One of the innovative products on stage at the 2011 ExtraOrdinary Technology Conference (http://www.teslatech.info), was the energy patch product developed by LifeWave Inc. Its unconventional method of remediation, which is based on the delivery of energy or frequencies as the "medicine," have led some to question its authenticity and even use the dreaded "S" word (i.e., scam). However, detractors have been unable to counteract the impressive results that LifeWave adopters have reported, and the growing volume of scientific research that is beginning to make the viability of the Company's methods self-evident.

After sitting in on a technical presentation given by David Schmidt, LifeWave founder and CEO, Adam wanted to know more. That came from Steve Halliwanger, MD, LifeWave's Health and Science Director.

Listen in and you'll see how what may look like "smoke and mirrors," can actually have what it takes for energetic beings like you and me. (http://www.lifewave.com/photonic)

Then we present the conclusion of Adam's conversation on cancer self-treatment with Alan Kreglow, from Fairfield, Iowa.

Kreglow, who is active on the CancerVictory Yahoo Group, outlines a five-step plan for making cancer self-treatment easy. Adam adds a few more steps for good measure.

While no one would suggest that anyone turn their back on competent medical treatment, it is becoming increasingly important to understand what medical competence, or incompetence actually is. The insights gleaned from Kreglow's experience, and more importantly, his success, should be studied by anyone who truly wishes to a conqueror, and conquered by this condition.

I've used peroxide, however you are not supposed to mix it with metal & i happen to currently have a mouth full of metal... only people without metal in their mouth should use peroxide... not sure what the reaction is, but this is what I've been taught... my grandmother brushed with baking soda her whole life (80 plus years) and she kept them

I use colloidal silver to get rid of abscesses over night. You can make it yourself cheap. It also helps with arthritis. Hydrogen peroxide, food grade 35% mixed with distilled water down to 3% would help to kill germs in your mouth that would lead to cavities. Try brushing with baking soda and follow up with a peroxide rinse. Stay away from fluoridated well i would say we are body and soul! I don't believe we are only a body, but we have an eternal soul. This show is very interesting. Also, about Galileo Galilei, the pope at this time was open to his theory, but he needed more evidence to validate his theory. The scientific community was prudent at this time, and he used his theory lacking of scientific proves at Hi, just saw your video. I am in LifeWave also and we are not allowed to even mention the word LifeWave and any disease as that implies that we can help the disease process. You can get the company in trouble and loose your position.
