"I love the renew lotion"

★★★★★ 7/5/13

I love the renew lotion. I suffered from eczema and it cured it. I went to many doctors, all prescribed the same things, none of it helped. I heard about the renew lotion, tried it and it worked. I suggest anyone try it, especially those with eczema. Their household cleaning products are great too, chemical free. Thanks melaleuca!

Q: Are all products cancer free toxins

A: That's a difficult question because all people are different. Some people are allergic to nuts. Does that make nuts toxic? I guess it

About Melaleuca (from the business)

Description

It's often said that Melaleuca is a different kind of company. But what makes it different? What is it that sets Melaleuca apart from—and above—the does to the person allergic to them.

Votes

That being said, overall, more people have found that switching to the Melaleuca brand has tremendously helped many eliminate even serious health problems. I've personally witnessed people who suffered from eczema and asthma reverse the symptoms when they simply switched to Melaleuca's laundry products. Logic would tell you that there must be something different about Melaleuca's products versus what people typically buy off local store shelves.

Hope this makes sense. With well over a million people test driving the products, and Melaleuca never having to pay a single penny on liability claims (even though many children have ingested the products), there is some pretty strong evidence that Melaleuca's product line a very safe.

Well, it all starts with Melaleuca's mission statement: "Enhancing the lives of those we touch by helping people reach their goalsSM." That's not just some fancy yet hollow phrase a copywriter came up with on a whim. It's a deliberate and thoughtful statement, and the guiding principle behind everything Melaleuca does, down to the smallest act by the last employee.

Melaleuca's goal is to help people achieve total wellness. To do that, it has created over 350 exceptional products that people use and rely on every day. The company with the best product wins, and Melaleuca has worked with some of the world's top researchers to create better, safer products using a balance of science and nature.

These products are not only better for your body and the environment, they're also a better value. Since it opened in 1985, Melaleuca's founding axiom has been "Exceptional products at reasonable prices."

Melaleuca's products are affordable thanks to its unique business model called Consumer Direct Marketing[®]. Melaleuca manufactures its own products and ships them directly to its customers; those customers then earn commissions through word-of-mouth referrals. There are no middlemen or advertisers taking a portion of the revenues. The result? Millions of satisfied customers who enjoy higher-quality products at a better value—and over $3.6 billion in paid commissions to date.

Helping other people. Enhancing their lives. To so many companies, where it's every man for himself, those ideals are an afterthought at best. But to Melaleuca, it's a mission. Learn more about The Wellness Company at Melaleuca.com.

Q: Currently, I am taking drugs for High Blood Pressure and cholesterol, if I start taking Malaleuca Peak performance for Men over 50, will I be able to stop taking the prescribed drugs ?

12/16/15

Answer

Anita J.

A: what she said. Your Doctor needs to evaluate your condition, he might decide to take them off, or to change them. if you can keep track of your medical numbers, like blood Pressure, blood levels for many things, then he will see, along with you, that the supplements maybe/are changing things. And do keep track, hard numbers say more than anecdotal information does.

A: You should always take the advise of your Primary Care physician. There have been people who were able to get off their current medication, but I would not recommend doing so without consent from your doctor. Q: I'm wondering why an interested customer is unable to create an account without the help of his/her enroller. I would feel uncomfortable asking them for their credit card information to sign them up. It's a very awkward situation. People are hesitant to give this information over the phone no matter if they know you. Is Melaleuca working on this by any chance?

12/11/15

Answer

Janice H.

Votes

A: Every company doing business online or over the phone requires payment details. If you are concerned about asking for those details yourself, or hearing them while on the phone, just go through the online enrollment process and leave the payment details blank. All the information has to be approved by the new member anyways and they can fill in the payment details. That you you don't see anything nor ask for the details. The new member simply enters the information themself.

Starlene C.

A: Melaleuca wants to make sure the customer sees the Company in the proper way, so it is our job to share the company via a webcast or in home so that they know exactly how it works as a customer and if they wish to work it as a business as well. When you call into Melaleuca to open their account they get the credit card information from them. It is no different than if you order something on line from any company out there, they have to have your billing information to place the order. I hope this helps answer your question.

Q: Can I see prices for the items and how the shipping costs?

9/16/15

Answer

Janice H.

A: Prices are for members only and are thus displayed in the currency of the member. This eliminates the problem experienced by simply using a currency conversion rate. Sites that do this don't take into account possible duties added at country borders, which is VERY upsetting when you order something expecting it cost X dollars, but it ends up being double at your door.

Votes

Melaleuca wants to provide a TRUE price. When an account is created, what you see is what you pay.

In the meantime, I can show you how to enter the site via a backdoor link. Although prices are not seen, if there is a product you want to know the price of, I can easily give that information.
