Victoria

Victoria's background before Forever was in the entertainment industry...

I'd worked as an actor, writer and producer for eight years and was searching for a more secure income when I found Forever.

The ethics of the company blew me away and I fell in love with the power of Aloe Vera. Through using and recommending the products, I soon built up a full-time income, and began to search for likeminded people to join me and make their own dreams come true.

Working from home has allowed me to get the most gorgeous puppy, buy a beautiful new home and to continue writing my first novel, at my own pace, without any pressure!

As an actress I found my confidence through playing other characters, but Forever has helped me to grow so much in confidence by being myself. The support, friendships and personal development have helped me tick off so many of my goals and allows me to believe anything is possible in the future.

I wondered whether I'd miss being on stage, but within a year of starting my business I had spoken on stage at a Forever Success Day to thousands of people and have also been flown out to Malta to speak at their success day!

I am proud beyond measure to work alongside this amazing opportunity and am passionate about showing other people in creative industries how this business can help them to achieve their dream lifestyle.
