What is Tally? Overcome credit card debt with Tally. The world's first automated debt manager that makes it easy to save money, manage your credit cards and pay down balances faster.

How does Givling earn a commission from Tally? Click the link (very important!) and follow the prompts to set up an account.

Tally is free to download, and they don't charge any fees to use the app. In order to get the benefits of Tally, you will need to qualify for and get a Tally credit line. Depending on your credit history, your APR (which is the same as your interest rate) will be between 7.9% - 19.9% per year. And similar to credit card APRs, it will vary with the market based on the Prime Rate. (This information is accurate as of June 2018). You typically need a FICO of 660+ to qualify.

Tally makes money by charging interest on the amount you borrow from them. They only make money if they can save you money, and that's it. There's no annual fee, no origination fee, no prepayment fee, no balance transfer fee, no late fee, no over-limit fee, nada. Like you, they hate hidden fees.

Note: Tally is now available on both Android and iOS and Tally is currently available in the following states: California, Texas, Florida, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, New Jersey, Washington, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Colorado, Minnesota, Utah, Arkansas. And they are adding new states on a regular basis.

Reward: When you complete the registration process and are approved from Tally, send a screenshot to rewards@givling.com along with your Givling customer number. You'll earn a one-time bonus of 75,000 Queue Points and Givling will be funded.
