alexmortonmindset Everyone you and I know will be dead and gone within 110 years. Knowing that to be true (which it is) STOP CARING about the opinions of others. In all honesty, who's gives a 🍌 what your teachers, friends, family, & strangers think about how you live your life who what you choose to do. They probably don't pay your bills and most of them don't even know how to think. When you set out to do something great people close to you will try to talk you out of your dreams because they're afraid you'll eventually succeed and leave them behind. Do it anyone. Make yourself happy at the end of the day because that's who you must live with until you take your last breath.
