Seminyak, Bali

the_karen_louise How I went from waiting tables all weekend to working online on my own time from magical Bali. 🌴

6 years ago I was stressed, burnt out, and feeling uninspired in life and I was always working for my next vacation.

I knew it had to stop.

I had always dreamed of working online but I had no idea where to start. A friend approached me about working online and creating a freedom lifestyle for ourselves and I thought could this really be true?

thought could this really be true?

Do people really get to make an income online and get their time freedom back??

And it turns out it was true.

I started and partnered with established products and I transferred my customer service skills that I gained from waiting tables and my previous work experience in retail and it applied it to my new online business. The company I'm with taught me how to use social media (I has zero clue 🧐) and I gained some marketing skills which allowed me to connect with people and help them find solutions people and help them find solutions to their problems.

I also learned how to leverage social media and use simple systems so I could work smarter and not harder!

Gone are the days where I would work double shifts and burn myself out.

6 years later I am working from Bali with my partner and I no longer have to work for my vacations because I have created a passive income online and that has given me my time freedom and choice back.

This is what you call Life By Design and it's available for everyone.

and it's available for everyone.

You just have to decide and go for it.

If you're looking to create an income online send me a message. We have something incredible about to drop which will be a game changer for so many women!

Let's see if what I have is in alignment with you. ❤️
