

Special relationships start with new ideas.

New ideas are infectious; they have a habit of translating over continents, across markets and social networks in a powerful way. At Thoburns we recognize the potential they have to influence and create goodwill.

We like to harness that for the audiences that matter to our clients. These could be governments, financial communities, lobbyists, journalists and whoever you need to influence. We go beyond PR and advertising and take a new approach to communications.

We bring an open mind and create new alliances and more than a little fun on the way. Why not call Pepper Sells on +44 207 250 7000, or email p.sells@thoburns.com, and see if we can create some new ideas and some special relationships of our own.
