

shanna_lee08 • Follow

shanna_lee08 9 years ago....

We didn't have any time away. We were working OT, I worked 13,14 hr shifts and weekends in the ER. I missed Ash's recitals. I missed her Halloween parades. I missed Lians soccer games. We missed all the school functions and barely was there to check their homework.

One day hit me like a ton of bricks. I got a day off SOMEHOW 🙏 by the grace of God. I went to Ash's dance recital and all the moms asked who I was. They didn't even know I was Ashlynn's mom because I never got to go to ANYTHING. They were all friendly and I felt like a outsider. I spent the car ride back crying and

9 likes

SEPTEMBER 2

Add a comment...

Post

shanna_lee08 • Follow

spent the car ride back crying and feeling like a failure of a mother. 😞

Shortly after I couldn't afford Lian to get his belt in Taekwondo and it was my ABSOLUTE breaking point.

We needed to make a change. 😞

And in came Network marketing.

You can talk all you want, but that breaking point, that feeling like a complete failure... it needed to happen because I found another way. Another way not only to provide us with a income..... but the most important part...

TIME FREEDOM. 🙌

9 likes

SEPTEMBER 2

Add a comment...

Post

shanna_lee08 • Follow

You never get time back. You don't get back those special moments with your kids. That is what TRULY matters.

Now, we spend our days with our kids. We get to attend all the functions, we get to take them on vacations, we are there when they get home from school. We are TIGHT. They talk to us about EVERYTHING, and they want to live the same life that we do!!!!!! And I'm PROUD OF THAT!!!!

These are the moments that we will never forget.....

7w

9 likes

SEPTEMBER 2

Add a comment...

Post