Limu and M.S.

A good friend of mine sent me this story about a R.N. and her battle with M.S. Many people, including myself have friends and family members with this horrible diagnosis. And it effects everyone differently. I am just so happy to be a part of a company that has products that can change lives for people like this. #### Janet Banks – Greenbriar, AR

Janet is a registered nurse and had to quit work because she became totally disabled from the MS. She has taken Betaserone, Avonex, Copaxin and several different drugs for the MS. Three years ago she started going down hill to the point that she became bed fast and couldn't even hold anything in her hands. She told her family she didn't want to live any longer if it was going to be like this. She prayed to God to let her find something to help her if there was anything out there.

She was introduced to Limu and started taking it. She took 1 cup three times a day. She had no outward signs that it was helping at all until the third week. Then suddenly things changed. She got up out of bed and felt like a new person and has continued to feel good. She had even moved her furniture around her house the day before I talked to her. She says she forgets that she has MS. She goes to Wal-Mart and walks around with her grandson and she hasn't done that in years. She is totally sold on Limu. She has reduced her dose to 2 ounces three times a day. She has also taken herself off all drugs except her muscle relaxer and one other drug. I believe she said it was her sleeping pill. She said that she gives the Limu away to people that she thinks need it. She feels like that is what God wants her to do. She would be glad to talk to you about it. This is the lady that went to her neurologist, Dr. Lee Archer. He does research for the University of Arkansas in Little Rock. She went to him last week and he could not believe what he saw. She had not been to see him in months. She told him what she was taking, and he said there is no denying what the Limu had done for her.
