About the product

- THIRD PARTY TESTED AND MADE IN THE USA – Our Pterostilbene capsules are third party tested and manufactured right here in the USA
- POTENT ANTIOXIDANT – Experiments suggest that Pterostilbene acts as a potent antioxidant by binding to PPAR receptors and stimulating the production of the compound.
- SUPPORTS BRAIN CELL HEALTH – Multiple studies have demonstrated that Pterostilbene supports motor function and cognitive abilities in adults suffering from memory change:
- PROMOTES LONGEVITY – In vitro and in vivo studies support trans-pterostilbene's therapeutic effects on cognitive health, and normal blood sugar. It also promotes the release of adiponectin which promotes healing.

Product description

Pterostilbene is a powerful antioxidant produced by plants in response to stress. It binds to PPAR receptors to stimulate PPAR products. Studies have shown it promotes normal blood sugar, normal triglyceride levels, support cognitive function, promotes healthy brain cells, and promotes the release of adiponectin which is the basis for its ability to promote healing. Many people use Pterostilbene in conjunction with NMN (Nicotinamide Mononucleotide) or Nicotinamide Riboside (NAD). Double Wood Supplement's Pterostilbene 100 mg capsules are manufactured right here in New York city and sent to Health Level One for third party testing.

Great Pterostilbene Product

June 4, 2018

Verified Purchase

Like many, before I decide adding a supplement to my diet, I first look into all the available research I can find, and if it has promise, then I add it to my diet. What I don't do, is wait for completely settled science, because that often takes years and I don't have years to wait to find out if something beneficial I could've added to my diet works. So once I've personally satisfied myself there's enough evidence to consider adding a supplement to my diet, and I can afford it, then that's enough for me. In my view Pterostilbene is a must addition to a daily supplemental regiment for a number of reasons. Pterostilbene shares many of the benefits of Resveratrol, but it also like Resveratrol, has its own unique benefits. Pterostilbene is a double-methylated version of Resveratrol, but it has a higher bioavailable rating which means you can achieve beneficial results at lower dosages. I decided to take Pterostilbene for all of its beneficial properties such as cancer prevention, increased insulin sensitivity (I have type 2 diabetes), maintaining a healthy heart, and most importantly as a baby-boomer, to help maintain cognitive function in my later years, and thus far it appears to be working. I've especially noticed some improvement in my A1C levels which at one point had reached 7. A few years ago I decided to stop taking supplements to see if they were really making a difference and after several months I began to notice a decline in a number of areas

Compelling Research on the benefits of Ptero for long term health

July 9, 2018

Verified Purchase

It is one of two components found in the reputed anti-aging molecule NAD+ (Nicotinamide Riboside and Pterostilbene). Molecular NAD+ is important to the proper functioning of several bodily systems, but declines with age. There is growing scientific evidence that maintaining NAD+ levels is beneficial to long term health. Who's to know! But the research to me is compelling (If you want to understand the research into, and growing interest in, NAD+ as an important part of health maintenance check out Basis by Elysium Health).

You can purchase everything you need in one capsule. Or, like me, purchase the Ptero and NAD+ (I get TRU NIAGEN from AMZN) separately and save yourself 20% - 25%. One capsule of the Ptero, and two fo the NAD+ is all you need daily.

A key supplement for a healthy lifestyle....

October 4, 2018

Verified Purchase

For years and years I've been taking a large daily regimen of supplement. "Expensive urine" was my conclusion. So I did some serious research and narrowed all this down to 4 items. Baby aspirin, Resveratrol, Niagen and Pterostilbene. These all work in conjunction to each other. I've gone from a 36 waist to a 32 in just 90 days and find myself with mental clarity and much more energy. I've done my homework on Pterostilbene and I'm sold based on my personal results. Just raced my 7th IronMan last Saturday and at 57 years of age, I'm miles ahead of my 25 year old version.

Better motivation and concentration

January 27, 2018

Verified Purchase

After only one or two days of taking Pterostilbene, I was pleased to find myself concentrating and focusing better. Best of all, I felt motivated to start a couple of projects that I have been avoiding for some. I will definitely be taking Pterostilbene on a daily basis.

Started recalling names and tackling projects

October 13, 2018

Verified Purchase

I'm a 49 year old female CEO of a small company. The past couple of years, I was having fog brain, trouble starting or completing projects. I'd put off more challenging long term projects, mainly because they seemed overwhelming. One particular issue for me has been recalling names of clients or people I'm trying to talk about during a conversation with a third party. I read an article in Time magazine about NAD supplements and had not heard of them before. I started doing some research, ended up reading reviews of the Double Wood supplements and though it was a toss up on which one to try, I tried Pterostilbene.

For me, within a short few days, I felt more alert, focused, and best of all stopped struggling with recall of names(this was giving me social anxiety in advance of functions). I'd always needed a short nap or at least felt like I needed a nap in the afternoon, and that feeling went away as well.

I know this was and isn't a placebo effect. It's been a significant difference in my life and after I ran out, I thought maybe I should try a different supplement. I tried Huperzine-a and for me (I know it works wonders for others) I felt no noticeable difference. Within 3 weeks then issue of recalling names and the
