I'd like to share this because I feel to burst with happiness, I'll try and make it short 😊 but my sis has arthritis and osteoporosis of the bone so long term steroid use from a severe kidney condition, she has to use specialised cutlery to get adapted keys to opens doors, when she wakes up the first thing she feels is pain especially in her hands it can take an hour or so to get them evening, she can't take certain painkillers because of her kidney condition and the ones she takes don't help her pain, it's heartbreaking to watch, I recommended her try the flexcream but she said it wasn't going to help even pain relief doesn't buy her some anyway for her to try what the hell is going to lose, well you guys this cream is serious because she's been using it for two days and she's out realising she's stopped rubbing her hands every two minutes to ease the pain this morning she's up after applying it before bed and could use it straight away, I could literally cry for her I'm happy if anyone you know has these problems need to get them this cream ..I love this cream zzzzzzzz 😊 — 😊 feeling excited.
