Helping With Fibromyalgia

I love Melaleuca in so many ways I would be here for a week telling my stories. The best for me are the supplements I am taking that are helping my Fibro.. any one that has Fibro please ask me about them. My grandson has asthma and since we have changed his house over to chemical free everthing he is no longer suffering!! The vitamins are the best.. you can really feel the difference and great for the children too!

To Joy Curran, same question as Ann, I have a friend with Fibro that I would like to help, what are you taking that is helping you?

Hi just read previous comments on Fibromyalgia. I am fairly new director with Melaleuca and tonight I'm doing a DWP in home with would you believe 3 potential customers with this particular disease. It was sad to see a customer mention the supplements have not helped, what did she try. Can you suggest to me what supplements and products I can suggest to these 3 ladies for their fibromyalgia please

As I'm reading on, I see a product that Melaleuca has brought back called RestEZ, that could very well help with your Fibro, as I know many of us don't sleep as we should, at a deep enough level to heal and wake feeling really rested and refreshed. Check that out, too, if you'd like.

Hi Carolyn, I, too, have the fibromyalgia, and it's a hard condition to calm and get relief from. Have you thought of maybe trying the Melaleuca Luminex, with St. John's Wort? I was reading about that. I know that alot of Fibro's, as I call us, have depression and that can cause a lot of the tiredness and achiness. Look that up and see what you think? I'm hoping for you and caring.

Just got diagnosed with fibro. I have been with Melaleuca since 1998. The products don't seem to work for me. The cleaning products do work. I am so tired & achy & have chemical sensitivities. I take the vitality pack, 2 Provex plus & coldwater omega 3. What am I doing wrong-what do you take? Thanks, Carolyn

To Joy Curran: What specific supplements do you use? I have a friend w/ Fibro. I would like to introduce to Melaleuca. I want to be able to talk specifics.
