A natural leather designed on carefully selected hides that showcase the inherent features of full grain leather. A combination of chrome and vegetable tanning along with wax and oil finishing provide a smooth round hand with a cool surface feel as well as a vibrant pull up effect.

- Leather is a natural product and no two hides are alike. Distinct characteristics are a result of environmental factors and should not be considered defects. These include, but are not limited to healed scars, natural wrinkles, bite and scrape marks, and color variations.

Tanned in Thailand on European raw material, this leather features an innovative staining process that uses waxes instead of aniline dyes to achieve a naturally worn-in aesthetic. These waxes are meticulously applied by hand in layers to impart the leather with a more authentically aged appearance.
