wellnesswithbrittp If you are not this obsessed with the products you are using to support your health, we need to chat 💬💕

I started taking USANA products in October of 2020 after spending so much time and money on other (including high quality) supplements that just did not help long term for me.

I started off with 2 of their products. After a week I felt better (more energy and less tummy pain and bloating). Then I tried 2 more products and felt even better. Then after two months when I still felt great, I decided to become an ambassador and turn it into my side hustle.
