S.D. OHIO CIV. R. 7.2(a)(3) MEMORANDUM SUMMARY

Pursuant to S.D. Ohio Civ. R. 7.2(a)(3) and this Court’s Civil Procedures, plaintiffs Dino Rikos, Tracey Burns and Leo Jarzembowski (“Plaintiffs”) respectfully submit this summary regarding their over length memorandum in support of the joint motion for preliminary approval of class action settlement.

The Parties seek preliminary approval of a nationwide class action settlement. The proposed settlement has been reached after seven years of litigation that included extensive motion practice before this Court, the Sixth Circuit and the U.S. Supreme Court, fact and expert discovery involving hundreds of thousands of pages of documents, subpoenas to more than 30 third-parties, 19 depositions and 21 expert reports, and protracted settlement negotiations with three different mediators before and after rulings on class certification. The proposed settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate and readily meets the standards for preliminary approval. Likewise, the Class Notice Program satisfies due process and should be approved.

Section I (pages 1-2) is a brief introduction that summarizes the primary reasons why the proposed settlement should receive preliminary approval, including outlining the relief to be provided and the Class Notice to be disseminated to the Settlement Class.

Section II (pages 2-6) sets forth the general history of the litigation, including the substantial motion practice and party, third-party and expert discovery.

Section III (pages 6-11) discusses the terms of the Stipulation of Settlement. Specifically, P&G will provide up to $15 million in cash refunds, plus at least $5 million and up to $10 million in Digestive Health Improvement Contributions that will directly benefit the Settlement Class. To obtain the cash payments, Settlement Class Members need only return a simple Claim Form. The Claim Form, which features pictures of the Align packaging, only requires Claimants to provide their contact information and check one of three boxes that identify their purchases. No proof of purchase is required. P&G will separately pay all notice and settlement administration expenses and awards of Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s attorneys’ fees and costs, and Class Representative service awards. P&G will agree to refrain from making the

1 “clinically proven” five symptom relief advertising claims absent new supporting clinical data 2 or analysis, or a change in the product formula. The Class Notice Program, which was 3 designed by a vastly experienced third-party settlement administrator that exceeds the Federal 4 Judicial Center’s guidelines, and includes multiple print and online components to reach the 5 Settlement Class.

6 Section IV (pages 11-20) discusses application of the requirements of preliminary 7 settlement approval. If “the proposed settlement appears to be the product of serious, informed, 8 non-collusive negotiation, has no obvious deficiencies, does not improperly grant preferential 9 treatment to class representatives or segments of the class, and falls within the range of 10 possible approval,” then the court should direct notice be given to class members of a formal 11 fairness hearing. In re Polyurethane Foam Antitrust Litig., MDL No. 2196, 2012 U.S. Dist.
12 LEXIS 192151, at *14 (N.D. Ohio Jan. 23, 2012). The Settlement is well within the range of 13 possible approval as a fair, reasonable, and adequate resolution between the Parties, and should 14 be preliminarily approved.

15 Section V (pages 20-26) sets forth and applies Rule 23’s certification requirements to 16 the Settlement Class. With one exception, the proposed Settlement Class is identical to the one 17 certified by this Court and affirmed by the Sixth Circuit: the Settlement Class is nationwide.
18 There is little question that the proposed nationwide Settlement Class meets the requirements 19 of Rules 23(a) and (b)(3). See In re Sears, Roebuck & Co. Front-Loading Washer Prods. Liab.
20 Litig., No. 06 C 7023, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25290, at *30 (N.D. Ill. Feb. 29, 2016) (citing 21 Amchem, 521 U.S. at 620).

22 Section VI (pages 26-29) discusses why the Class Notice Program should be approved.
23 The Class Notice fully satisfies the “content” requirements by disclosing the essential terms of 24 the Stipulation of Settlement, Settlement Class Members’ rights and options, and other 25 essential terms. Further, the methods of disseminating the Class Notice satisfy all due process 26 requirements.

27
28

1 Section VII (page 29) discusses why the Court should appoint the Plaintiffs as the 2 representatives of the Settlement Class and why Mr. Blood and Mr. O'Reardon should be 3 appointed Class Counsel pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 23(g).

4 Finally, Section VIII (pages 29-30) sets forth the proposed timing for settlement-5 related events, including the Final Approval Hearing and objection and opt-out deadlines.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT

I. INTRODUCTION

After seven years of heavy litigation and shortly before trial was to begin, the Parties reached a proposed settlement of this class action, as memorialized in the concurrently filed Stipulation of Settlement.¹ Settlement was reached after months of negotiations assisted by a well-regarded mediator. The Parties now request that the Court preliminarily approve the Settlement and authorize the proposed Class Notice be sent to the Settlement Class.

As detailed below, under the Settlement P&G will pay up to about $30 million in settlement benefits. This includes up to $15 million in cash payments where Settlement Class Members are eligible to receive refunds of up to $49.26. P&G will also make payments ranging from $5 million to $10 million in the form of intellectual property, research and education grants, and/or product donations to research or education institution working to improve digestive health. Defendant will also pay Notice and Claim Administration Expenses and Attorneys' Fees and Expenses, which are approximately $5 million, collectively. P&G must also abide by injunctive relief that prohibits making the "clinically proven" five symptom relief claims, absent new supporting clinical data or analysis, or a change in product formula.

The Settlement Class covers the same time period and is otherwise the same as the previously certified class affirmed by the Sixth Circuit, with the exception that it is expanded to include those who purchased Align in the United States and its territories. The Settlement Class is defined as: All persons who purchased Align within the United States and its territories, other than solely for purposes of resale, from March 1, 2009 to June 6, 2016. Excluded from the Settlement Class are: (i) Defendant and its officers, directors, and employees; (ii) any person who files a valid and timely Request for Exclusion; and (iii) judicial officers and their immediate family members and associated court staff assigned to the case.

¹ All capitalized terms herein have the same meaning as set forth in the Stipulation of Settlement (hereinafter "Settlement," "Settlement Agreement," or "SA").

1 The proposed Class Notice meets the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(c)(2)(B) 2 “most practicable under the circumstances” standard and exceeds the minimum notice
 3 guideline set by the Federal Judicial Center.² The notice will target Settlement Class Members 4 through various Internet channels and publications as set forth in the attached media plan. See 5 Declaration of Carla Peak on Settlement Notice Plan (“Peak Decl.”), ¶¶4, 14-29, Exhibit 1.
 6 Notice also will be posted to various websites, including a website established especially for 7 this Settlement. The Notice and Claim Administration Expenses will be paid by P&G separate 8 and apart from any other consideration paid under the Settlement.

9 The proposed Settlement readily meets the standard for preliminary approval. Thus, the 10 Court should enter the proposed preliminary approval order that, among other things:
 11 (1) preliminarily approves the terms of the Settlement; (2) approves the form, method and plan
 12 of Class Notice; (3) certifies the Settlement Class for settlement purposes and appoints Class 13 Counsel and Class Representatives; and (4) schedules a Final Approval Hearing and related 14 dates at which the request for final approval of the proposed Settlement and entry of the 15 judgment will be considered.

16 II. HISTORY OF THE LITIGATION

17 The Settlement was reached after seven years of hard-fought litigation that included an 18 appeal to the Sixth Circuit and petition for certiorari to the United States Supreme Court, 19 extensive investigation and discovery, work with expert witnesses, including preparation of 20 expert reports for class certification and trial, and months of negotiations, including mediations
 21 with three separate mediators. These efforts are detailed in the concurrently filed Declaration 22 of Timothy G. Blood (“Blood Decl.”).

23 A. The Litigation

24 This case concerns P&G’s labeling and advertising of its over-the-counter probiotic 25 supplement, Align. Third Amended Class Action Complaint (“3AC”), ¶1. Align is promoted 26 as helping to build and maintain a healthy digestive system, restore natural digestive balance,

1 and protect against occasional digestive upsets. Id. at ¶¶1, 2, 4-5, 14-15, 23-30. Plaintiffs
2 allege and were ready to prove at trial that Align does not deliver the claimed digestive health
3 benefits. Id. at ¶¶20-22, 32-37. They were prepared to present evidence that the independent
4 studies, some of P&G's own studies, and high quality meta-analyses of clinical studies
5 confirm that Align does not provide the advertised health benefits. Id. at ¶¶3, 31, 38-41.
6 Likewise, P&G is represented by teams of experienced attorneys who vigorously defended the 7 marketing and advertising of Align.

8 On September 21, 2010, Plaintiff Dino Rikos filed a class action complaint challenging 9 Align's labeling and advertising. Blood Decl., ¶5. The complaint was filed in the United States 10 District Court for the Southern District of California on behalf of Plaintiff Rikos and all other 11 consumers who purchased P&G's Align branded products and captioned Dino Rikos v. The 12 Procter & Gamble Company, No. 3:10-cv-01974-BEN(CAB). The complaint included claims 13 for violation of California's Consumers Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"), Civ. Code §§1750, et 14 seq., Unfair Competition Law ("UCL"), Bus. & Prof. Code §§17200, et seq., and for breach of 15 express warranty. Blood Decl., ¶5. The complaint was amended on October 27, 2010, to add a 16 request for actual and punitive damages under the CLRA. Id., ¶6.

17 Upon P&G's motion to transfer venue pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1404, on April 13, 2011, 18 the Action was transferred to the Southern District of Ohio and renumbered Case No. 1:11-cv-19 00226-TSB. Blood Decl., ¶¶7-8. P&G moved to dismiss Rikos' complaint and, after full 20 briefing and consideration, the federal district court in Ohio upheld all of Rikos' claims, 21 dismissing only his request for injunctive relief. ECF No. 28. In accordance with the order, on 22 October 20, 2011, Plaintiff Rikos filed a complaint for injunctive and declaratory relief against 23 P&G arising out of the same facts and circumstances in the Superior Court of the State of 24 California, County of San Diego captioned Dino Rikos v. The Procter & Gamble Company, 25 No. 27-2011-00099818-CU-BT-CTL. Blood Decl., ¶9.

26 On August 17, 2012, Plaintiff Rikos filed a Second Amended Class Action Complaint
27 that added Tracey Burns and Leo Jarzembowski as named plaintiffs and proposed class 28 representatives. Plaintiffs alleged five single-state classes consisting of consumers who

1 purchased Align in California, Florida, Illinois, New Hampshire, and North Carolina. SAC,
2 ¶44. Claims for violations of each of these states' consumer protection and false advertising 3 laws were also added. Id. at ¶¶75-117.

4 On November 30, 2012, P&G moved for partial judgment on the pleadings pursuant to 5 Rule 12(c), and moved to dismiss under Rule 12(h)(3). Blood Decl., ¶14. The Court granted
6 the motion as to certain claims, but left intact Plaintiffs' core claims under each state's false 7 advertising and consumer protection statutes. ECF No. 94.

8 After extensive fact and expert discovery, on January 13, 2014, Plaintiffs moved to 9 certify five classes pursuant to Rules 23(a) and 23(b)(3), and to appoint Plaintiff Dino Rikos as 10 class representative of California and Illinois classes, Plaintiff Tracey Burns as class
11 representative of Florida and North Carolina classes, and Plaintiff Leo Jarzembowski as class 12 representative of a New Hampshire class. Plaintiffs also moved to appoint Plaintiffs' Counsel 13 Timothy G. Blood as class counsel. On June 19, 2014, the Court granted certification of five 14 single-state classes, including the requested class representatives and class counsel. ECF No.
15 140.

16 Defendant appealed the certification order to the United States Court of Appeals for the 17 Sixth Circuit, which affirmed the order granting class certification and thereafter denied 18 Defendant's petition for rehearing en banc. See Rikos v. P&G, 799 F.3d 497 (6th Cir. Ohio 19 Aug. 20, 2015) ("Rikos"). Defendant then petitioned the Supreme Court for writ of certiorari.
20 Plaintiffs opposed the petition, which the Supreme Court denied. Blood Decl., ¶¶17-19.

21 Plaintiffs' Counsel obtained and analyzed voluminous discovery produced by P&G and 22 third parties, conducted an independent investigation, and consulted with experts to analyze 23 and supplement the discovery produced. The written discovery Plaintiffs served on P&G 24 included comprehensive interrogatories and requests for production. Id. at ¶23. Counsel also 25 negotiated confidentiality and ESI protocols. Id. at ¶25. As part of this discovery, Plaintiffs' 26 Counsel obtained, reviewed and analyzed approximately 752,341 pages of hard-copy and 27 electronic documents produced by P&G and an additional 20,280 pages of documents 28 produced in response to over 30 subpoenas served by Plaintiffs on third-parties involved in

1 advertising and marketing Align, retailers selling Align, and scientists who conducted research 2 on Align. Id. at ¶¶24, 27-31. Plaintiffs' Counsel also responded to P&G's discovery requests to 3 the three named Plaintiffs, which included the collection and production of responsive 4 documents. Id. at ¶33.

5 The parties deposed 19 witnesses, including P&G's scientists and marketing personnel 6 involved in Align, third-party scientists, and two of P&G's primary scientific experts. Id. at 7 ¶¶30-32. In addition to written discovery directed at Plaintiffs, P&G deposed each of the 8 Plaintiffs, and one of Plaintiffs' scientific experts. In total, for class certification and trial, the 9 Parties exchanged twenty-one expert reports from fourteen retained experts on issues relating 10 to advertising and marketing, gastroenterology, microbiology, biostatistics, FDA regulations, 11 and damages. Id. at ¶¶34-37. Plaintiffs' experts did extensive work on this case, including a 12 meta-analysis of the clinical data.

13 B. Settlement Negotiations

14 One year after this Action was filed, on September 19, 2011, the Parties participated in 15 an all-day mediation with Mark D. Petersen of Farella Braun + Martel LLP. Blood Decl., ¶40.
16 By this time Defendant had moved the Action to Ohio, answered the complaint, and 17 unsuccessfully challenged the complaint (except for Plaintiff Rikos' request for injunctive 18 relief, which was dismissed). No settlement was reached. Id.

19 On April 10, 2013 a second mediation was attempted with mediator David P. Kamp in 20 Cincinnati, Ohio. Id. at ¶41. Following the April 2013 mediation session, Mr. Kamp met with 21 the parties separately in Cincinnati and San Diego. Id.

22 On March 13, 2017, the Parties participated in an all-day mediation in San Francisco, 23 California, which was conducted by the third mediator retained for this Action, Antonino
24 Piazza. Although no settlement was reached, the Parties appeared closer to a potential 25 resolution. Id. at ¶42. After two more months of hard-fought arm's length negotiations, a 26 settlement in principle was reached on May 1, 2017. Id. Over the last four months, the Parties 27 continued detailed negotiations on all aspects of the Settlement Agreement and its exhibits. Id.
28 at ¶43.

1 Ultimately, the settlement process was driven by the uncertainty caused by passages in 2 the Sixth Circuit opinion which, although seemingly contrary to established substantive state
3 law, created a significant amount of risk. Viewed in light of the possible meaning of the Sixth 4 Circuit opinion, the Settlement represents an excellent result. It is also limited in scope, so that 5 more recent purchasers can challenge P&G over Align's current advertising. Likewise, one can 6 seek to curtail the allegedly false and misleading advertising without interference from this 7 Settlement.

8 III. SETTLEMENT TERMS

9 The following is a summary of the terms of the Settlement.

10 A. The Settlement Class

11 The Settlement Class is the same as the class the Court certified on June 19, 2014, 12 except it is expanded to include all Align purchasers in the United States and its territories
13 between March 2009 and June 2016. Compare SA at §II.A., ¶34 with Rikos v. P&G, No. 1:11-
14 cv-226, ECF No. 140 (6/19/2014 Order Certifying Class Action) ("Class Cert. Order") at 1.
15 Excluded from the Settlement Class are: (i) Defendant and its officers, directors, and 16 employees; (ii) any person who files a valid and timely Request for Exclusion; and 17 (iii) judicial officers and their immediate family members and associated court staff assigned 18 to the case. SA, §II.A. The proposed Class Representatives are also the same as previously 19 appointed by the Court: Dino Rikos, Tracey Burns, and Leo Jarzembowski. Class Cert. Order 20 at 1.

21 B. The Settlement Relief

22 Under the Settlement, P&G will provide the following benefits to Settlement Class 23 Members:

24 1. Cash Refunds

25 Under the Settlement, Settlement Class Members may receive a Cash Refund of up to 26 $49.26 for three purchases of Align. For purchases made between March 1, 2009 and October 27 31, 2009, Settlement Class Members may receive a refund of up to $31.76 for two purchases
28 of Align. This was the period during which P&G expressly advertised Align's health benefits

1 to be “clinically proven”. This equates to $15.88 for each purchase or 50% of the average
2 weighted retail price of Align during that time period. SA, §IV.A.2.a.1. For purchases made 3 between November 1, 2009 and June 6, 2016, Settlement Class Members may receive one 4 refund of $17.50, which is 50% of the average weighted retail price of Align during this time
5 period. SA, §IV.A.2.a.2. P&G will pay out up to $15,000,000 in Cash Refunds. SA, §IV.A.2.c.

6 To obtain the cash payment, Settlement Class Members need only return a simple 7 Claim Form. The Claim Form, which features pictures of the Align packaging, only requires 8 Claimants to provide their contact information and to check one of three boxes that identify 9 their purchases. SA, Ex. 3 (Claim Form). No proof of purchase is required. Claimants need 10 only attest that the purchase information is true and accurate. Id. Claim Forms will be available 11 for downloading at the Settlement Website and Class Counsels’ website, and can be mailed or 12 emailed upon request. SA, §V.2. Claim Forms may be submitted online through the Settlement 13 Website or via U.S. mail to the Settlement Administrator. SA, §IV.A.2.b.

14 The Settlement Administrator will determine whether Claim Forms submitted by 15 Settlement Class Members are complete and timely, and will make final decisions on whether 16 a valid Claim for payment is made, and the amount of such payment, subject to agreement of 17 Class Counsel and P&G’s Counsel. SA, §§IV.A.2.b., V.1. For any Claims found to be 18 deficient, the Settlement Administrator will seek to remedy the deficiency. SA, §V.4.
19 Claimants will be mailed either a check or a letter explaining any denial within 60 days of the 20 Effective Date of the Settlement. SA, §V.5. Denied claims may be appealed to the Settlement 21 Administrator. SA, §V.6.

22 2. Digestive Health Improvement Contributions

23 In addition to Cash Refunds, P&G will contribute a minimum of $5,000,000 and up to 24 $10,000,000 worth of Digestive Health Improvement Contributions (“DHIC”). The DHIC are 25 in addition to and do not reduce the $15,000,000 available for Cash Refunds. SA, §IV.4.A.1.b.

26 P&G will contribute $5,000,000 worth of guaranteed, up-front, non-reversionary
27 DHIC. DHIC will be in the form of: (1) intellectual property and/or know-how; (2) research 28 and/or education grant(s); and/or (3) product donations to research and/or educational

1 institutions and/or programs working to improve digestive health. SA, §IV.4.A.1.a. All 2 contributions are subject to prior review and approval by Class Counsel. Id. Contributions will 3 directly benefit the Settlement Class by targeting U.S. consumers who suffer from Irritable 4 Bowel Syndrome (“IBS”), or who regularly seek assistance and care for their digestive health.
5 SA, §IV.4.A.1.a. The value of intellectual property and know-how contributions will be 6 supported by an independent third-party appraiser qualified in valuing intellectual property and 7 know-how. SA, §IV.6.a. Grants will be valued at the dollar amount actually paid by P&G. SA, 8 §IV.6.b. Product donations will be valued at the price P&G sells the products to wholesalers
9 and/or distributors. SA, §IV.6.c.

10 If eligible Claims are below $10,000,000, P&G will contribute Additional DHIC so 11 that the total aggregate contributions to the Settlement Class (including Cash Refunds and all 12 DHIC) will reach $15,000,000. SA, §IV.A.3.a. If the aggregate amount of eligible Claims 13 exceeds $15,000,000, P&G will contribute additional DHIC up to a maximum of $25,000,000
14 total value (including Cash Refunds and all DHIC) to the Settlement Class. SA, §IV.A.3.b.

15 3. Injunctive Relief

16 The Settlement prohibits P&G from making the “clinically proven” five symptom 17 relief claims, absent new supporting clinical data or analysis, or change in product formula.
18 SA, §IV.B. “New supporting clinical data or analysis” means competent and reliable scientific 19 evidence that was not originally relied on by P&G to support these claims, which were made 20 on the Align packaging and sold to consumers from approximately March 1, 2009 through 21 October 31, 2009. Id. The limited scope of the injunctive relief allows any consumer (or 22 government agency) to sue to enjoin P&G from advertising that Align has the advertised 23 health benefits.

24 4. Notice and Claim Administration Expenses

25 All Notice and Claim Administration Expenses will be paid by P&G separate and apart 26 from any other consideration paid under the Settlement. SA, §VI.A.1. This includes all notice 27 expenses, the costs of administering the Class Notice Program, and the costs of processing and 28 distributing all Cash Refunds to authorized Claimants. SA, §II.A.19. Plaintiffs estimate the

BLOOD HURST & O'REARDON, LLP

1 Notice and Claim Administration Expenses will be in excess of $500,000. Blood Decl., ¶44.

2 5. Attorneys' Fees and Expenses

3 Class Counsel, on behalf of all Plaintiffs' Counsel, will apply for an award of 4 Attorneys' Fees and Expenses not to exceed $4,500,000. SA, §IX.A. Class Counsel will 5 distribute and allocate the Attorneys' Fees and Expenses among the firms that comprise 6 Plaintiffs' Counsel. P&G agrees not to oppose an application for these amounts. P&G will pay 7 Attorneys' Fees and Expenses separately and in addition to the Settlement benefits to 8 Settlement Class Members. SA, §IX.A. None of the Settlement benefits for Settlement Class
9 Members will be reduced to pay attorneys' fees or to reimburse expenses of Class Counsel.

10 Class Counsel may also petition the Court for service awards of up to $2,500 for each 11 Class Representative for their time invested in connection with the Action and willingness to 12 serve as Class Representatives. The Court-approved service awards will be paid by P&G 13 separate and apart from the other payment obligations in the Settlement Agreement. SA, 14 §IX.C.

15 C. Release and Waiver

16 In consideration for the Settlement, the Settlement Class Members will be subject to 17 the following release and waiver of rights:

18 [W]ith the exception of claims for personal injury, all claims, demands, actions, 19 suits, and/or causes of action that have been brought or could have been 20 brought, are currently pending or were pending, or are ever brought in the 21 future, by any Settlement Class Member against P&G or any Released Party, in 22 any forum in the United States and its territories, whether known or unknown, 23 asserted or unasserted, under or pursuant to any statute, regulation, common law 24 or equity, that relate in any way, directly or indirectly, to facts, acts, events, 25 transactions, occurrences, courses of conduct, representations, omissions, 26 circumstances or other matters related to or referenced in any claim raised 27 (including, but not limited to, any claim that was raised against any Released 28 Party) in this Action, including damages, costs, expenses, penalties, and attorneys' fees.

SA, §§II.A.28, VIII.

1 This Release does not include claims for personal injury and does not extend to 2 purchases made outside of the Class Period. SA, §II.A.28. The Release will also be made 3 available at the Settlement Website.

4 D. The Class Notice Program

5 The Parties have developed a Class Notice Program with the help of the Settlement
6 Administrator KCC LLC (“KCC”), a firm that specializes in developing class action notice
7 plans. SA, §VI.A.1.

8 Class Notice will be provided to Settlement Class Members primarily through 9 publication, including online banner advertisements. SA, §VI.C.1. This is because Align was 10 sold over the counter at retail stores, and P&G does not have contact information for 11 Settlement Class Members. Use of the Internet also maximizes the dollars spent to contact the 12 Settlement Class. Internet publication through the use of hyperlinked online banner 13 advertisements has the further advantage of immediately linking the reader to the Settlement 14 Website and the Claim Form. The details of the Class Notice Program, including the 15 methodology underlying its design, are further explained in the Peak Declaration and the Class 16 Notice Program prepared by KCC, which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the Peak Declaration.

17 The Publication Notice provides Settlement Class Members with information regarding 18 the Settlement and informs them about their rights. SA, §VI.C.1. It contains general 19 descriptions of the lawsuit, Settlement Class Members’ legal rights, and the Settlement’s relief, 20 including how a Claim may be filed. The Publication Notice also directs Settlement Class 21 Members to a neutral website dedicated to the Settlement (www.AlignSettlement.com), which 22 will contain the Claim Form, the detailed Long-form Class Notice, Court orders, Settlement-23 related deadlines, and other documents and information. Settlement Class Members may also 24 obtain a copy of the Claim Form by calling the Settlement Administrator toll-free or by writing 25 to the Settlement Administrator. The Publication Notice and Internet banner ads will appear in 26 a variety of places selected based on market research evaluating the demographics of 27 consumers who purchase Align. SA, §VI.C.1; Peak Decl., ¶¶15-27, Ex. 1 (Class Notice 28 Program). The Publication Notice is attached to the Stipulation of Settlement as Exhibit 4.

1 KCC designed the paid media portion of the Class Notice Program to target Settlement
 2 Class Members on the websites they are currently browsing and through dedicated advertising 3 on specific web properties. This includes online banner advertisements across multiple 4 devices, including desktop, tablet, and mobile devices. The banner ads will allow visitors to 5 self-identify as potential Settlement Class Members and “click” on a banner that will link them
 6 directly to the official Settlement Website. See Peak Decl., ¶23, Exs. 1 (the Class Notice 7 Program) and 2 (Internet banner ad exemplars).

8 Complementing the Publication Notice and Internet banner ads is the detailed Long-9 form Class Notice. SA, §§VI.B.3, VI.C.2. The Long-form Class Notice contains detailed 10 information about the lawsuit, the Settlement benefits, the Release and how to opt-out, as well
 11 as how to object and exercise other rights under the Settlement Agreement. The Long-form 12 Class Notice will be available on the Settlement Website and by request to the Settlement 13 Administrator. Id. at §§VI.B.1., VI.C.2. The Long-form Class Notice is attached to the 14 Stipulation of Settlement as Exhibit 5.

15 Website Notice through the Settlement Website will include the Long-form Class 16 Notice, along with a copy of the Settlement Agreement and its exhibits, any preliminary 17 approval order, the Claim Form, the Third Amended Class Action Complaint, the motions for 18 preliminary and final settlement approval, answers to frequently asked questions, the toll-free 19 hotline number maintained by the Settlement Administrator for this Settlement, and 20 Settlement-related deadlines. SA, §VI.B.3.

21 IV. THE SETTLEMENT MERITS PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

22 Settlements of class actions are strongly favored. As a matter of express public policy, 23 “[t]he law favors settlement, particularly in class actions and other complex cases where 24 substantial judicial resources can be conserved by avoiding formal litigation.” Rubenstein, 25 Newberg on Class Actions (“Newberg”), §13:44 (5th ed. 2015); see also UAW v. GMC, 497
 26 F.3d 615, 632 (6th Cir. 2007) (noting “the federal policy favoring settlement of class actions”); 27 Waggoner v. U.S. Bancorp, No. 5:14-cv-1626, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 179843, at *9 (N.D.
 28

1 Ohio Dec. 29, 2016) (there is a “strong public interest in encouraging settlement of complex 2 litigation and class action suits”).

3 Rule 23(e) sets forth a two-step process in which the Court first determines whether a 4 proposed class action settlement deserves preliminary approval and then, after notice is given 5 to class members, whether final approval is warranted. In re Inter-Op Hip Prosthesis Liab.
6 Litig., 204 F.R.D. 359, 379 (N.D. Ohio 2001); Reed v. Rhodes, 869 F. Supp. 1274, 1278 (N.D.
7 Ohio 1994).

8 At preliminary approval, “[the Court] is not obligated to, nor could it reasonably, 9 undertake a full and complete fairness review.” In re Inter-Op, 204 F.R.D. at 379. Instead it 10 must “conduct a threshold examination [of] the overall fairness and adequacy of the settlement 11 in light of the likely outcome and the cost of continued litigation.” Id. The preliminary fairness 12 assessment “is not to be turned into a trial or rehearsal for trial on the merits,” for “it is the 13 very uncertainty of outcome in litigation and avoidance of wasteful and expensive litigation 14 that induce consensual settlements.” Id. at 379; Manual for Complex Litigation §21.632 (4th
15 ed. 2004) (the “Manual”) (preliminary approval stage is an “initial evaluation” of the fairness 16 of the proposed settlement); In re Sulzer Hip Prosthesis & Knee Prosthesis Liab. Litig., No.
17 1:01-CV-9000, 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26714, at *16-20 (N.D. Ohio Oct. 19, 2001).

18 The “court’s role in evaluating a private consensual agreement must be limited to the 19 extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or 20 overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as 21 a whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned.” Clark Equipment Co. v.
22 International Union, Allied Industrial Workers, 803 F.2d 878, 880 (6th Cir. 1986). A 23 settlement “warrants preliminary approval if it is within the range of what ultimately could be 24 considered fair, reasonable, and adequate—a determination left to the sound discretion of the 25 Court.” Bowling v. Pfizer, 144 F. Supp. 3d 945, 952 (S.D. Ohio 2015).

26 If “the proposed settlement appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-27 collusive negotiation, has no obvious deficiencies, does not improperly grant preferential 28 treatment to class representatives or segments of the class, and falls within the range of

1 possible approval,” then the court should direct notice be given to class members of a formal
2 fairness hearing. In re Polyurethane Foam Antitrust Litig., MDL No. 2196, 2012 U.S. Dist.
3 LEXIS 192151, at *14 (N.D. Ohio Jan. 23, 2012); Brent v. Midland Funding, LLC, No. 3:11-4 cv-1332, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 98763, at *17 (N.D. Ohio Sept. 1, 2011) (noting that “[t]he 5 Court granted the motion for preliminary approval” after “finding that the proposed settlement
6 was within the range of fairness and reasonableness”); In re Telectronics Pacing Sys., 137
7 F. Supp. 2d 985, 1015 (S.D. Ohio 2001) (same).

8 The Sixth Circuit has articulated seven factors to use in evaluating the fairness of a 9 class action settlement: (1) the risk of fraud or collusion; (2) the complexity, expense and 10 likely duration of the litigation; (3) the amount of discovery completed; (4) the likelihood of 11 success on the merits; (5) the opinions of class counsel and class representatives; (6) the 12 reaction of absent class members; and (7) the public interest in the settlement. UAW, 497 F.3d 13 at 631. These factors must all be considered as a whole to determine whether a proposed 14 settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable. Bowling, 143 F.R.D. at 151; Thompson v. Midwest
15 Foundation Independent Physicians Asso., 124 F.R.D. 154, 157 (S.D. Ohio Dec. 4, 1988) (“A 16 class action settlement cannot be measured precisely against any particular set of factors, 17 however, and the court may be guided by other factors, the relevancy of which will vary from 18 case to case.”). At the preliminary approval stage, only certain of the Sixth Circuit’s factors are 19 relevant to the fairness inquiry. Smith v. Ajax Magnethermic Corp., No. 4:02CV0980, 2007 20 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 85551, at *15 (N.D. Ohio Nov. 7, 2007) (at preliminary approval, analyzing 21 the strength of plaintiffs’ case, the risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of litigation, 22 the amount offered in settlement, and the experience and views of counsel); see also In re 23 Skechers Toning Shoe Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 13-md-2308, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 113641, at 24 *20-21 (W.D. Ky. Aug. 13, 2012).

25 The Stipulation of Settlement is well within the range of possible approval as a fair, 26 reasonable, and adequate resolution between the Parties, and should be preliminarily approved.
27 All of the relevant factors set forth by the Sixth Circuit for evaluating the fairness of a 28 settlement at the final stage weigh in favor of preliminary approval now, and there can be no

1 doubt that the Settlement was reached in a procedurally fair manner given the ongoing 2 guidance and assistance of mediator Antonio Piazza. For these reasons, the Stipulation of 3 Settlement merits preliminary approval.

4 A. The Settlement Is the Product of Good Faith, Informed, and Arm's-Length
5 Negotiations Conducted Before a Respected Mediator Following Seven 6 Years of Protracted Litigation

7 In evaluating a proposed class action settlement, the district court must make sure the 8 terms are reasonable and the settlement is not the product of fraud, overreaching, or collusion.
9 Priddy v. Edelman, 883 F.2d 438, 447 (6th Cir. 1989). “Where the proposed settlement was 10 preceded by a lengthy period of adversarial litigation involving substantial discovery, a court 11 is likely to conclude that settlement negotiations occurred at arms-length.” Newberg, §13:14; 12 In re Inter-Op Hip Prosthesis Liab. Litig., 204 F.R.D. at 350-51 (“when a settlement is the 13 result of extensive negotiations by experienced counsel, the Court should presume it is fair.”).

14 1. There Is No Fraud or Collusion

15 This Settlement was reached after numerous complex and contentious arms-length 16 negotiations—assisted by three third-party mediators—over the course of seven years and as 17 trial approached. Blood Decl., ¶39; see, e.g., Enter. Energy Corp. v. Columbia Gas 18 Transmission Corp., 137 F.R.D. 240, 244 (S.D. Ohio 1991) (approving settlement reached 19 “[a]fter almost six months of concerted negotiations”).

20 The fact that experienced mediators were heavily involved in the negotiation of the 21 Settlement demonstrates it is anything but collusive. Gascho v. Global Fitness Holdings, LLC, 22 822 F.3d 269, 277 (6th Cir. 2016) (“parties’ two-and-a-half years of litigation, extensive 23 discovery, ongoing settlement negotiations, and formal mediation session all weighed against 24 the possibility of fraud or collusion”); Waggoner, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 179843, at *8 25 (finding no risk of fraud or collusion where “the settlement was the result of arms-length 26 negotiations between parties that were represented by able counsel, after considerable 27 discovery and an involved mediation before an experienced mediator”); Dudenhoeffer v. Fifth 28 Third Bancorp, No. 1:08-CV-538-SSB, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 187041, at *8 (S.D. Ohio July 11, 2016) (same).

1 In addition, hard-fought litigation over the course of seven years was the driving force
2 behind this Settlement. This involved substantial motion practice, an appeal to the Sixth 3 Circuit followed by denial of a petition for writ of certiorari from the Supreme Court, 4 extensive discovery, work up of expert reports and trial preparation.

5 At this preliminary stage the Court must only decide whether there are “substantial 6 grounds to doubt the preliminary fairness ... of the proposed settlement agreement,” it does 7 not need to decide whether proposed service awards and attorneys’ fees will be approved. In re
8 Inter-Op Hip Prosthesis Liab. Litig., 204 F.R.D. at 352. Nevertheless, the proposed Attorneys’ 9 Fees and Expenses were negotiated after the Parties agreed on the principal terms of the 10 Settlement and with the assistance of the mediator. Blood Decl., ¶42. Neither the fees nor 11 service awards will reduce the benefits available to the Settlement Class.

12 No fraud or collusion that attends this Settlement. Thus, this factor supports 13 preliminary approval.

14 2. Extensive Discovery Was Conducted by Both Parties and 15 Contributed to This Settlement

16 As shown above, this Settlement was reached after the Parties conducted substantial 17 fact and expert discovery on all relevant issues. Blood Decl., ¶¶22, 34.

18 Accordingly, the Settlement was conceived from informed negotiations by experienced 19 counsel. “[W]hen significant discovery has been completed, the Court should defer to the 20 judgment of experienced trial counsel who has evaluated the strength of his case.” Bronson v.
21 Bd. of Educ. of City Sch. Dist. of City of Cincinnati, 604 F. Supp. 68, 73 (S.D. Ohio 1984); 22 Gascho, 822 F.3d at 277 (affirming settlement approval where “[d]iscovery was ‘extensive,’ 23 including the service of multiple sets of interrogatories, the production of over 400,000 24 documents, and over ten depositions”).

25 B. The Settlement Provides Substantial Benefits to Settlement Class Members
26 and Serves an Important Public Interest

27 In evaluating the fairness of the consideration offered in the Settlement, it is not the 28 role of the Court to second-guess the negotiated resolution of the parties. “[T]he court’s

1 intrusion upon what is otherwise a private consensual agreement negotiated between the 2 parties to a [class-action] lawsuit must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned 3 judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion 4 between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable
5 and adequate to all concerned.” Vassalle v. Midland Funding, LLC, No. 3:11-cv-00096, 2014
6 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 146543, at *18 (N.D. Ohio Oct. 14, 2014).

7 This is because settlements are “a product of compromise efforts by adversaries[] [and] 8 [u]sually neither side will attain all its goals in such a settlement.” *In re Ford Motor Co. Spark
9 Plug & Three Valve Engine Prods. Liab. Litig.*, No. 1:12-MD-2316, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10 188074, at *15 (N.D. Ohio Jan. 26, 2016); Bronson, 604 F. Supp. at 78; *City of Detroit v.
11 Grinnell Corp.*, 495 F.2d 448, 455 n.2 (2d Cir. 1974) (“there is no reason, at least in theory, 12 why a satisfactory settlement could not amount to a hundredth or even a thousandth part of a 13 single percent of the potential recovery.”), abrogated on other grounds by *Goldberger v.
14 Integrated Res., Inc.*, 209 F.3d 43, 49-50 (2d Cir. 2000).

15 The settlement taken as a whole, rather than the individual component parts, must be 16 examined for overall fairness. Granada Invest., Inc. v. DWG Corp., 962 F.2d 1203, 1206 (6th 17 Cir. 1992). The possibility “that the settlement could have been better ... does not mean the 18 settlement presented was not fair, reasonable or adequate[.]” In re Polyurethane Foam Antitrust 19 Litig., 168 F. Supp. 3d 985, 1001 (N.D. Ohio 2016). Because “[s]ettlement is the offspring of 20 compromise; the question ... is not whether the final product could be prettier, smarter or 21 snazzier, but whether it is fair, adequate and free from collusion.” Id. The benefits provided by 22 this Settlement are excellent.

23 The Settlement provides substantial benefits to the Settlement Class. First, Settlement
24 Class Members may apply for a Cash Refund of up to $49.26 for three purchases of Align. SA, 25 §§IV.A.2.a.1 and 2. The individual refund awards represent 50% of the average weighted retail 26 price of Align during the respective time periods. Id. P&G will pay up to $15,000,000 in Cash
27 Refunds. SA, §IV.A.2.c.

28

1 Second, P&G will contribute at least $5,000,000 in Digestive Health Improvement 2 Contributions to support digestive health research and education. Id. at §IV.4.A.1.a. These 3 contributions will directly benefit Settlement Class Members that suffer from IBS, or who 4 regularly seek assistance and care for their digestive health. All Settlement Class Members will 5 benefit from this relief considering that the only reason to purchase Align is for its advertised 6 digestive health benefits.

7 Third, the Settlement ensures P&G will not promote the health benefits of Align as 8 being “clinically proven” absent new supporting clinical data or analysis, or a change in 9 product formula. Id. at §IV.B.

10 The combined value of the Cash Refunds, DHIC payments, Notice and Claim 11 Administration Expenses and Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses is at least $20 million and may 12 exceed $30 million.

13 Additionally, the Settlement’s public benefit supports preliminary approval. See 14 Redington v. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., No. 5:07-cv-1999, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 64639, 15 at *53 (N.D. Ohio Aug. 22, 2008). In addition to the relief provided, the Settlement is in the 16 public’s interest because it “would avoid prolonged litigation, resulting in the conservation of 17 both the parties’ resources and the Court’s resources.” Moore v. Aerotek, Inc., No. 2:15-cv-
18 2701, 2017 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 102621, at *18 (S.D. Ohio June 30, 2017); In re Telectronics
19 Pacing Sys., Inc., 137 F. Supp. 2d at 1025 (finding the settlement was in the public interest 20 because, inter alia, “it frees ... the valuable judicial resources of this Court”).

21 Based upon the foregoing, these factors weigh in favor of preliminary approval of the 22 proposed Settlement.

23 C. The Risk, Expense, Complexity, and Likely Duration of Further Litigation
24 Support Preliminary Approval

25 The risk, expense, complexity and duration of litigation are significant factors 26 considered in evaluating the reasonableness of a settlement. Lonardo v. Travelers Indem. Co., 27 706 F. Supp. 2d 766, 781 (N.D. Ohio 2010) (approving settlement where the case “was a hard-28 fought legal battle from the filing of the complaint ... to the final settlement conference” and

1 explaining that “[b]ased on the Court’s intimate knowledge of these proceedings, there is no 2 reason to believe that either party would litigate the remainder of the case less vigorously”).
3 Although Plaintiffs have an unflinching belief in the strength of their claims against P&G, 4 Plaintiffs must balance this against the considerable risks and duration of continuing litigation.

5 The most significant risk arises from passages in the Sixth Circuit’s opinion affirming 6 class certification. The Sixth Circuit’s opinion suggests that if Plaintiffs fail to prove Align is 7 ineffective for everyone or, conversely Defendant sufficiently shows Align works for anyone, 8 then the entire class loses. The Sixth Circuit opinion states that, “[i]f Align in fact is proven 9 scientifically to work for some individuals, Plaintiffs will lose on the merits” and the 10 “straightforward impact of [] evidence [that Align might work for some sub-populations] is 11 simply that it may prevent Plaintiffs from succeeding on the merits.” Rikos, 799 F.3d at 520, 12 523. It continues, stating “an inability of the plaintiff class to prove [that Align does not work 13 for anyone] would not result in individual questions predominating. Instead, a failure of proof 14 on th[is] issue ... would end the case” and “there is only one reason to buy Align: its digestive 15 health benefits. And whether or not Align works as promised for anyone—the issue here—is a 16 scientific question that will not turn on the individual behavior of consumers; if Align is shown 17 to work, even for only certain individuals, then presumably Plaintiffs lose.” Id. at 521-22.

18 The Sixth Circuit goes on to state that “the district court may choose to revisit the issue 19 of class certification rather than dismiss the case if assessment of the fully developed evidence
20 presented by both parties suggests Align actually works for some subpopulations” and “[i]f
21 later evidence disproves Plaintiffs’ contentions that common issues predominate, the district 22 court may consider at that point whether to modify or decertify the class.” Id. at 520.

23 Factually, Plaintiffs believe the facts show that they win, although there is an element 24 of proving a negative (showing that Align cannot work for anyone, no matter how unique).
25 Plaintiffs also contend that despite the language in the Sixth Circuit opinion, it cannot reflect 26 an accurate interpretation of the opinion since that interpretation would have the effect of 27 altering state substantive law. The consumer protection laws asserted are strict liability laws 28 that use a reasonable person standard to determine falsity, rather than a common law fraud

1 standard that requires a showing that each class member was misled and the product did not 2 work. If these unqualified advertising claims are untrue or misleading to the reasonable person, 3 including because Align does not work for many people, rather than every conceivable person, 4 then liability attaches and the class is still entitled to recover. See, e.g., Lavie v. Procter &
5 Gamble Co., 105 Cal. App. 4th 496, 506-07 (2003) (under the UCL “unless the advertisement 6 targets a particular disadvantaged or vulnerable group, it is judged by the effect it would have 7 on a reasonable consumer”); Consumer Advocates v. Echostar Satellite Corp., 113 Cal. App.
8 4th 1351, 1360 (2003) (same standard applies to CLRA); Latman v. Costa Cruise Lines, N.V., 9 758 So. 2d 699, 703 (Fla. App. 2000) (FDUTPA applies reasonable consumer standard); 10 Kitzes v. Home Depot, U.S.A., Inc., 374 Ill. App. 3d 1053, 1061 (2007) (“under the Consumer 11 Fraud Act, materiality is tested with a reasonable person standard”); Mulligan v. Choice 12 Mortg. Corp. USA, No. 96-596-B, 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 13248, at *34-35 (D. N.H. Aug. 11, 13 1998) (“New Hampshire courts use an objective standard to determine whether acts or 14 practices are ‘unfair or deceptive’ in violation of the CPA.”); Ridley v. Wendel, 795 S.E.2d 15 807, 813 (N.C. Ct. App. 2016) (test is whether defendant’s act possessed the tendency or 16 capacity to mislead or create the likelihood of deception to a reasonable person); Jones v.
17 Capitol Broad. Co., 128 N.C. App. 271, 275 (1998) (same).

18 Nonetheless, the existence of the Sixth Circuit’s opinion creates substantial risk for 19 success and, at a minimum, can lead to substantial delay. Plaintiffs do not know how the 20 district court would interpret the opinion or how the Sixth Circuit would interpret its opinion 21 on appeal.

22 The challenges created by the language in the Sixth Circuit’s opinion are in addition to 23 the ordinary risk a case like this poses. The trial would amount to a fierce “battle of the 24 experts,” which always presents the potential for confusing jurors.

25 Settlement will ensure the Settlement Class a fair and reasonable recovery and bring 26 attention to P&G’s misleadingly advertised product. The proposed Settlement guarantees a 27 substantial recovery for the Settlement Class now while obviating the need for a lengthy, 28 complex, and uncertain trial and appeal. Preston v. Craig Transp. Co., No. 3:14 CV 1410,

1 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 183019, at *6 (N.D. Ohio Oct. 29, 2015).

2 As in Amos v. PPG Indus., “[t]he amount and form of this relief balanced against the 3 Plaintiffs’ likelihood of success on the merits weighs in favor of approving the Settlement 4 Agreement. In contrast to the uncertainty of litigation, the Settlement Agreement provides 5 immediate certainty to Plaintiffs ... [and] [a]fter [seven] years of litigation, this certainty
6 outweighs the risk of proceeding on the merits of Plaintiffs’ claims and receiving nothing.”

8 UAW, 497 F.3d at 631 (“The fairness of each settlement turns in large part on the bona fides of 9 the parties’ legal dispute.”).

10 D. The Experience and Views of Counsel

11 “The Sixth Circuit has held that, in the context of approving class action settlements, 12 the Court should defer to the judgment of experienced counsel who has competently evaluated 13 the strength of his proofs.” Smith, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 85551, at *14. Class Counsel fully 14 endorses the proposed Settlement as fair, reasonable, and adequate. Blood Decl., ¶39. This 15 opinion is based on Class Counsel’s collective and substantial experience litigating dozens of 16 class actions and serving as class counsel for many. Id. at ¶¶45-46, Ex.3 (BHO Resume).
17 Experienced counsel’s endorsement “is entitled to significant weight, and supports the fairness 18 of the class settlement.” UAW v. GMC, No. 05-CV-73991-DT, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14890, 19 at *18 (E.D. Mich. March 31, 2006); see also In re Skechers Toning Shoe Prods. Liab. Litig., 20 No. 11-md-2308, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 67441, at *34-35 (W.D. Ky. May 10, 2013) (citing 21 BHO’s experience in class action litigation and their views of the settlement before the court).

22 V. THE CLASS IS PROPERLY EXPANDED TO INCLUDE ALL PURCHASERS
23 NATIONWIDE

24 When presented with a proposed settlement, a court must determine whether the 25 proposed settlement class satisfies the requirements for class certification under Rule 23.
26 UAW, 497 F.3d at 625. This Court previously found these requirements were met and certified 27 five single-state classes (California, Florida, Illinois, New Hampshire, and North Carolina), 28 and appointed Plaintiffs’ Counsel, Timothy G. Blood, as class counsel, and Plaintiffs as class

1 representatives. ECF No. 140. Certification was upheld by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

2 The Parties now seek to expand the class to include all those who purchased Align in 3 the United States and its territories. In the litigation context, expanding the scope of the 4 certified class in this way presents issues of manageability of the case at trial. However, no 5 such issues exist here because the expanded scope is done in the context of a settlement class, 6 where there will be no trial. Amchem Prods., Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 620 (1997)
7 (“Confronted with a request for settlement-only class certification, a district court need not 8 inquire whether the case, if tried, would present intractable management problems ... for the 9 proposal is that there be no trial.”).

10 Further, in the settlement context differences in state law do not defeat certification.
11 Brent, 2011 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9876, at *48 (“The Court is satisfied that the speculative 12 possibility that certain class members may have more lucrative claims under state law should 13 not prevent the classwide settlement of this case.”); see also Sullivan v. DB Invs., Inc., 667 14 F.3d 273, 299-302 (3d Cir. 2011) (en banc) (explaining that “[a]s long as a sufficient 15 constellation of common issues binds class members together, variations in the sources and 16 application of applicable laws will not foreclose class certification”); Hanlon v. Chrysler 17 Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1022-23 (9th Cir 1998) (finding predominance satisfied where class 18 members brought claims under “local variants of a generally homogenous collection of causes 19 which include products liability, breaches of express and implied warranties, [] and lemon 20 laws”).

21 Given that the requirements for a settlement class are generally less onerous than those 22 for a trial class, there is little question that the proposed nationwide Settlement Class meets the 23 requirements of Rules 23(a) and (b)(3). See In re Sears, Roebuck & Co. Front-Loading
24 Washer Prods. Liab. Litig., No. 06 C 7023, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25290, at *30 (N.D. Ill.

28 ///

1 A. The Settlement Class Satisfies the Requirements of Federal Rule of Civil 2 Procedure 23(a)

3 Rule 23(a) enumerates four prerequisites for class certification: (1) numerosity; 4 (2) commonality; (3) typicality; and (4) adequacy. The Parties agree that each of these 5 requirements is met for purposes of certifying this Settlement Class.

6 1. Numerosity

7 Rule 23(a)(1) requires that a class be “so numerous that joinder of all members is 8 impracticable.” While no strict numerical test exists, “thousands” of products sold will satisfy 9 the numerosity requirement. Class Cert. Order at 16. “Between 2009 and 2013, Defendant sold 10 over 9.5 million (9,500,000) packages of Align.” Id. Accordingly, the numerosity requirement 11 is readily satisfied. Id.

12 2. Commonality

13 Rule 23(a)(2) requires the existence of “questions of law or fact common to the class.”
 14 “Commonality is determined by whether the issues raised have the capacity [in] a classwide 15 proceeding to generate common answers apt to drive the resolution of the litigation.” Class 16 Cert. Order at 16. “To demonstrate commonality, plaintiffs must show that class members 17 have suffered the same injury.” Id. “[T]here need be only one common question to certify a 18 class.” Id. This prerequisite is readily met here. Id. at 17. This Court previously found 19 commonality was satisfied stating “[h]ere, determining whether Align provides any digestive 20 health benefit is a common question that will advance this litigation.” Id. The Sixth Circuit 21 agreed, “the district court correctly found that Plaintiffs have demonstrated that their claims 22 share a common question—whether Align is ‘snake oil’ and thus does not yield benefits to 23 anyone.” Rikos, 799 F.3d at 508-09.

24 3. Typicality

25 Rule 23(a)(3) “requires that the claims ... of the representative parties be typical of the 26 claims ... of the class.” “A proposed class representative’s claim is typical if it arises from the 27 same event or practice or course of conduct that gives rise to the claims of other class 28 members, and [the] claims are based on the same legal theory.” Class Cert. Order at 16-17.

1 “Typical does not mean identical, and the typicality requirement is liberally construed.” Id.
 2 Here, typicality is met because “Plaintiffs and the proposed [C]lass[] assert the same claims 3 that arise from the same course of conduct—Defendant’s representations about the digestive 4 health benefits of Align.” Id. at 19. This Court explained, “Defendant advertised to all that the 5 proprietary probiotic bacteria in Align provides proven digestive health benefits.... For each 6 member within the proposed [C]lass[] to recover under the claims at issue, each must prove the 7 same elements as the Plaintiffs.” Id. at 19; Rikos, 799 F.3d at 509 (“the district court did not 8 abuse its discretion in finding that the claims or defenses of the representative parties are 9 typical of the claims or defenses of the class.”).

10 4. Adequacy of Representation

11 Rule 23(a)(4) “requires the Court to determine whether the representative parties will 12 fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.” This requires “a two pronged inquiry.”
 13 Class Cert. Order at 19. The representatives must have common interests with unnamed class 14 members and must vigorously prosecute their interests through qualified counsel. Id.

15 Here, the interests of Plaintiffs and members of the Settlement Class are fully aligned 16 and there are no conflicts of interest, disabling or otherwise. Each of them purchased Align 17 and was subject to the same allegedly false advertising and suffered the same injuries. Id. at 18 20-24. Further, Plaintiffs retained qualified counsel with significant experience prosecuting 19 large consumer rights class actions, including class actions against manufacturers of digestive 20 health “probiotic” products. Id. at 24; see also Blood Decl., ¶¶45-46, Ex. 3 (BHO Resume).
 21 Any doubt on this score is dispelled by the vigorous way Plaintiffs’ Counsel litigated this case 22 for seven years. Accordingly, the adequacy requirement is met.

23 B. The Rule 23(b)(3) Requirements Are Satisfied

24 Certification is warranted under Rule 23(b)(3) because “the questions of law or fact 25 common to class members predominate over any questions affecting only individual 26 members,” and “a class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently” 27 settling the controversy. This case satisfies the predominance and superiority requirements.
 28

1 1. Common Issues of Law and Fact Predominate

2 “Predominance is a test readily met in certain cases alleging consumer or securities
3 fraud” Class Cert. Order at 25. “This requirement is satisfied when the questions common 4 to the class are at the heart of the litigation.” Id. “The predominance inquiry trains on the legal 5 or factual questions that qualify each class member’s case as a genuine controversy.” Id. at 26.
6 “[T]he fact that a defense may arise and may affect class members differently does not compel
7 a finding that individual issues predominate over common ones.” Id. “The requirement 8 demands only predominance of common questions, not exclusivity or unanimity of them.” Id.

9 “An issue central to the validity of each one of the claims in a class action, if it can be 10 resolved in one stroke, can justify class treatment.” Id. at 25-26. Thus, “[w]hen common 11 questions present a significant aspect of the case and they can be resolved for all members of 12 the class in a single adjudication, there is clear justification for handling the dispute on a 13 representative rather than on an individual basis.” Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1022.

14 This Court previously found predominance is met explaining:

15 Here, the predominating common issues shared by Plaintiffs and each class
16 member are whether Defendant represented through its advertising and labeling 17 that Align promotes digestive health and whether the advertising message is 18 truthful or not deceptive. The resolution of these questions does not rise or fall 19 on the individualized conduct of class members, but on Defendant’s conduct 20 and the objective medical science about whether Align works. These questions 21 are binary: either the advertising message was made or it was not, and the digestive health claim is either true or not. Accordingly, it is “patently true” that proof that certain representations were made and, whether made truly or falsely, [can] be established without resort to the testimony of individual class members.

22 Class Cert. Order at 26 (emphasis omitted).

23 With respect to damages the Court explained that “[c]ommon issues may predominate 24 when liability can be determined on a class-wide basis, even when there are some 25 individualized damage issues.” Id. at 30. The Court held, where, as here, “damages could be 26 measured on a classwide basis, predominance is readily met.” Id. “Align has no value other 27 than its advertised purpose. It is a capsule filled with bacteria and inert ingredients. If, as 28 alleged, the bacteria does nothing then the capsule is worthless and [P]laintiffs and the [C]lass

1 [M]embers are entitled to a return of the purchase price paid under both damage and restitution
 2 theories.” Id. (emphasis omitted). The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeal affirmed this Court’s 3 ruling holding “the district court did not abuse its discretion in determining that common 4 issues will predominate over individual issues in resolving the key merits issue of this case—
 5 whether Align promotes digestive health for anyone.” Rikos, 799 F.3d at 524. Thus, as before, 6 common issues predominate for Rule 23(b)(3) purposes.

7 2. Class Treatment Is Superior in this Case

8 Rule 23(b)(3) “sets forth the factors to determine whether a class action is superior to 9 other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.” Class Cert.
 10 Order at 36. “These factors include: (i) the class members’ interest in individually controlling 11 separate actions; (ii) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already 12 begun by or against class members; (iii) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the 13 litigation of the claims in the particular forum; and (iv) the likely difficulties in managing a 14 class action.” Id.

15 This Court previously found that Rule 23(b)(3)’s “superiority factors weigh in favor of 16 certification here” because “[t]he value of the claims of individual class members is too small 17 to justify individual litigation” and “class members are not likely to file individual actions—
 18 [where] the cost of litigation would dwarf any potential recovery.” Id. at 37. Accordingly, “[i]t
 19 is far more efficient to litigate this action in one case, rather than many [.]” Id. Here, “[t]here 20 simply is no other available method of adjudication.” Id.

21 Manageability concerns, moreover, while “by [] far, the most critical concern in 22 determining whether a class action is a superior means of adjudication,” Newberg §4:72, are 23 irrelevant in the settlement context. See Amchem, 521 U.S. at 620 (“Confronted with a request 24 for settlement-only class certification, a district court need not inquire whether the case, if 25 tried, would present intractable management problems, ... for the proposal is that there be no 26 trial.”). In particular, because the Class is proposed for settlement, manageability concerns 27 presented by variances in state law do not defeat a finding of superiority. The court in Sullivan 28 explained, “[b]ecause we are presented with a settlement class certification, we are not as

1 concerned with formulating some prediction as to how variances in state law would play out at 2 trial, for the proposal is that there be no trial. As such, we simply need not inquire whether the 3 varying state treatments of [the] claims at issue would present the type of insuperable obstacles 4 or intractable management problems pertinent to certification of a litigation class.” 667 F.3d at 5 303-04. Simply put, state law variations are largely “irrelevant to certification of a settlement 6 class.” In re Warfarin Sodium Antitrust Litig., 391 F.3d 516, 529 (3d Cir. 2004).

7 Because the class action device provides the superior means to effectively and 8 efficiently resolve this controversy, and as the other requirements of Rule 23 are each satisfied, 9 certification of the Settlement Class is appropriate.

10 VI. THE CLASS NOTICE PROGRAM SHOULD BE APPROVED

11 Class notice must meet the requirements of both Rule 23(c)(2) and 23(e). Rule 23(c)(2) 12 requires the Court to “direct to class members the best notice that is practicable under the 13 circumstances, including individual notice to all members who can be identified through 14 reasonable effort,” although actual notice is not required. Amchem, 521 U.S. at 617; Reppert v.
15 Marvin Lumber & Cedar Co., 359 F.3d 53, 56 (1st Cir. 2004); Silber v. Mabon, 18 F.3d 1449, 16 1454 (9th Cir. 1994). The best practicable notice is that which is “reasonably calculated, under 17 all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and afford 18 them an opportunity to object.” Mullane v. Cent. Hanover Bank & Trust Co., 339 U.S. 306, 19 314 (1950). Rule 23(e)(1) requires that before a proposed settlement is considered for final 20 approval, the Court “must direct notice in a reasonable manner to all class members who 21 would be bound by the proposal.”

22 The threshold requirement concerning the sufficiency of class notice is whether the 23 means employed to distribute the notice is reasonably calculated to apprise the class of the 24 pendency of the action, of the proposed settlement, and of the class members’ rights to opt out 25 or object. UAW, 497 F.3d at 629-30. “[N]otice is adequate if it may be understood by the 26 average class member.” Newberg, §11:53, at 167.

1 The Manual sets forth several elements of the “proper” content of notice. If these 2 requirements are met, notice satisfies Rules 23(c)(2) and 23(e), and due process, and binds all 3 members of the Class. The notice must:

- 4 1. Describe the essential terms of the settlement;
- 5 2. Disclose any special benefits or incentives to the class representatives;
- 6 3. Provide information regarding attorneys’ fees;
- 7 4. Indicate the time and place of the hearing to consider approval of the 8 settlement, and the method for objection to and/or opting out of the settlement;
- 9 5. Explain the procedures for allocating and distributing settlement funds; and
- 10 6. Prominently display the address of class counsel and the procedure for making 11 inquiries.

12 Manual, ¶30.212.

13 The proposed “Class Notice”, which includes the Short-Form Notice, Long-Form 14 Notice, online banner advertisements, social media advertisements, print publications in four 15 national publications, and Website Notice, satisfies these content requirements. See SA, Exs. 4 16 (Short Form Notice) and 5 (Long Form Notice); Peak Decl., Exs. 1-2 (the Class Notice 17 Program and online banner ads). The forms of Class Notice are written in simple, 18 straightforward language and include: (1) basic information about the lawsuit; (2) a description
19 of the benefits provided by the Settlement; (3) an explanation of how Settlement Class
20 Members can obtain Settlement benefits; (4) an explanation of how Settlement Class Members 21 can exercise their right to opt-out or object to the Settlement; (5) an explanation that any 22 claims against P&G that could have been litigated in this Action will be released if the 23 Settlement Class Member does not opt out from the Settlement; (6) the name of Class Counsel
24 and information regarding proposed Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses, and Plaintiffs’ incentive 25 awards; (7) the Final Approval Hearing date; (8) an explanation of eligibility for appearing at 26 the Final Approval Hearing; and (9) the Settlement Website and a toll-free number where 27 additional information can be obtained. SA, Exs. 4-5. Class Notice also informs Settlement 28 Class Members that Plaintiffs’ final approval brief and request for Attorneys’ Fees and 1 Expenses will be filed prior to the objection deadline. See In re Mercury Interactive Corp. Sec.

2 Litig., 618 F.3d 988, 993-94 (9th Cir. 2010).

3 Collectively, the forms of Class Notice provide Settlement Class Members with 4 sufficient information to make an informed and intelligent decision about the Settlement. As 5 such, the Class Notice satisfies the content requirements of Rule 23. See In re Compact Disc.
6 Minimum Advertised Price Antitrust Litig., 216 F.R.D. 197, 203 (D. Me. 2003) (“notice must 7 describe fairly, accurately and neutrally the claims and parties in the litigation ... entitled to 8 participate, including the right to exclude themselves from the class”); see also Skilstaf, Inc. v.
9 CVS Caremark Corp., 669 F.3d 1005 (9th Cir. 2012) (upheld order enforcing judgment and 10 settlement agreement in prior related action against plaintiff finding plaintiff’s due process 11 rights were not violated where plaintiff was provided full notice of the release and covenant 12 not to sue and rejected opt out opportunity).

13 Additionally, the proposed dissemination of the Class Notice satisfies all due process 14 requirements. These are small dollar, over-the-counter retail purchases, and there is no way to 15 reasonably identify individual Settlement Class Members. Because P&G does not sell Align 16 directly to consumers, it does not have mailing addresses or other contact information for the 17 members of the Settlement Class. Therefore, the Class Notice Program consists of publishing 18 the Class Notice in targeted print and online sources that direct Settlement Class Members to 19 various methods of obtaining the Claim Form. Peak Decl., ¶¶14-29.

20 Class Notice is designed to reach 80% of proposed Settlement Class Members at least 21 2.5 times. Id. at 11. This will be accomplished by publishing notice in four magazines
22 (Cooking Light, Men’s Health, People and Woman’s Day) commonly read by the target
23 audience (probiotic customers aged 25 years and older), paid placement on Top Class Actions’ 24 website and its opt-in email newsletter to over 610,000 subscribers, as well as via paid media
25 Internet banner ads widely disseminated on Facebook, Google and Yahoo, reaching over 90%
26 of Internet users with an estimated 205 million impressions. Id. at 12-21. Additionally, Class 27 Notice will be available on the Settlement Website and will be provided to Class Members 28 who request it via the toll-free number established for this Settlement. Id. at 22.

Pursuant to the Settlement Agreement, section VI.B.4, KCC will provide notice of the proposed Settlement in accordance with CAFA, 28 U.S.C. §1715(b), to appropriate state and federal government officials.

VII. CLASS REPRESENTATIVES AND CLASS COUNSEL SHOULD BE APPOINTED

The Parties also request that the Court reaffirm designation of Plaintiffs Dino Rikos, Tracey Burns, and Leo Jarzembowski as Class Representatives for the Settlement Class. The Court previously appointed each as representatives of the Class. Class Cert. Order at 19-24.

Additionally, Rule 23(g)(1) requires the Court to appoint class counsel to represent the interests of the Class. The Parties request that Timothy G. Blood's appointment as Class Counsel be reaffirmed and that Thomas J. O'Reardon, II also be appointed Class Counsel for the Settlement Class. Class Cert. Order at 25. As set forth above, Mr. Blood and Mr. O'Reardon and their law firm Blood, Hurst & O'Reardon, LLP are experienced and well equipped to vigorously, competently and efficiently represent the proposed Settlement Class. Mr. O'Reardon, along with Mr. Blood, have litigated this matter from the start. Blood Decl., ¶¶45-46, Ex. 3.

VIII. THE PROPOSED SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

The key Settlement-related dates, such as the time to disseminate Class Notice or to opt-out or object, are based on when preliminary approval of the Settlement is granted, and when the Final Approval Hearing is scheduled. The Settlement-related dates calculated in accordance with the provisions of the Settlement are:

DATE	EVENT
Dissemination of Class Notice	Within 30 calendar days from entry of the Preliminary Approval Order
Briefs in support of final approval and for award of attorneys' fees	No later than 45 days prior to the Final Approval Hearing
Deadlines for objections, opt-outs, and notices to appear	30 days before date first set by Court for Final Approval Hearing
Briefs in response to objections and in further support of final approval and attorneys' fees	No later than 7 days prior to the Final Approval Hearing
First day Final Approval Hearing can be set	No earlier than 105 days after entry of Preliminary Approval Order

1 Accordingly, the Parties request that the Court schedule the Final Approval Hearing 2 one hundred five (105) days after entry of its order granting preliminary approval, or as soon
3 thereafter as the Court's schedule permits.

4 IX. CONCLUSION

5 For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Motion for 6 Preliminary Approval be granted and the Court enter an order: (i) granting preliminary 7 approval of the proposed class action Settlement Agreement; (ii) certifying the Settlement
8 Class; (iii) appointing Plaintiffs Dino Rikos, Tracey Burns, and Leo Jarzembowski as Class
9 Representatives; (iv) appointing Timothy G. Blood and Thomas J. O'Reardon II as Class
10 Counsel; (v) approving the Class Notice Program; (vi) appointing KCC LLC as the Settlement 11 Administrator; and (vii) scheduling a Final Approval Hearing;

12 Respectfully Submitted,
