been a preferred customer back in 1993 but had some severe family hardship and lost my way....I came back to the company in June, 2013 and have been nothing but happy about everything I have tried!!!

Sincerely, Kimberly Grijalva
