

From: Bonner & Partners feedback@exct.bonnerandpartners.com
Subject: "Why I flew to DC – in a pandemic."
Date: March 20, 2020 at 3:11 PM
To: [REDACTED]

BP

Bill Bonner's Diary

---

Dear Reader,

Just a few days ago, one of America's top biotech investors filmed an emergency broadcast.

You'll have to excuse the quality of the video...

You see, there wasn't much time.

The coronavirus pandemic is touching our lives in every way imaginable.

And it's a massive long-term threat to your investments.

We've already dipped into bear market territory...

But there's a few specific stocks you should avoid at all costs.

There are going to be the big losers in the coronavirus crash

There are going to be the big losers in the coronavirus crash.

Click here to see this video warning, right away.

Sincerely,

Van Bryan
Managing Editor, The Near Future Report

P.S. Jeff Brown is an angel investor specializing in tech and biotech startups.

In three of the last four years, he's called the number one tech stock on the S&P 500... before almost anyone else ever heard of it.

---

© 2020 Bonner & Partners. All rights reserved.
455 NE 5th Ave Suite D384, Delray Beach, FL 33483.

To ensure our emails continue reaching your inbox,
please add our email address to your address book.

No longer wish to receive special offers from us? Click here for options.