Part of the game of "success" is once you "hit" a certain level you should be imparting your thoughts, strategies, mindset, & principles onto and into the next wave of leaders to ensure the continued growth, leadership, & expansion of your company and organization.

When we were "coming up" we had mentors and people guiding us whether it was on YouTube University or in close proximity. Make sure you "pass it on" to as many leaders as you can so you can impact as many future families as you can. There's plenty of "rich people" out there who could give 2 🧠's about the betterment of others, don't be one of them. Each one, teach one. I believe everyone deserves a legit shot at
