For the last couple of weeks, I've shared about how this company and it's mission have captured my heart.

- ♥ finding more purpose in my daily rhythms
- ♥ the artisans + their stories
- ♥ tangibly fighting human trafficking
- ♥ helping mamas keep their babies
- ♥ community of like-minded women
- ♥ income for me AND our artisan partners

But let me be completely honest.

As amazing as all those things sounded, I didn't know if it would be enough to keep me passionate about a job in SALES.

Fortunately, I didn't need to know. The 'risk' of purchasing a small join collection of beautiful products made it a no-brainer. I simply walked into it with a willingness to give it a try.

Five years later, I can tell you that those things were and still are, indeed, enough to keep me quite passionate about being in sales. I've learned that sales isn't as scary as I thought. And, I've found so much joy and fulfillment weaving this work into my everyday life, no matter the season I'm in.

If you could make an income while making an impact, for an investment as low as $49, would you try it?
