I didn't exactly do that because I get a lot of inbound DMs daily (because I post content)

People tell me EXACTLY what they want (most of the time it's more money, more

People tell me EXACTLY what they want (most of the time it's more money, more time and more freedom) So I just made a story poll and asked my audience "Would you buy this? Or "Do you want to learn about this?"

👉 Step 2) Sold my first customers 10 by DMing the people that voted "YES" (they are asking for it)

Get out of your head that DMing people is weird. It's called social media lol

If you don't talk to your customers, you'll never know what they want 🤖

If you had a brick and mortar business would you say hello to everyone who walked in the door?

Point proven.

👉 Step 3) Sell The Heck Out Of The Product Once You Get Your First Bite

This is how you TEST your audience. Now it's proven so you have a reason to make it!

👉 Step 4) Solidify Your Message By Asking The Right Questions

People will tell you EXACTLY what they want

The first person who bought it is going to be the same as the thousands of others who are looking to buy. It's called a customer avatar.

Don't ignore what people tell you!
