Frank Sinatra • Come Fly With Me

alexmortonmindset  Motivational Purposes Only:

Ever since I was a kid I kept telling myself that one day I was going to be able to live the "good life". Sitting here at 32 years old, traveling the world with my soulmate, I'm telling you that whatever dreams/goals you have in your heart... they're 100% possible. The question is, "Are YOU willing to do whatever it takes to achieve your hearts desires?" Don't be fooled by social media and think there are all of these "overnight success stories" because it's non sense. You see peoples cars / homes / lives and most of it is rented and there to manipulate you. Don't let other peoples success get to your head. Focus on your belief level, self confidence, self image, skill sets, attitude, discipline, & decision making.

To go from where you are to where you want to be will take time, energy, effort, & sacrifice. Work on yourself and block out all the naysayers and haters. Stay true to your principles and habits and success will be yours. Happy 2nd Anniversary to the woman who changed my life for the better❤️
