Agora Financial's FDA Trader is designed to alert you to breakout moves in the medical markets, whether that be an announcement from the FDA or an overlooked drug trial that could ultimately drive huge stock market gains. It's the single best way to connect the dots that link today's dynamic, innovative medical market… to the outsized gains we see ahead for these specialized kinds of plays.

What kind of gains? In 2013 alone, the drug stock Celldex was up 408%. Insys shot up 411%… Lannett rose 526%… and BioTelemetry went up 416%. These gains are more than achievable. Our four-part portfolio consists of plays that could go up 50–100% within a three-week to three-month holding period, along with more buy-and-hold strategies that we expect will pay out up to 500% gains over the course of three-five years.

Biotechnology and medical technology are never going to go away. There will always be a demand to fix the things that go wrong with our bodies. Diabetes was not something that anybody really cared about 30 or 40 years ago. Today, about a third of the U.S. will have diabetes in the near future. So in other words, there will always be a need for medical technology and medical innovation. There's no biotechnology fund will use this tried-and-true four-part trading system.

Agora Financial's Catalyst Trader is an investment newsletter. Editor Rick Pearson's years of experience have helped him narrow down specific "catalysts"— events that can produce major, lasting gains. Things like mergers and acquisitions, earnings surprises, product launches, even regulatory approvals. It wouldn't be hard to find this same information in news reports or press releases, but in order to make money from these catalysts, you need to be sure that they have the power to pay off.

Rick Pearson walked away from a seven-figure salary at 33 and started investing for himself. Before that he clocked almost a decade at a major bank's London, New York and Hong Kong offices. Rick isn't afraid to go the extra mile. In Hong Kong, he actively rooted out Chinese companies committing fraud — even personally staking out warehouses and factories and questioning employees and management. In his search for catalysts that move stocks higher, he leaves no stone unturned. He'll enter a stock at $1.80, say, and exit at $10 — those are the moves you'll make in Agora Financial's Catalyst Trader.

Jim Rickards' Private Dealflow gives you access to all of Jim Rickards' favorite private equity investment opportunities and research.

This is the way it's done. The world's most wealthy people don't get rich — truly rich — by buying common stocks or reading monthly tipsheets.

They make their money through their connections — in finance, in government and in academia. That's how they hear about investment opportunities average Americans don't even know exist.

The opportunities that build lasting wealth.

The kind the Rockefellers... Rothschilds... and Colonnas have used to build and keep their wealth for centuries. These uber-wealthy Americans have been using private equity deals to make a killing for years. Now, thanks to Congress passing the JOBS Act in 2012, everyday accredited investors can too.

Now you can get that same elite access. Jim Rickards' Private Dealflow research service invites you into Jim Rickards' closest group of business contacts, delivering you the best private equity deals Jim sees.

Guru Jim Rickards is a lawyer, economist and investment banker and has over 35 years of experience working in capital markets on Wall Street. He's also chief strategist at West Shore Funds, works with the CIA and has spent decades in some of the country's most recognized financial institutions.

The "PSV*" before the name of the newsletter stands for "publishing services," indicating that the charge is for a newsletter service. Other publishing houses use this same acronym. Following that is the name of the publication. In general, the PSV designation appears only on Visa card statements.

Extreme Alpha is an investment newsletter with a simple goal. Alpha is defined as the abnormal rate of return on a stock in excess of a benchmark index, like the S&P 500. And an "extreme" alpha score of 100 would imply outperformance by 100%. To generate this level of return, the Extreme Alpha research service leverages a proprietary algorithm to identify the market's hottest momentum stocks, and then safely accelerates the gains on such stocks with the strategic use of options.

Louis Basenese's helped direct over $1 billion in institutional capital at Morgan Stanley before leaving Wall Street for Silicon Valley. Now, as the world's premier venture capital analyst, Louis tracks early investment opportunities born from technological breakthroughs and new drug discoveries. His deep expertise of patents, buyouts, takeovers, mergers & acquisitions, Reg-D offerings, and crowdfunding has given Louis genuine star power on frontline media outlets like CNBC.

The goal of True Alpha is simple: Each month Editor Louis Basenese and his team of analysts help you find the biggest gains from the smallest stocks on the market. As you may know, not all small stocks are created equal. There are a lot of junk companies, as well as scammers who want to part you from your money. You'll need a guide through all the mess. And that's exactly what Lou and his team are here to do. Their mission is to help you find the next explosive gains in small stocks.

Louis Basenese's helped direct over $1 billion in institutional capital at Morgan Stanley before leaving Wall Street for Silicon Valley. His deep expertise of patents, buyouts, takeovers, mergers & acquisitions, Reg-D offerings, and crowdfunding has given Louis genuine star power on frontline media outlets like CNBC.

It's because you have subscribed a financial daily e-newsletter by the name of David Stockman's Bubble Finance Trader.

David Stockman's Bubble Finance Trader is a financial investment newsletter. In Bubble Finance Trader, David Stockman puts his impressive 40-year career at the intersection of D.C. and Wall Street to use by helping you make big, fast gains as the Fed's financial bubbles slowly go pop, one by one. While most everyday Americans panic, you'll be able to make seasoned market maneuvers like the most plugged-in investment banker. You'll earn the investment returns of one, too.

David's background in accounting, government budgeting and economics has led him to a unique way of identifying which individual stocks are in a bubble. These stocks will often shoot to the moon during their bubble phase. Then, when they pop... drop like a stone. That point — right as the bubble about to pop — is where David believes you can make triple- and quadruple-digit gains.

Editor David Stockman is the ultimate Washington insider turned iconoclast. He began his career in Washington as a young man and quickly rose through the ranks of the Republican Party to become the Director of the Office of Management and Budget under President Ronald Reagan. After leaving the White House, Stockman had a 20-year career on Wall Street.

David Stockman has formed a partnership with Agora Financial, one of the nation's leading independent financial research firms and publisher of The Daily Reckoning. The goal of this partnership is to build on his previously existing e-newsletter, Contra Corner's, success and further the sites mission to bring Contra Corner and his knowledge to millions of concerned readers. For over 15 years Agora Financial has been warning readers around the globe about the dangers of fiat money... the necessity of fiscal rectitude by government... and showing individual investors how they can manage their own money despite the unholy alliance between D.C. and Wall Street.

Penny Pot Profits has a simple goal: To weed through the emerging marijuana industry to find the best, most potentially lucrative penny pot plays on the market.

It's not often that you have the opportunity to get in on an emerging industry from the ground floor — but that's exactly what's happening with the marijuana boom happening today. Since marijuana's legalization in states like Colorado and Washington in 2012, to the new wave of legislation that legalized pot in November 2016...

The revenue floodgates are open for those who stake a claim in this new market...and that could be you.

Ray Blanco will be your guide through the new world of marijuana investments. Using our exclusive Penny Pot Index — a proprietary method of trading not used anywhere else — Ray and his team of analysts are able to track trends in the marijuana market...determining the exact moment to trade penny stocks on the market.

It's a foolproof way to make money in the blossoming marijuana industry...and you have a leg up on the profits.

Buyout Millionaires Club is a monthly investment newsletter written by former hedge fund manager, Zachary Scheidt. He's looking for quality investments that are low risk, have room for growth, and pay out growing dividend payments.

Editor Zachary Scheidt is dedicated to finding Wall Street's best yields. He's even earned a Chartered Financial Analyst designation – so he has a proven ability to analyze the risks and rewards of various investments. Outside of Agora Financial, his work has been featured in Seeking Alpha, Motley Fool, and the Wall Street Journal.

The PSV* before the name of the newsletter stands for "publishing services," indicating that the charge is for a newsletter service. Other publishing houses use this same acronym. Following that is the name of the publication. In general, the PSV designation appears only on Visa card statements.
