mleip_ I see you

You're watching on the sidelines because you're...

- ☐ thinking it's too good to be true
- ☐ thinking you're not capable
- ☐ thinking "there's no way this chick actually pays bills doing this"
- ☐ waiting for the "right time"
- ☐ nervous

I get it. I've been there in all of those head spaces! But I can wholeheartedly say I am so thankful I set my ego aside and did it scared!

It's the reason I get to choose if I want to wake up to an alarm or not. It's the reason that I can go out and It's the reason that I can go out and sit in the sun on beautiful days and not have to worry. It's the reason I can take a day to myself if I need to.

Money is absolutely not the end all be all, but it does provide you with choices. Small choices that impact the day to day and add up to how you've spent your life.

I'm determined to not spend my life behind a desk, to miss important events in my friend's or family's lives because my work schedule someone else made didnt factor that in, or to miss the opportunity to do the small things like enjoy the sun on a nice day!

Stop overthinking it!

⚡ Yes, it's real and it's not too good to be true. This brings in real money that pays real expenses 🙌

⚡ There is no "right time" there's only right now. Your life will never slow down; there is always something around the corner you didn't anticipate. You will never have more time, than the time you have right now.

⚡ If you are coachable, you are capable. I came into this business with zero skill on how to even apply my own makeup or what to use for my own skincare routine. But you know what? I learned! No body enrolls into a college program because they know how already, right? They start and then learn—the good news is, it's not hard

⚡ Nervousness is temporary. Action

⚡ Nervousness is temporary. Action
cures situational anxiety every time!
It's a normal emotion to be nervous when you step out of your comfort zone, but that's how you grow🌱

If I've learned anything in the last 2 years, it's that our dreams, goals and ambitions are attached to others.
Someone somewhere is waiting on you to step into the role that was designed for you
