

ashley.bramley • Follow

postmalone • Original audio

ashley.bramley 10w

I'm officially in my IDGAF era.

The era where I don't care what others think. The era where I'll share my silly little Fizz drinks and my "expensive" skin care products.

The era where I hit my mid to late 30's and I've spent all my time up until this point feeling uncomfortable speaking my truth. Feeling embarrassed that I get so happy sharing things I love, trying to better myself by starting a silly little business so I can have something for myself while providing an income for my family.

Arbonne's community has been the first place where I've met other women who

11 likes

April 22

Add a comment...

ashley.bramley • Follow

postmalone • Original audio

Arbonne's community has been the first place where I've met other women who genuinely want to be your friend, who are so incredibly positive that it makes me want to stick around, who truly care about other women instead of trying to make a sale.

I truly encourage you to find that change for yourself if you feel stuck, scared, unhappy because I've been there. I hope the one thing people get from my page is that I WAS that person who was stuck in other peoples unhappiness that it became my own, I know what it felt like to be scared to put yourself out there because you're afraid of what others will think and it's a crappy place to be. God has your back if you let him. You might not find that happiness right away but it will come 🙏

11 likes

April 22

Add a comment...

ashley.bramley • Follow

postmalone • Original audio

me want to stick around, who truly care about other women instead of trying to make a sale.

I truly encourage you to find that change for yourself if you feel stuck, scared, unhappy because I've been there. I hope the one thing people get from my page is that I WAS that person who was stuck in other peoples unhappiness that it became my own, I know what it felt like to be scared to put yourself out there because you're afraid of what others will think and it's a crappy place to be. God has your back if you let him. You might not find that happiness right away but it will come 🤞

#sahmomlife #introverted
#introvertproblems #momfriends
#changeyourthoughts

11 likes

April 22

Add a comment...

