Back to that cash bonus in your first two weeks— since we're being honest here... I'll tell you what that bonus did for me. It paid for my daughters Christmas presents. It paid for a couple bills that I was behind on. It paid for diapers & wipes. .

Can I just tell you that I also doubted myself, I was so skeptical. I was the girl who said that I would never be successful at something like this & could never do that "selling" myself thing. I'm glad I didn't stay in that mindset because this is NOT hard. You know what is hard— staying in the same financial situation your in now but add another year or two or five. I'm done sugar coating this, I'm done hiding from the fear of talking about this because I am afraid of what others will say. Because people need this opportunity. They NEED these life changing products. I have never in my life experienced so much freedom and such a big breath of fresh air because these products WORK! .

I want you to dream. What if you just decided to go for something? Something you have been fearing? What if it leads you to finding the BEST opportunity or option for your family? I can tell you what. You won't find out until you TDVI I would rather take a

I want you to dream. What if you just decided to go for something? Something you have been fearing? What if it leads you to finding the BEST opportunity or option for your family? I can tell you what. You won't find out until you TRY! I would rather take a chance than live with regret. I'm sharing my journey to spread hope. To show you that if I can do this as an introvert, mom of a very busy toddler, & wife than so can you!
