How to choose an apartment cleaning service

When choosing a cleaning service for your apartment, be sure to check who will be cleaning your apartment. Take a look at their reviews, rating, and bio to get a feel for the kind of apartment cleaning service they deliver. With Homeaglow, it's easy to see the rating and reviews of all cleaners in your area, so you can book your apartment cleaning service with confidence.

What an apartment cleaning service entails

The apartment cleaning service you choose will depend on the size of your apartment and the intensity of cleaning you require. A light apartment cleaning will take a short period of time and is likely to be focused on high-use areas like the kitchen, living room, and bathroom. Vacuuming, mopping, and cleaning surfaces are likely to be the bulk of the work.

A deeper apartment cleaning usually involves cleaning all the rooms in your apartment, and may include extras like dusting skirting boards, washing dishes, and cleaning inside the oven and fridge. A third option is to have just one room deep cleaned per cleaning, and rotate that room each week, so that your apartment is always at its best.

Sleep and feel better with a clean apartment

A clean apartment has many benefits. You're likely to have cleaner air and less dust mites to irritate your eyes or lungs. You'll feel calmer with your space tidied and your things in order. You're also likely to sleep better knowing that there is one less thing on your to-do list. Studies have shown that a tidy home has mental health benefits and having someone clean your space can make you feel better.

If you have pets, use an apartment cleaning service more often

Apartment pets spend a lot of time indoors which often results in pet hair, dander, and musty aromas, not to mention unwanted bacteria. To keep pet mess under control and to ensure that your home is clean and smelling fresh, you may need a higher frequency of apartment cleanings. When you book a cleaner through Homeaglow, mention you have a pet beforehand so that your cleaner can advise you on the right frequency for cleaning your apartment.

Apartment cleaning service FAQ

How often should I book an apartment cleaning service? −

What to include in your apartment cleaning service is up to you. You can either focus on the hardest-to-clean rooms like your kitchen and bathroom. Or you can book an apartment cleaner to clean your entire apartment. Whichever you choose, just be sure to book enough time with your cleaner.

How long does an apartment cleaning service take? −

An apartment cleaning can take anywhere from 2 hours to more than 6, depending on the size of your apartment and the intensity of the cleaning you require. If you have one bedroom and one bathroom, we recommend starting with a 3-hour cleaning.
