I was really excited about giving sales a shot, but I encountered some skepticism from other friends who warned me about potential negative aspects such as it being a "pyramid scheme."

~

Despite the negative concerns expressed by those around me, I decided to trust my own judgment and experiences. I believed it was important to form my own opinion rather than solely relying on the opinions of others.

~

I was determined to gain firsthand experience and decide for myself whether it aligned with y goals and aspirations.

~

I felt compelled to give sales a try
