alexmortonmindset  We're all constantly writing the script to our own Oscar award winning movie. Looking back on the past 13 years in this profession it blows my mind. All the flights, cars, trains, cities, states, countries, events, trainings, leaders, long nights, early mornings, unforgettable moments.. just wild. I can still take myself back to when I was walking back to my dorm in 2011 from a college class, hotter than heck outside in Arizona, drinking a cold can of Verve, thinking to myself, "Can this really become a full time thing, is this even real?" It's amazing what the body can do once the mind makes the decision. When I break everything down it really all started with a burning desire, a clear focused intention and goal the

with a burning desire, a clear focused intention and goal, the proper blue print, & a no quitting positive attitude. That's what YOU need when you first start out. Then you must go out there and be disciplined enough and do what you know you need to do. I showed the plan, with my little informational folder, cold product, over and over and over and over and over again. Got told no over and over and over again. Guys talked 💩 to me, girls made fun of me, professors publicly humiliated me in front of 300 kids, but I kept going. YOU must keep going as well. When you set out to do something different you'll bring on the doubters.. you must push through anyway. I remember my first "business trip" I think it was Mason Ohio. paid $300 round trip from

Ohio.. paid $300 round trip from Phoenix.. left on a thursday and came back on a Sunday before class. I flew to Columbus, did the drive to Mason, just to do a meeting with 5 kids in a living room. Those 5 kids layer turned into 2500+. Wild looking back. We are in different times, and now everyone is promoting similar watered down versions of digital education or health products marked up 5000% with a  placebo effect.. but the building of the business remains the same, the potential of walk away income is still there, & I believe it's still the best, fairest form of compensation on the planet. Anyone CAN win here, I've seen it with my own eyes.. 76 countries around the world.. no one has done more meetings than me since 2011. It

Anyone CAN win here, I've seen it with my own eyes.. 76 countries around the world.. no one has done more meetings then me since 2011. It WORKS... and where the 🌍 is going, people need us more than ever.
