1 TO THE COURT AND TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR RESPECTIVE ATTORNEYS
2 OF RECORD:

3 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on February 29, 2016, at 8:30 a.m. or as soon thereafter as the 4 matter may be heard in department 5, the Courtroom of the Honorable Craig G. Riemer, Superior 5 Court for the County of Riverside, Plaintiff Stephen Colucci ("Plaintiff") will and hereby does move 6 the Court for an Order finally approving the class action settlement in this case.

7 This motion is made on the grounds that the proposed settlement is fair, adequate, and 8 reasonable; that the Notice Plan complied with applicable legal standards; and that the Class continues 9 to satisfy the requirements of class certification.

10 This motion is based upon this Notice of Motion and Motion for Final Approval of Class 11 Action Settlement, the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the declarations filed in 12 support thereof, the pleadings and papers on file in this action, and such additional evidence or 13 argument as may be accepted by the Court at or prior to the hearing on this motion.

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 Defendant Private Label Nutraceuticals LLC dba MaritzMayer Laboratories (“Private Label”)
4 is the manufacturer and distributor of over-the-counter drug called diet pills called Garcinia Cambogia
5 1300 and Garcinia Cambogia 75 (“Diet Pills”). Second Amended Complaint (“SAC”) ¶ 1. The Diet
6 Pills are labeled and advertised as weight loss pills for (1) weight management, (2) appetite control, 7 and (3) the inhibition of fat production. Id. On November 26, 2014, Plaintiff Stephen Colucci 8 (“Plaintiff”) filed this class action lawsuit against Private Label, alleging that it falsely advertised the 9 Diet Pills as miracle pills that have the ability to cause the user to lose weight without diet 10 modification or exercise. SAC ¶¶ 11, 12. Plaintiff brought causes of action on behalf of himself and 11 a putative class of purchasers of the Diet Pills for: (1) violation of the California Consumers Legal 12 Remedies Act, Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1770 et seq. (“CLRA”); (2) violation of the California Unfair 13 Competition Law, Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200 et seq. (“UCL”) and False Advertising Law, Cal.
14 Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17500 et seq. (“FAL”); (3) negligent misrepresentation; and (4) fraud. SAC ¶¶ 15 26-72.

16 In the months following the filing of his Complaint, Plaintiff, through his counsel, conducted 17 both formal and informal discovery. Declaration of Ryan M. Ferrell Decl. (“Ferrell Decl.”), ¶ 12.
18 Plaintiff intended to file his Motion for Class Certification sometime in the late spring or summer of 19 2015. Ferrell Decl., ¶ 12. As such and Pursuant to the Court’s Case Management Order A(8), prior to 20 the filing of Plaintiff’s Motion for Class Certification, Plaintiff and Defendant conducted mediation in 21 front of the Hon. Leo Papas (Ret.) of Judicate West. Ferrell Decl., ¶ 7. After extensive negotiation and 22 mediation, the Parties reached the Settlement Agreement. Exhibit 1 to Declaration of Ryan M. Ferrell 23 (“R. Ferrell Decl.”).

24 The Court granted preliminary approval of the Settlement Agreement on November 5, 2015.
25 Ferrell Decl. ¶ 11. Through this motion, Plaintiff now moves the Court to take the final step in 26 approving the settlement in this case, by holding a fairness hearing and granting final approval of the 27 Settlement Agreement.

28 The Settlement Agreement is fair, adequate, and reasonable, and should be finally approved.

1 As an initial matter, “a presumption of fairness exists where: (1) the settlement is reached through 2 arm's-length bargaining; (2) investigation and discovery are sufficient to allow counsel and the court
3 to act intelligently; (3) counsel is experienced in similar litigation; and (4) the percentage of objectors 4 is small.” Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 128 (2008) citing Dunk v. Ford 5 Motor Co., 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1802 (1996).

6 Furthermore, the settlement provides complete relief to all Class Members who made a valid 7 claim, in the form of a refund in one of two amounts based upon the Class Member’s level of proof for 8 purchasing the Diet Pills. Class Members with a receipt will receive a full refund of their purchase 9 price, and those with no proof of purchase but who swear or affirm that they purchased the Diet Pills 10 during the Class Period will receive $3.00 per purchase, with a cap of 9.00 per household.¹ Second, 11 with respect to injunctive relief, the Settlement Agreement requires Private Label to make changes to 12 the label of Diet Pills; it must add a disclaimer which states: “Caloric intake restriction and exercise 13 required to obtain desired results. Results may vary.” This labeling will also be included on any 14 advertising that depicts the labeling of 1300 and/or 75. This injunctive is of utmost importance when 15 viewed against the Complaint in this matter. Plaintiff complained that the Diet Pills were advertised 16 as miracle pills that have the ability to cause the user to lose weight without diet modification or 17 exercise. SAC ¶¶ 11, 12. This disclaimer removes any confusion as to the Diet Pills being miracle 18 pills. Further, it falls in line with the guidelines of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”) 19 which has state, “[t]he only proven way to lose weight is either to reduce the number of calories you 20 eat or to increace the number of calories you burn off through exercise. Most experts recommend a 21 combination of both.”²

22 In light of the factors courts must weigh when evaluating the fairness of a settlement, see 23 Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 128 (2008) (“The well-recognized factors 24 that the trial court should consider in evaluating the reasonableness of a class action settlement 25

26 ¹ The $3.00 per bottle amount was negotiated with an eye towards information received in discovery.
27 In discovery, Plaintiff was able to ascertain that the average sales price of a bottle of 1300 or 75 was 28 $2.16, with an average range of $2.00 to $4.00. In looking at the average price of $2.12, even those Class Member without a receipt are receiving a full refund on average.

² The Facts about Weight Loss Products and Programs, FDA/FTC/NAAG Brochure available at http://www.attorneygeneral.gov/uploadedfiles/consumers/weight_loss.pdf

1 agreement include “the strength of plaintiffs’ case, the risk, expense, complexity and likely duration of 2 further litigation, the risk of maintaining class action status through trial, the amount offered in 3 settlement, the extent of discovery completed and stage of the proceedings, the experience and views 4 of counsel, the presence of a governmental participant, and the reaction of the class members to the 5 proposed settlement.”), it is evident that final approval of the Settlement Agreement is warranted.

6 The Class Notice Plan in this case constituted the best notice that is practicable under the 7 circumstances. Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts, 472 U.S. 797, 812 (1985); Martorana v. Marlin & 8 Saltzman, 175 Cal. App. 4th 685, 694-95 (2009). Defendant had the contact information for 9 approximately 200 Class Members and those Class Members received direct notice of the Settlement.
10 Ferrell Decl. ¶ 15. However, the Class is larger than 200, so further notice was required. As such, the 11 notice plan involved notice by publication via print and Internet, including publication in several 12 widely circulated California newspapers and information on a Case Website and toll-free telephone 13 number. The Notice Plan complied and continues to comply with the plan that was originally 14 approved by the Court and disseminated to the Class following class certification and satisfied all 15 applicable legal standards.³

16 Finally, the Court has already preliminarily certified the Class in this case, which is defined as:
17 All persons who are domiciled or reside in the United States of America, who purchased 1300 or 75 in 18 the United States for personal use between November 26, 2010 and the Opt-Out Date, and were 19 domiciled or resided in United States at the time of purchase. See SAC ¶ 18. Plaintiff requests that the 20 Court grant final approval on behalf of the above Class, which continues to meet all of the 21 requirements of class certification.

22 II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

23 Plaintiff originally filed this class action lawsuit in the Superior Court for the County of 24

25 ³ As the claims process is still in progress (all claims had to be postmarked by January 29, 2016), the 26 Parties will submit statements affirming that the Notice Plan was fully and completely implemented 27 and updating the Court as to the statistics of the claims, exclusions, and objections. To date, there 28 have been 919 Class Member claims, 2 objections, and 1 exclusion. Plaintiff intends to give the Court a reasoned response to both objections in a separate filing on or before February 19, 2016, pursuant to the Preliminary Approval Order. Preliminarily the Court should be aware that one objection was based on the premise that the Settlement should have been a common-fund settlement as opposed to a claims-made settlement and the other objector simply wanted more money for his purchase.

1 Riverside on November 24, 2014. The crux of Plaintiff's complaint was that Private Label falsely
2 advertised its Diet Pills as miracle pills with the ability to cause the user to lose weight without a 3 change in diet and/or exercise. SAC ¶¶ 1, 11-17. Plaintiff alleged that Private Label's claims of 4 efficacy for the Diet Pills were false and misleading because weight loss without a reduction of daily 5 caloric intake and/or an increase in exercise is not possible. Id. ¶ 12.

6 The Settlement Agreement reached was the result of arm's length negotiations by the Parties to 7 compromise their disputed claims. See Ferrell Decl., ¶ 7. The Parties participated in an all-day 8 mediation in front of the Honorable Leo Papas (Ret.) on May 14, 2015. See id., ¶ 7. As part of the 9 mediation, Plaintiff submitted a robust mediation brief analyzing the facts and issues in this case. See 10 id., ¶ 6. As a result of this mediation and other negotiations, the Parties reached the Settlement. See id., 11 ¶¶ 7-8.

12 As part of the settlement in principle and pursuant to California Consumers Legal Remedies 13 Act, Civil Code § 1782(d), Plaintiff agreed to and did amend his Complaint. The SAC expanded the 14 class definition to include Class Members that purchased a nearly identical diet pill called Garcinia 15 Cambogia 75, that has the same advertising claims and the same ingredients. SAC ¶ 1. With a 16 settlement in principle, the Parties then worked extensively on and produced the finalized Settlement 17 Agreement and Notice Plan. Exhibit 1 to Ferrell Decl. In addition to the refunds to Class Members 18 described above and in further detail herein, the Settlement Agreement provides that Plaintiff may 19 make an application to the Court for an incentive award of up to $5,000 for his service as the class 20 representative and attorneys' fees and costs not to exceed $200,000.⁴ Settlement Agreement, § 9.1.
21 These amounts were agreed to and negotiated only after the parties reached a final agreement on the 22 substantive relief to the Class. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 9. Prior to this mediation, both Parties had served 23 extensive written discovery. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 12.

24 III. TERMS OF THE SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

25 The Settlement Agreement provides comprehensive relief to the Class. It establishes a claims-26 made settlement, in which all Class Members who submit a valid claim will receive a refund. It also

27 ⁴ The Settlement Agreement's provisions regarding attorneys' fees, costs, and the class representative 28 incentive award are detailed in Plaintiff's Motion for Attorneys' Fees, Costs, and Incentive Award and Plaintiff's Reply in support of Plaintiff's Motion for Attorneys' Fees, Costs, and Incentive Award.

1 provides injunctive relief in the form of modifications to the Diet Pills' labeling. The material terms of 2 the Settlement Agreement are set forth below.

3 A. Class Member Relief

4 1. Monetary Relief

5 The Settlement Agreement calls for Private Label to provide a refund to all Class Members 6 who submit a valid Claim Form within the Claim-In Period. The refund will be in one of two amounts, 7 determined as follows: (1) any Claimant who provides a receipt for his or her purchase of Diet Pills 8 will receive a full refund of the amount shown on the receipt for up to 5 bottles of the Diet Pills⁵ and 9 (2) any Claimant who did not provide a proof of purchase but who swore or affirmed that he or she 10 purchased the Diet Pills during the Class Period will receive a refund of $3.00 per purchase, with a cap 11 of $9.00 per household.⁶ Settlement Agreement § 4.2.3.

12 2. Injunctive Relief

13 The Settlement Agreement also provides injunctive relief to the Class by requiring Private 14 Label to make changes to the Diet Pills' labeling. Private Label will place a new Disclaimer on the 15 Diet Pills label, which will read: "Caloric intake restriction and exercise required to obtain desired 16 results. Results may vary." This labeling will also be included on any advertising that depicts the 17 labeling of 1300 and/or 75. Id. § 4.1.2. This disclaimer is important because the entirety of Plaintiff's 18 allegations is premised on the idea that Private Label misled consumers by advertising Diet Pills as 19 miracle pills that worked without a change to diet and/or exercise. SAC. ¶¶ 1; 11-17. The disclaimer 20 will appear on the outer package panel of Diet Pills in a font size no smaller than the smallest font 21 used elsewhere on the package, in a readable color. Settlement Agreement, § 4.1.2.1.

22 B. Narrowly Tailored Release

23 The Settlement Agreement contains a narrowly tailored Class Member release that is 24 specifically limited to the claims arising out of or relating to the SAC, between November 24, 2010
25 and the Opt-Out Date. Id. § 6.1. Significantly, the release specifically excludes claims for personal

26 _____
27 ⁵ An upper limit of 5 bottles was decided upon based on the idea that more than 5 bottles purchased 28 signified a purchase for use other than personal.

⁶ This represents a significant amount considering that the sale price of Diet Pills averages approximately $2.16. Ferrell Decl. ¶ *.

1 injury. Id.

2 The release comports with the applicable law, which holds that a class action lawsuit may 3 release all claims “that may arise out of the transactions or events pleaded in the complaint.” Conte & 4 Newberg, 4 Newberg on Class Actions (“Newberg”), § 12:15 (4th ed. 2010); Nat’l Super Spuds v.
5 New York Mercantile Exchange, 660 F.2d 9, 16-18 (2d Cir. 1981).

6 C. Claims Administration and Class Notice

7 The Settlement Agreement required Private Label to pay all costs and expenses of 8 administering the settlement and providing Notice to the Class. Settlement Agreement § 5.1. As 9 provided in the Settlement Agreement, and as approved by the Court, the claims administration and 10 notice were handled by Class Action Administrators (“CAA”), an independent settlement 11 administrator that has expertise in administering class claims. See Preliminary Approval Order. The 12 Class Notice Plan involved notice by publication, primarily in newspapers and via the Internet. The 13 specifics regarding the Notice Plan are set forth in detail in Section V below.

14 IV. FINAL APPROVAL OF THE SETTLEMENT IS APPROPRIATE

15 A. Standard for Class Action Settlement Approval

16 The law favors the compromise and settlement of class action lawsuits. See, e.g., Dunk v. Ford
17 Motor Co., 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801 (1996) citing Officers for Justice v. Civil Service Comm., 688 18 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982) (“Due regard should be given to what is otherwise a private consensual 19 agreement between the parties. The inquiry “must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a 20 reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion 21 between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable and 22 adequate to all concerned. Ultimately, the [trial] court's determination is nothing more than ‘an 23 amalgam of delicate balancing, gross approximations and rough justice.’”)

24 Indeed, “there is an overriding public interest in settling and quieting litigation” and this is 25 “particularly true in class action suits.” Van Bronkhorst v. Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir.
26 1976). The decision to approve or reject a settlement is committed to the sound discretion of the trial 27 court because it “is exposed to the litigants and their strategies, positions and proof.” Hanlon v.
28 Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (9th Cir. 1998). However, in exercising such discretion, the trial

1 court should give “proper deference to the private consensual decision of the parties. . . [T]he court’s 2 intrusion upon what is otherwise a private consensual agreement . . . must be limited to the extent 3 necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching 4 by, or collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, 5 reasonable and adequate to all concerned.” Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1027.

6 B. The Settlement Was Not Procured by Fraud, Overreaching, or Collusion and Is 7 Therefore Entitled to a Presumption of Fairness

8 Before approving a class action settlement, the trial court must be satisfied that the agreement
9 is not the product of fraud, overreaching, or collusion. Where a settlement is reached following arm’s-10 length negotiations, it is presumed to be fair. Newberg, § 11.41 (4th ed. 2011); Dunk v. Ford Motor 11 Co., 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801 (1996).

12 As stated above, the settlement here was reached after significant and extensive negotiation, 13 including a full day of mediation in front of an experienced retired federal judge. See Declaration of 14 Hon. Leo S. Papas (Ret.). Plaintiff already had an eye towards his Motion for Class Certification, 15 including experts, and had prepared extensive written discovery. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 12. The parties did 16 not negotiate attorneys’ fees and costs until after an agreement on the relief to the Class was reached.
17 Id. ¶ 9. Therefore, the proposed Settlement Agreement is informed by Plaintiff thorough investigation, 18 discovery efforts, and prepared motion practice. It was not the product of fraud, overreaching, or 19 collusion by the negotiating parties, and as a result, is presumptively fair.

20 C. The Settlement Is Fair, Adequate, and Reasonable

21 The Court is required to determine that a proposed class action settlement is fair, adequate, and 22 reasonable. In making this determination, the court must weigh a number of factors, including:

- 23
24 (1) the strength of the plaintiff’s case; (2) the risk, expense, complexity, 25 and likely duration of further litigation; (3) the risk of maintaining class 26 action status throughout the trial; (4) the amount offered in settlement; (5) 27 the stage of the proceedings; (6) the experience and views of counsel; (7) the presence of a governmental participant; and (8) the reaction of the class members to the proposed settlement.

28 Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 128 (2008) citing Dunk v. Ford Motor Co.,

1 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1802 (1996). Consideration of these factors supports final approval of the 2 settlement in this case.

3 1. Strength of Plaintiff's Case

4 While Plaintiff's counsel has been able to defeat motions for judgment on the pleadings and 5 obtain class certification in similar class actions⁷, there was no guarantee that Plaintiff would prevail 6 on the merits of his claims. In fact, Plaintiff expected that Private Label would raise issues regarding 7 Plaintiff's standing to continue this litigation based on the court's holding in Delarosa v. Boiron, Case
8 No. 10-cv-1569-CBO (CWx), 2012 WL 8716658 at *5 (C.D. Cal., Dec. 28, 2012), that plaintiff lacked 9 standing to seek injunctive relief.

10 In order to prevail on his CLRA, UCL, and FAL claims, Plaintiff would have to demonstrate 11 that Private Label's advertising of Diet Pills was likely to mislead a reasonable consumer. See 12 Williams v. Gerber Prods. Co., 552 F.3d 934, 938 (9th Cir. 2008). Claims under these consumer 13 protection statutes are all governed by the "reasonable consumer" test, which requires plaintiffs to 14 prove that members of the public are likely to be deceived. Id.; see also Colgan v. Leatherman Tool
15 Group, Inc., 135 Cal.App.4th 663, 679-80 (2006). Plaintiff's argument in this case was that Private 16 Label's advertising of Diet Pills was likely to mislead members of the public because it promised 17 weight loss without restricting caloric intake and/or increasing exercise activity. The basis for 18 Plaintiff's argument is grounded in the same argument made by the FDA.⁸ Defendant would likely 19 counter at trial that Plaintiff's claim was a "lack of substantiation" argument, which has been found 20 insufficient under California consumer protection law. See, e.g., Chavez v. Nestle USA, Inc., No. CV 21 09-9192, 2011 WL 2150128, at *5-6 (C.D. Cal. May 19, 2011); Fraker v. Bayer Corp., No. CV F 08-both."

1 1564, 2009 WL 5865678, at *8-9 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 6, 2009). It would also be expected that Private 2 Label would maintain that its representations of the efficacy of the Diet Pills were true. In fact,
3 Defendant recently cited to “The Use of Garcinia Extract Hydroxycitric Acid as a Weight Loss 4 Supplement: A Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis of Randomized Clinical Trials” as support for 5 the efficacy of the Diet Pills. See Exhibit A to the Declaration of Sean Gaffney in support of 6 Defendant’s Opposition to Plaintiff’s Motion for Attorneys’ Fees, Costs, and Representative Award ¶ 7 2. These would be highly contentious issues involving intensive expert discovery and testing, and 8 there is no way to predict which way a jury would find.

9 Because the UCL claim sounds in fraud⁹, in order to prevail on his UCL claim, Plaintiff would 10 have to establish all five elements of fraud: (1) misrepresentation; (2) knowledge of falsity; (3) intent 11 to defraud, i.e., to induce reliance; (4) justifiable reliance; and (5) resulting damage. Lazar v. Superior
12 Court, 12 Cal.4th 631, 638 (1996). This is also true of Plaintiff’s CLRA claim. Nelson v. Pearson
13 Ford Co., 112 Cal. Rptr. 3d 607, 638 (Ct. App. 20120). Particularly noteworthy here are the second 14 and third elements of knowledge of falsity and intent to deceive, which are additional requirements 15 that go beyond what is necessary to prove a false advertising claim. Private Label would certainly 16 argue at trial that even if its advertising of the Diet Pills was found “likely to mislead a reasonable 17 consumer,” it had no knowledge of falsity or intent to deceive. There is no guarantee that Plaintiff 18 would prevail.

19 2. Risk and Expense of Further Litigation

20 In light of the relative strength of Plaintiff’s claims and Private Label’s defenses, Plaintiff 21 faced the risk of obtaining nothing if he continued to pursue this litigation. Moreover, continuing to 22 litigate this case would prove to be costly for both parties. The parties, their counsel, and their experts 23 would have to spend considerable time and resources preparing and arguing various motions, 24 conducting discovery, and preparing for trial. Plaintiff, especially, would have to conduct scientific 25 testing and analysis and present significant expert testimony regarding the efficacy of the Diet Pills. In 26 recognition of these potential risks and costs, the parties engaged in active settlement talks before they 27 entered into the Settlement Agreement. Through informed, arm’s-length negotiations, the parties

28 ⁹ Kwikset Corp. v. Superior Court, 246 P.3d 877, 888 (Cal. 2011).

1 decided to reach a compromise rather than continue the litigation.

2 3. Amount Offered in Settlement

3 “The most important factor is the strength of the case for plaintiffs on the merits, balanced 4 against the amount offered in settlement.” Kullar v. Foot Locker Retail, Inc., 168 Cal.App.4th 116, 5 128 (2008) citing City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp. 495 F.2d 448, 455 (2d Cir.1974), overruled on 6 other grounds, as recognized by Chambless v. Masters, Mates & Pilots Pension Plan, 885 F.2d 1053, 7 1058 (2d Cir.1989). As detailed below, Plaintiff was able to get 100% refunds for those Class 8 Members that provided a receipt, and Plaintiff was able to get effectively 100% refunds for those 9 Class Members that did not provide a receipt.¹⁰

10 The Settlement Agreement provides substantial relief for the Class that gives Class Members 11 multiple avenues to financial recovery and relief moving forward in perpetuity. Jessica Vega, an 12 employee of Defendant submitted a declaration that stated that approximately 475,000 units of the 13 Diet Pills were sold during the Class Period. Declaration of Jessica Vega in support of Motion for 14 Preliminary Approval ¶ 8. Private Label agreed to pay a refund for these purchases to every Class 15 Member who made a valid claim within the Claim-In Period. Id. § 4.2.1. Class Members could receive 16 a refund in a variety of ways, if they provided a receipt of their purchase of the Diet Pills, or if they 17 swore or affirmed that they purchased the Diet Pills during the Class Period. Id. § 4.2.3. The amounts 18 to be paid out to Class Members would not be diminished by any attorneys’ fees, costs, or incentive 19 award, since these would all be paid separately from the relief to the Class. Id. § 9.2. In addition, 20 Private Label agreed to provide injunctive relief in the form of changes to the Diet Pills’ labeling.
21 Settlement Agreement § 4.1. This is significant accomplishment since the Court in Delarosa found 22 that the plaintiff lacked standing to seek injunctive relief on behalf of herself and the Class. Delarosa
23 v. Boiron, Case No. 10-cv-1569-CBO (CWx), 2012 WL 8716658 at *5 (C.D. Cal., Dec. 28, 2012).
24 Private Label also agreed to pay all costs and expenses associated with administering the settlement

25 ¹⁰ Class Members who did not submit a receipt were able to get refunds of $3.00 per bottle with a limit 26 of three bottles. The $3.00 per bottle amount was negotiated with an eye towards information received 27 in discovery. In discovery, Plaintiff was able to ascertain that the average sales price of a bottle of 28 1300 or 75 was $2.16, with an average range of $2.00 to $4.00. In looking at the average price of $2.12, even those Class Member without a receipt are receiving a full refund on average. Ferrell Decl.
¶ 14.

1 and providing Notice to the Class. Settlement Agreement § 5.1. As of the date of this filing, these 2 amounts were estimated to total approximately $65,000 and will be further detailed in the forthcoming
3 declaration from Class Action Administration once all of the claims are received and processed.
4 When viewed in light of the risks and costs of further litigation, these benefits constitute an 5 exceptional result for the Class.

6 4. Stage of Proceedings

7 Before entering into the Settlement Agreement, the parties were prepared to proceed with a 8 contested class certification motion; Plaintiff had already retained experts and had propounded 9 extensive written discovery necessary for the class certification motion. Ferrell Decl ¶¶ 12-13. The 10 litigation to that point had already included two Motions to Strike and one Amended Complaint.
11 While the settlement came relatively early in the litigation, it was an informed settlement as evidenced 12 by Plaintiff's propounded written discovery¹¹ and a 10 hour mediation session. Ferrell Decl. ¶¶ 7, 12.

13 As with any litigation, there are risks associated with continuing litigation and trial. Further, 14 there is the element of the time value of money, that a dollar received today is worth more than a 15 dollar received in the future. It is unknown how long it would have taken for this matter to get to trial 16 and then potentially through subsequent appeals. Regardless, Plaintiff's counsel is confident in the 17 merits of the case. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 16. However, disregarding the attendant risks and the time factor, 18 as shown above, the settlement achieves nearly, if not everything, that Plaintiff and the Class could 19 receive after a successful trial.

20 5. Experience and Views of Counsel

21 When counsel who recommend approval of a settlement are competent and experienced, their 22 opinion should be given significant weight. See Kirkorian v. Borelli, 695 F.Supp. 446, 451 (N.D. Cal.
23 1988). In the instant case, the Class was represented by counsel with years of experience in class 24 action litigation and who have entered into numerous substantial and similar settlements.¹²

25 ¹¹ Plaintiff had propounded written discovery pursuant to the Court's Case Management Order. That 26 discovery was extensive and sufficient enough that Plaintiff would have been able to subsequently 27 filed a Motion for Class Certification had the mediation not produced a settlement. Further, that 28 discovery was sufficient enough to provide Plaintiff with all of the information necessary to enter into a reasonable and measured settlement. Ferrell Decl. ¶ *.

¹² Plaintiff's counsels' experience was extensively detailed in Plaintiff's Motion for Attorneys' Fees, Costs, and Representative Award. As such, those qualifications will not be repeated here.

1 Newport Trial Group (“NTG”) has put forth time, resources, and experience in representing 2 Plaintiff and the Class, and continues to be well-qualified and adequate to serve as Class Counsel.¹³
3 Class Counsel entered into the Settlement Agreement only after conducting a thorough investigation
4 into the factual and legal issues raised in this case and after discovery and mediation. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 7, 5 12, 17. Based upon their experience in similar class action cases, Class Counsel views the Settlement 6 Agreement favorably. Id.

7 6. Reaction of Class Members to the Proposed Settlement

8 A court may appropriately infer that a class action settlement is fair, adequate, and reasonable 9 when few class members object to it. See 7-Eleven Owners for Fair Franchising v. Southland Corp., 10 85 Cal.App.4th 1135, 1153 (2000) citing Dunk v. Ford Motor Co., 48 Cal.App.4th 1794, 1801 (1996).
11 Despite the fact that the claims are still being recorded by CAA, over 900 Class Members have made 12 claims thus far. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 18. The current claims can be compared to only one Class Member 13 requesting exclusion and two objecting to the Settlement. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 19. Plaintiff will respond to 14 both objections pursuant to the Preliminary Approval Order; however, it should be noted that the 15 objections represent one class member who simply wants more money for his claim and one class 16 member, a serial objector, who believes that the Settlement should not be approved because it is not a 17 common-fund settlement.

18 The Court can see that there have been over 900 claims made and of those claims 19 approximately .1% have requested exclusion and approximately .2% have objected. The response has 20 been overwhelmingly positive and warrants the Court’s inference that the Settlement is fair and should 21 be finally approved.¹³

22 V. THE NOTICE PLAN COMPLIED WITH APPLICABLE LEGAL STANDARDS

23 To satisfy due process, notice to class members must be the “best practicable reasonably 24 calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested parties of the pendency of the action and 25 afford them an opportunity to present their objections.” Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts, 472 U.S.
26 797, 812 (1985); Martorana v. Marlin & Saltzman, 175 Cal. App. 4th 685, 694-95 (2009). Where the 27 ¹³ Because the claims are still being processed, the Claims Administrator will submit a declaration 28 regarding the specific details of compliance and the numbers of specific claims with Defendant’s Response and/or Plaintiff’s Reply to this Motion.

1 identity of specific class members is not reasonably available, notice by publication is an acceptable
2 method of providing notice. See In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F.Supp.2d 1078, 1080 (N.D.
3 Cal. 2007) (citing Manual for Complex Litigation § 21.311 (4th ed. 2004)); Cal. Civ. Code § 1781
4 (authorizing notice by publication under the CLRA “if personal notification is unreasonably expensive
5 or it appears that all members of the class cannot be notified personally”). Here, Private Label did not 6 directly sell Diet Pills to Class Members, so it did not possess contact information for all but 7 approximately 200 Class Members.¹⁴ Ferrell Decl. ¶ 15. Because the majority of Class Members’ 8 identities were not known, the Class Notice Plan featured notice by publication, utilizing the dual 9 platforms of print and Internet.

10 Notice of the Settlement was published in the Riverside Press Enterprise on November 24, 11 2015; December 1, 2015; December 8, 2015; and December 15, 2015. See Exhibits B-E to Ferrell 12 Decl. (true and correct copies of the published notices). Notice of the Settlement was published in the 13 USA Today Los Angeles Regional Edition on November 23, 2015. See Exhibit F to Ferrell Decl. (a 14 true and correct copy of the published notice). Notice of the Settlement was published in the USA 15 Today San Francisco Regional Edition on November 23, 2015. See Exhibit G to Ferrell Decl. (a true 16 and correct copy of the published notice). Notice of the Settlement was published in the USA Today 17 National Edition on November 25, 2015. See Exhibit H to Ferrell Decl. (a true and correct copy of the 18 published notice). Not only did these published notices comply with California Civil Code § 1781(d)
19 and Government Code § 6064, which require publication four times in a newspaper of general
20 circulation where the underlying transaction occurred, but Plaintiff was able to gain the concession 21 into the settlement to also publish the notice in newspapers of much greater circulation in California 22 and nationwide.

23 Notice of the Settlement was also available via a dedicated website and a dedicated toll-free 24 number. In addition to these methods of notification, Plaintiff’s counsel fielded approximately two-25 dozen phone calls from Class Members with questions concerning the Settlement. Ferrell Decl. ¶ 20.

26 Considering the above, Class Counsel submits that the Notice Plan in this case was more than 27 adequate, complied with applicable legal standards, and went beyond the requirements of applicable

28 ¹⁴ Those Class Members were sent Notice Packets via first class mail. Settlement Agreement § 5.4.2.

1 legal standards.

2 VI. THE COURT HAS ALREADY CLEARLY WEIGHED IN ON THE SETTLEMENT
3 CLASS IN THE PRELIMINARY APPROVAL ORDER

4 On November 5, 2015, the Court granted Preliminary Approval of Class Action Settlement.
5 Ferrell Decl. ¶ 11. The Court did a detailed review of the then proposed settlement and there were 6 numerous edits and additions made. (The Court held four Preliminary Approval hearings.) The Court 7 preliminarily approved the Settlement because the Settlement more than satisfied the elements and 8 requirements of a fair and reasonable class action settlement. All of the elements of class certification 9 in this case remain satisfied, and Plaintiff requests that final approval be granted on behalf of the 10 above Class.

11 VII. CONCLUSION

12 For all of the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court grant Plaintiff's 13 Motion for Final Approval.
